Crown Prince Leads Another Retreat of Army

TEUTONIC FOE HAS BEEN FORCED BACK BY FRENCH BLOWS

GENERAL PETAIN PRESSES ADVANTAGE

(By the Associated Press.)

Blowing up the bridges as they retreated, the Germans on the Aisne front in northern France have given up their precarious hold on the Chemin des Dames plateau and retreated to the north bank of the Ailette river along a front of approximately thirteen miles, closely followed by the French.

This retirement by the German crown prince has been in prospect since the recent successful drive by General Petain, southwest of Laon, which carried the French to the banks of the Oise-Aisne canal, at the westerly end of the Chemin des Dames, and gave them artillery domination of a large section of the German lines to the east.

As appears from today's Paris official statement the Germans are now on the north bank of the Ailette, a maximum distance of a mile back of their previous positions. While the French have moved up to the south bank of the river, there is no hint in the official reports from either side as to whether a further retirement by the crown prince is in prospect. He was virtually compelled by the superiority of the new French position to fall back at least as far as he has. The probabilities seem that he will take up a position on the heights just north of the Ailette, which commands the approaches to Laon, keystone of the German western front at its southwestern end.

British destroyers have put an end to the career of a German commerce raider in an arm of the North sea. Copenhagen dispatches today report the sinking of the raider Crocodile, a new vessel of about 1,000 tons and with a crew of 100 men, together with five armed German trawlers. The engagement took place in the Skagerrak between the Norwegian and Danish coasts.

A British admiralty announcement tells of an engagement in the Cattegat, the adjoining arm of the North sea, between Sweden and Denmark. The same engagement as that reported in the Copenhagen dispatches evidently is alluded to. The official statement moreover shows that ten armed patrol craft were destroyed as well as the raider, which is described as an auxiliary cruiser armed with six-inch guns. Today's report from the Italian side of the Tagliamento indicates little change in the situation. The Germans are evidently increasing the intensity of their efforts to force a crossing of the stream where Gen. Cadorna's armies are making a stand against the invaders. The Italians so far, however, have been successful in preventing such a penetration of their new line.

The French official statement of Friday night has not yet reached this country and the other side of the Berlin report is not known. The German statement says the troops of the German crown prince systematically withdrew their lines, "unnoticed and undisturbed by the enemy." Probably the Germans have only retired across the Ailette river from Chavignon to Craonne, a distance of about thirteen miles, or they may have started on a retreat paralleling that of last March on the Somme, when they finally fell back before Anglo-French pressure from Arras to Soissons. Even if they have only withdrawn across the Ailette it is not unlikely because of Gen. Petain's successful drive of last week, when he reached the Oise-Aisne canal eight miles southwest of Laon and captured more than 12,000 prisoners. From the positions gained then, the French could and did bombard the Germans clinging to the hilly strip between the Chemin des Dames and the Ailette. The hills on the northern bank of the Ailette generally are not as high as those on the south and the crown prince may have gone back to the line of the river. Which runs southwest from Laon and joins the Ailette north of Chavignon. It is impossible that the Germans did not retire across the Ailette, as not to do so might place them in a worse position than on top of the ridge.

The retirement might include Laon, the reputed southern citadel of the Hindenburg line of last March, but of the front of the Ailette is given up, a line from St. Quentin through La Fere, Laon and Montargis to Neufchâtel-sur-Aisne, along the railroad between La Fere and Neufchâtel, might offer a good halting place. A retirement only to the northern bank of the Ailette, between Chavignon and Craonne might not affect the line from Chavignon, north to St. Quentin, but a further retreat would involve the present lines as far as La Fere at the western end of the Tagliamento, momentarily at least, to face the oncoming Austro-Germans. The eastern bank of the river, Berlin reports has been cleared of Italians from the Fella valley, where the Tagliamento turns westward, near Tolmezzo, to the Adriatic. Italian guns are bombarding the invaders along the new lines but apparently no attempt has yet been made by the Austro-Germans to force a crossing of the river. There are no indications as to the whereabouts of the Austro-Germans reported driving through the Carnic Alps, early in the week in an attempt to turn the flank of the Tagliamento.

INDIANA LOSES PLACE IN FOOD PLEDGE COLUMN

Washington, Nov. 3.—With probably little more than half the country heard from returns from the food pledge week campaign today passed the five million mark. The official tabulation at campaign headquarters showed 5,000,402 families as enrolled for the food administration. It was said it would probably be ten days before anything like complete results could be announced as New York has definitely decided to carry its drive over another week and indications are that about twenty other states will follow. This has been necessitated because of rain and snowstorms the first of the week, preventing the pledge card canvasses in many districts from doing any work whatever. California gave the biggest surprise of the campaign today by reporting 114,519 new cards signed, making a total of 261,178 and putting it in the lead. This pushed Michigan with 215,851 cards back into second place and New Jersey with 187,078 into third.

OPINION IS MUCH SPLIT

All London Views of the Kerensky Statement Not Friendly.

BEST INFORMED
ACCEPT HIS WORD

One Newspaper Affects to See German Propaganda in the Matter.

London, Nov. 3.—Most of the morning papers print Premier Kerensky's interview with the Associated Press conspicuously, but the comment is not general. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who is now in London, writes:

"Premier Kerensky's statement seems to have been taken a little too seriously in some quarters. It even has been construed as a hint that Russia is toying with the idea of a separate peace. This theory should not be allowed to establish itself.

"Probably all Kerensky wished was to indicate facts familiar to close students of Russia for some time and they are such as to arouse sympathy rather than suspicion. It is true that Russia is weary and it has been true for a much longer time than has elapsed since the outbreak of the revolution. Unfortunately, until that event military exigencies prevented the truth from being told about Russia's share in the war, which has been greatly underestimated in the popular mind. The fact is that what Russia has given."

Russia's heroic sacrifice. The writer then tells of the immense sacrifices in men that Russia has made and recalls the revelations in the trial of Gen. Soukhomlinoff, minister of war, of how Russian heroes stood up with only sticks, stones and bonds against the organized German troops. He believes that the Russian casualties have been higher than those of any other of the main belligerents. The writer also emphasizes the privation of the civilian population and the shortage of food since the middle of 1915 and adds:

"Already people are dying of hunger in some of the northern provinces and there is no telling what the situation in such districts may become early in the future. What Kerensky wants apparently is not a release from the bonds which unite us, but indulgence for Russia's weakness, and Russia certainly has deserved indulgence for her efforts and suffering. All we can ask of her is to do her best. We must not be impatient if that is less than we expected."

Unprecedented Difficulty. The Daily Express makes a similar plea and says that no statesman ever faced more appalling difficulties than Kerensky. It admits that Russia bore the burden of the first months of the war and that the invasion of East Prussia probably saved France from being overrun. Regret is expressed that the changed conditions of warfare have made it impossible for the British fleet to operate in the Baltic, but the Express maintains that all Britain has been able to do to help Russia has been done willingly and she will do the utmost in the future to help Russia establish her freedom. "Meanwhile," it adds, "as we understand the situation, we must expect more from Russia at present than that she hold her frontiers against the common enemy. When she has found herself, her gallant soldiers will reappear in the active ranks of the armies of liberty."

The Graphic says: "We should hate to regard the statements as authentic. They have the ring of pro-German propaganda." The newspaper then says that Kerensky's statement is a masterpiece of evasion. (Continued on Page 18, Column 1.)

TO REMOVE KICK FROM BEER FOR LICKING KAISER

Washington, Nov. 3.—Regulations to pave the way for removal of alcohol from beer for industrial purposes and conversion of the residue into soft drink were issued today by Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of Internal Revenue. Beer may be piped from a brewery to a distillery without payment of the usual removal tax, but a solid wall without openings must be constructed between the two establishments if they are under the same roof. After the alcohol has been removed by distillation and denatured, according to law, the residue may be piped back into the brewery without tax payments to be made into soft drinks.

TELLS OF Y. M. C. A. IN LETTER TO HIS PASTOR

Sherman Burson Writes to Rev. H. B. Hostettler, of Third Presbyterian.

An interesting letter has been received by Rev. H. B. Hostettler, of the Third Presbyterian church, from Sherman Burson, son of Harry A. Burson, Fort place. The letter reads:

Dear Pastor: How is the Third church? I am anxious to get word from someone in regard to the church. I saw the water a few miles from the country our church originated from. I watched for land, but in vain.

I have attended the church services on the ship and here in the hospital, but they don't seem to satisfy. There is too much ceremony and formality. The English church is a branch of the Catholic church in my estimation. Next Sunday is communion and if I see I make a dozen blunders I will partake of same. How good it sounds to be invited to communion services! The Y. M. C. A. is doing a wonderful work here. I just wish I could give you some idea of the splendid work they are doing. They have reading and writing rooms, bowling alleys, French classes, games or recreation rooms. When a fellow is broke is generally when a new Y. M. C. A. enthusiast is born. He can always go there and read or play checkers or play pool (if he has some change). They generally have a refreshment stand that is more reasonable than the French stores. They have movies and lectures. Sermons can be heard each Sunday. The workers go among the camps and hospitals distributing writing material and magazines. They also furnish baseball outfits, soccer balls, etc.

Yours in Christ, SHERMAN BURSON.

TELLS OF THE Y. M. C. A. WORK

A. J. Elliott Makes Plea for Funds at Banquet Friday Evening.

SEVEN COUNTIES

David W. Teachout, General Secretary at Fort Harrison, Also Speaks.

Four hundred men from seven counties in northeastern Indiana attended the banquet at the Anthony hotel Friday evening at which time $84,000 was guaranteed to the Young Men's Christian association with which to carry on its wonderful work among the men now fighting or about to engage in the world war for freedom.

The apportionment of the funds as prepared by the war committee of the Y. M. C. A. for the seven counties in this district was read by General Secretary E. W. Peirce and is as follows:

Allen $45,000
Adams 5,000
Wells 6,000
DeKalb 6,000
Steuben 4,000
Huntington 12,000
Whitley 6,000

Tells of War Horrors. The horrors of the war were pictured in their true light by Arthur J. Elliott, of Chicago, associate executive for the central department of the Y. M. C. A., which comprises fifteen states in this section of the union. There was no mincing of words. Mr. Elliott told, as has not been told here before, the sufferings, the hardships and the agonies being endured by the men engaged in the awful conflict in which the boys of this country are about to take part.

Much of Mr. Elliott's address cannot be published. Much of the information that he gave has never been printed. The morale of the boys is going to be much to do in winning the war and this is one of the great tasks of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Elliott told of conditions in German prisons, far worse than in Libby prison, he said. The Y. M. C. A. even in the prisons of Germany are doing much to relieve the sufferings and bring some happiness into the lives of the men confined there.

"There is a terrific challenge before us," Mr. Elliott said in conclusion. "Even though we do all we can we'll never do as much as we ought to do. You business men have got to put it over; you mustn't save any money this year."

Mr. Teachout Speaks. David W. Teachout, of the Teachout Lumber company, of Cleveland, O., now general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Benjamin Harrison, told of the work the Y. M. C. A. is doing at Fort Harrison and at the various other forts and cantonments in this country. Mr. Teachout declared that the French instructors with whom he had talked, predict that the war will not end in less than two years.

200,000 Men in France. "Men, it is up to us to do everything we can to help those boys come back as clean as they are going," Mr. Teachout declared. "We have 200,000 men in France now and there will be two and a half millions of our boys on the fighting lines by next summer. These men must be looked after. The responsibility is appalling. It means work."

"We want these men to be of the cleanest type among the allies. The red triangle of the Y. M. C. A. symbolizes service sacred in its character, and dedicated to the conservation of all that is best in America's offering in the cause of liberty. Our leaders, with General Pershing, have come to

WAR COSTS U. S. MORE THAN ANY OTHER COUNTRY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Germany is putting 14.3 soldiers into the field for the same amount of money which the United States is paying for a single fighting man, according to calculations today of government experts. They said the same general proportion was true also of maintenance in the armies in the field, or in other words, America must raise $14.30 where the enemy nations raise only $1 for the purpose of carrying on the war. The difference was said to be due to the higher pay of United States soldiers and the greater cost of supplying in this country and the contrast was used as a text for admonitions that resources alone will not win the war, but that strict economy was necessary.

BERLIN CLAIMS TO HAVE TAKEN SOME NEW FOES

German War Office Says Thrust by a Reconnoitering Party Trapped Some of the Sammies.

SCENE LIES IN A VERY QUIET SECTOR

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The capture of American soldiers by a German reconnoitering party is announced by the war office. The statement says that on the Rhine-Marne canal, as a result of a reconnoitering thrust, North American soldiers were brought in.

The Rhine-Marne canal runs through a section of northeastern France in which there has been little fighting since the early days of the war. It crosses the French front at a point near the German border, twenty miles northeast of Lunenburg.

HAVE TAKEN 200,000.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—More than 200,000 prisoners have been taken in the Austro-German campaign on the Italian front, the war office reports. There was no important fighting on this front yesterday.

RUSS AND TEUT FRATERNIZE. Petrograd, Nov. 3.—Russian troops in the Vishneff sector yesterday fraternized with the German troops, it was announced today by the Russian war office.

Vishneff is a town on the Russian front southeast of Vilna and north of the Niemen river.

MUCH RIVALRY IN SCHOOLS

WOMEN TO COMPLETE
CARD DISTRIBUTION

Meeting Will Be Held at the Public Library Monday Morning.

Much rivalry has developed in the schools of the city in which every school is trying to return the largest list of signed food pledge cards. Record of the pledges gained by children will be compiled early next week and will be announced by schools. The task of distributing the cards to every home in which the little slips have not already found their way is to be taken up by a corps of women volunteers, under the direction of Mrs. Franklin B. Mead. The women who are to give out the cards will meet at the public library on Monday morning at 9 o'clock for final instructions. More women are asked to join in distributing the pledges.

Those who have already offered to give out the cards are: Mrs. J. D. B. Nide, Mrs. L. J. Nide, Mrs. J. Wade Bailey, Mrs. Henry J. Bower, Mrs. Roger Fisher, Mrs. W. H. Creighton, Mrs. Wm. J. Vesey, Mrs. Jesse A. Green, Mrs. James Haberly, Miss Haberly, Mrs. Fred Hoffman, Mrs. Herbert W. Lang, Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs. P. C. Morganthaler, Mrs. Metzger, Mrs. Chas. M. Niezer, Miss Marjorie Hanna, Mrs. Fred Shoaff, Mrs. Page Yarnelle, Mrs. Frank E. Stouder, Mrs. Walter Seavey, Mrs. S. M. Foster, Mrs. Percy Olds, Mrs. G. A. Babus, Mrs. Chas. Hughes, Mrs. Frank B. Bales, Mrs. F. M. McDonald, Mrs. Harry Hogan, Miss Elizabeth Porter, Mrs. Howell C. Rockhill, Mrs. E. Carl Rudeo, Mrs. Beny Levy, Mrs. Wm. S. Morris, Mrs. Brooks Sale, Mrs. Ed Hoffman, Mrs. Chas. TEUT RAIDER DESTROYED

British Flotilla Sinks German Vessel and Ten Armed Trawlers.

NAVAL ACTIVITY
IN THE CATTEGAT

German Auxiliary Cruiser Marie is Also Sunk by the Destroyers.

London, Nov. 3.—The admiralty announces that certain British forces have been engaged in the Cattegat, an arm of the North sea between Sweden and Denmark, and that prisoners are being brought in. No further information is yet at hand.

An official statement issued by the admiralty says that ten armed patrol craft, in addition to the German auxiliary cruiser which was equipped with six-inch guns, were destroyed.

The statement issued by the admiralty says: "Further reports from our forces operating in the Cattegat have been received. We destroyed a German auxiliary cruiser armed with six-inch guns and five armed trawlers ten armed patrol craft. Sixty-four prisoners have been rescued by our forces. No British losses have been reported."

"Further details will be published on the return of our forces to their base."

Copenhagen, Nov. 3.—A German commerce raider and five armed trawlers have been sunk by British destroyers in Scandinavian waters.

The sinking of a German raider named Crocodile and of five German armed trawlers is reported by men on two Danish steamships. They say the sighted German vessels in flames and later saw them sink.

The Crocodile was a new ship of nearly 1,000 tons, and carried a crew of 100 men. The commerce raider, which was disguised, and the trawlers were sunk yesterday in the Skagerrak, an arm of the North sea between Norway and Denmark. The British destroyers thus effected another cleanup of German naval forces in Scandinavian waters.

WOUNDED MEN LANDED.

ELECTRIC BOAT SUNK.

London, Nov. 3.—An attack was made today on British vessels patrolling the Belgian coast by an electrically controlled high speed boat. The boat was destroyed.

The following official statement was given out: "An attack was made today on our vessels patrolling the Belgian coast by an electrically controlled high speed boat. The attack was defeated and the boat destroyed."

EXPRESS CAR AND CONTENTS BURNED

Fire Starting Within Car on Pennsy Train Causes $50,000 Loss.

The crew on Pennsylvania train No. 17, westbound, Friday evening discovered smoke issuing from a car loaded with express goods shortly after the train pulled out of Warsaw. Evidently the fire had a good start and was being fanned by the wind as the train sped along. The train was stopped at Grovetown and the burning car cut out and left to its fate, after the crew and others near the scene failed to put out the fire. The contents of the car, valued at upwards of $50,000, were entirely consumed and the car was badly damaged by the flames before the fire was extinguished. The contents consisted chiefly of expensive silk consigned to merchants in Chicago. It is a complete loss. The origin of the fire is unknown.

WESTERN GAS REORGANIZED.

O. B. Young, of Pittsburgh, is the manager. The Western Gas Construction company has been reorganized and additional capital secured which will place the company in a strong position, enabling it to give prompt attention to orders for standard apparatus and equipment as manufactured in the past, and as well as to accept orders for new work.

The plant includes the pattern shop, machine shop, foundry, forge and tank shops, located at Fort Wayne, Ind. O. B. Young has been made manager and William C. Marquardt assistant manager. O. N. Guddin, on account of ill health, will retire from the active management of the business, but will be retained in a consulting capacity. Thomas W. Stone will continue with the company as chief engineer. The new directors will be: H. B. Rust, president; W. F. Rust, vice president; S. T. Brown, secretary and treasurer. Other directors are C. J. Ramsburg, O. N. Guddin, C. H. Worden and S. M. Foster.

PENNSY MEN BUY $9,051,700 BONDS

Over $3,000,000 Taken by the Employees West of Pittsburgh.

Returns which have been compiled from all portions of the Pennsylvania railroad system, including the lines east and west of Pittsburgh, show that a total of 122,456 employees subscribed to the second Liberty loan, taking altogether $9,051,700. On the lines east of Pittsburgh 77,273 individual subscribers were recorded for a total of $5,689,700. On the lines west, 45,183 employees subscribed for $3,362,000 worth of bonds. As the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the parent corporation of the system, subscribed on its own account, for $10,000,000 of the second Liberty loan, the total subscriptions, for the company and for the employees of the system, amount to $19,051,700. The campaign for subscriptions among the employees of the entire Pennsylvania railroad system was carried on with the greatest vigor and enthusiasm. Local Liberty loan committees were organized on all divisions, and in all shops and departments. Nearly 2,000 men were actively engaged in the work of solicitation and every one of the quarter-million employees of the system was personally urged to "buy a bond."

BOOSTING ELEX CLUB.

Campaign Starts Today to Raise Membership to 200. The Elex club, composed chiefly of girls at the General Electric works, will have a membership of 200 if present plans are successful. The club now has a membership of forty-four. Twenty new names having been added during the past week without solicitation. All have signed up for some of the classes at the gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A., indicating that there is considerable interest in the club. Realizing this fact the men back of the idea of a membership campaign for the Elex club and it will be put in operation Monday. The members of the Elex club are also eligible to scholarship in three branches of studies under the auspices of the Electro-Technic club. They are mechanical drawing, business English and factory accounting. Membership solicitors will be put in action next week and it is expected to have a membership of over 200 by the end of the week.

NEVER ASKED FOR PASS.

Charles Goers Retires After 25 Years on Nickel Plate. Charles Goers, for twenty-five years employed as a car cleaner for the Nickel Plate, bears the distinction of losing only fifteen days by sickness or otherwise and never taking a pleasure trip or asking for a pass during the quarter century of his service. He bore a car cleaner in January, 1893, and retired on the disability clause at the age of 65, November 1. His record for steady work stands as the best of any employee of the company.

MARRIED IN CHICAGO.

J. L. Rowe, draftsman in the transformer department of the General Electric works, was married October 21 to Miss C. Weiner at her home in Chicago, and although the bride came here and spent a week with her husband after the wedding, the officiating of the groom did not know of the wedding until this morning, when Mr. Rowe voluntarily gave it out along with a cigar to each of the men and chewing gum to the women. Mrs. Rowe returned to Chicago yesterday and will come back here Tuesday, when the couple will begin arrangements for keeping house.

ENGINEER STRASSER RECOVERS

Henry Strasser, Pennsylvania passenger engineer, resumed his place at the throttle today, when he presided in the cab of the Manhattan limited, No. 22, on the run to Crestline. June 2 Engineer Strasser was operated upon at the hospital and when about ready to report for duty on the road again, he was run down by an automobile, August 5, and went back to the hospital with a badly crippled leg. The limb is shorter than its mate, but has nearly recovered and Mr. Strasser does not apprehend any further trouble from it.

HOWARD H. PIERCE GIVEN PROMOTION

Goes to South Chicago Monday as Ticket Agent for Pennsylvania.

Howard H. Pierce, assistant ticket agent at Fort Wayne for the Pennsylvania, has received the appointment of ticket agent at South Chicago for the company. He will leave for that city tomorrow and assume the duties of his new office Monday morning. Mr. Pierce succeeds C. E. Moore, resigned to go into the military service. Howard Pierce has been a familiar figure at the Pennsylvania passenger station in this city for a number of years and for the past ten years has been assistant passenger agent. Recent additions to the local ticket office force makes it unnecessary to employ additional help there.

NEW TIME CARD SUNDAY.

Wabash Makes Change Affecting Nearly Every Train. The time card the Wabash will put into effect at midnight affects nearly every passenger train on this division and the prospective traveler will do well to inform himself in that connection lest he be left. The Montpelier accommodation train, which leaves the city at 10 a. m., and returns at 4:40 p. m., will run only on week days hereafter; No. 28 will leave at 10:35 a. m.; No. 18 will leave at 10:45 a. m.; No. 1 will leave at 10:32 a. m.; No. 3 will leave at 9:05 p. m. Other trains will run on the old schedule.

NO SHOOT NEXT SUNDAY.

Cold and Wet Interfere With the Fred Zollars Contest. There will be no competitive shooting at the outdoor range of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club next Sunday for the Fred Zollars $25 cash prize. The weather is too cold for a successful target contest and even if the temperature warms up the grounds are wet and altogether bad for the purpose. If the weather settles and the range grounds dry up the shoot will take place a week from Sunday or perhaps the following Sunday. Otherwise the contest will have to be postponed until next spring.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Harry Murray has taken employment in the punch press department of the General Electric works. L. Anderson, laborer at the Pennsylvania engineering shop, is off duty nursing a bruised foot. G. Siff, laborer at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is on the sick list. P. J. Schenk, machine operator of the Pennsylvania old car shops, was off duty on account of sickness. A. L. Steinbacher, machine operator at the Pennsylvania machine shop, is off duty due to sickness. Ike Sorg, blacksmith at the Pennsylvania smith shop, is on the sick list. W. E. Wartenbe, blacksmith at the Pennsylvania, is spending the week-end visiting friends at Plymouth. R. W. Shaw, heater at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, was off duty due to sickness. W. H. Roemke, of the Pennsylvania planing mill, is unable to work, due to sickness. H. F. Wass, machine operator at the Pennsylvania old car shop, left for Roanoke, where he expects to do some hunting. W. King and L. J. Elsing, laborers at the Pennsylvania, resigned this morning and will seek employment elsewhere. After a short illness, Clark Essig resumed his duties as tester in the transformer department of the General Electric works this morning. E. A. Wagner, of the transformer department of the General Electric works, has returned from a business trip to Chicago. Homer Eber, of the induction motor department of the General Electric works, has gone to Akron to spend Sunday with his folks. Foreman C. F. Finkel, of the boiler department of the Wabash shops, went to Peru this morning on business for the company. J. A. Foster, foreman of the Pennsylvania air brake driver department, was absent today and P. Schille was selected to take charge of his work. E. Timmins and J. C. Camperman, boilermakers at the Pennsylvania, were absent today on account of sickness. W. H. Yarnman, flue welder, at the Pennsylvania boiler shop, failed to appear for work this morning and gave sickness as his reason. R. I. Urbin, crane operator at the Pennsylvania, was reported at Brooklyn navy yards to enter the service of Uncle Sam. W. P. Dittoe, purchasing agent for the Nickel Plate with headquarters at Cleveland, was a business caller on several Fort Wayne firms today. W. R. Shambaugh, formerly employed as clerk for the Westinghouse, Church, Kerr and company, is in the city visiting former associates. He is now a student at Ann Arbor. Miss Ruth Tracy has taken employment with Agent J. E. Ross at the Pennsylvania passenger station. She is assisting at the ticket windows when necessary. L. W. McNe, who has been employed in the general testing department of the General Electric works as a student, will be transferred Monday to the transformer department. A Veterans' assistant chief clerk in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop office, left early this morning for his cousin's farm east of the city to try his hand at the hunting game. Mrs. C. C. Brown, 4021 South Wayne avenue, had the misfortune to lose her pocketbook containing a sum of money yesterday. Mr. Brown is employed at the General Electric works. Joseph Bowman, a tester in the induction motor and alternator department of the General Electric works, is taking a layoff to look after some business. Miss Carmella Shader, stenographer in the office of the induction motor department of the General Electric works, left today for Anderson, Ind., to spend Sunday with relatives. She will return next Monday. The Pennsylvania erecting shop force this week turned out twelve engines to be put back in service. The following engines received heavy repairs: 7296, 7323, 7345, 7364, 7431, 7537, 7541, 7739, 7773, 9008, 9035, 9057. J. C. Brake, chief clerk to Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lopsch, of the G. R. & I. accompanied by Mrs. Brake and their daughter, Miss Laontene Brake, left for Lynn, Ind., this afternoon to spend Sunday with Mrs. Brake's relatives. The champions of the Time Clerks' bowling team and of the superintendents' team had a game last night, the time clerks winning two out of the three games. A. J. Getz and J. H. Lauer represented the superintendents and W. J. Kalbfleisch and S. G. Klotz represented the time clerks.

HUNTERS DECLARE WAR ON COTTONTAILS

Dr. McDonald, Garrett, and Brother-in-Law, of Chicago, Hold Record. (Special to The Sentinel.) Albion, Ind., Nov. 3.—War has been declared on the cottontails for several days by community ninnyrds and they are being routed from every nook and corner, only a few escaping the fusillade of the firing. Messrs. Dr. F. M. McDonald, of Garrett, and brother-in-law, Walter Block, of Chicago Junction, O., on Thursday, without potshot, ferret or dog, killed nineteen east of town, and not an ideal rabbit day at that. Scores equally as large are reported by local hunters.

Mayor J. O. Bachelor, of Marion, delivered an address on the war situation at the circuit court room in this city Wednesday evening under the direction of the Noble County Council of Defense. Mayor Bachelor is a fluent speaker and his address, in the situation so forcibly and vividly that his hearers were made to realize more fully the extent of very patriotic duty in this hour of need—a duty that befalls every one—"Help Win the War," by words and action. The speaker was escorted from the evening train to the court room by Messrs. Fred E. Moore, E. J. Eagles and other prominent business men. The Slam and Dozen club members were entertained at 5 o'clock dinner Tuesday evening at the palatial home of Attorney and Mrs. O. E. Grant, a menu of frankfurters, sauerkraut and viennas being served. The spacious rooms were festooned with Halloween decorations and beautiful in the extreme. Miss Ollie Favinger, for several years the genial "hello" girl at the Albion exchange, and who resided with her grandfather, Jacob S. Favinger, until her recent demise, left on Thursday for Houston, Tex., to make her home with her uncle, M. S. Favinger, and wife, and where she will attend a nurses' training school preparing herself for life work. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kreighbaum, of this city, on Monday received a letter from their son, Sidney Kreighbaum, written at Southampton, England, and dated Oct. 4. He reports well and still maneuvering. Mrs. Joseph Croft returned Wednesday evening from a visit with a sister of Mr. Croft, Mrs. Reynolds, at North Manchester. Mr. Micnamara, who conducted a baby contest for the Albion Democrat more than a year ago, was in Albion Wednesday, being now engaged with the Columbia City Mail conducting a contest. Since leaving Albion he has been engaged in Canada and many towns of the United States conducting contests. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Spangler entertained the members of the Literary and Historical clubs at their home on West Jefferson street Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Cora Netz, an esteemed member, who left her husband's home at Toledo Thursday. An enjoyable feature was the ladies appearing in masque. The entertainment concluded with light refreshments. Will Jourdan, merchant at Cosperville, transacted business at the Hub Tuesday. The Sunday school class of E. O. Himes, of the E. C. church, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L.

Forty young friends of Miss Mildred Davis gathered at her home unannounced Tuesday evening to extend their regrets at her departure for her new home at Ligonier, but wish her naught but well in the coming years. Aside from games and light refreshments much amusement was derived from the initiation of several of the school freshmen, several breaking away and when last seen were annihilating space. The Girls' Thimble club was treated Tuesday evening to a trip to the Mystic theater and thence to a supper especially prepared by Mrs. Lillian Saltzger, the expense being borne by the husbands and wife escorts. C. E. Franks, rural route carrier on No. 14, Ligonier, has been laid up with gripple sufferer for several days and off duty. Two daughters are also confined to the home. Valara with chickenpox and Margaret with la grippe. Mrs. Alcy Roscoe, south town, aged 91 years, was entertained Monday in the home of Mrs. Sarah Freeman, of Albion, the event being the birth anniversary of the former, who at this advanced age is in fine health, spry and active. Reminiscent experiences, tersely told, served to pass pleasantly the fitting hours. A national capital went "dry" promptly at 12 o'clock Wednesday night for the first time in the history of the country.

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by its prompt relief of coughs, colds, croup, and croup.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and sugar. The "syrup" part is usually plain granulated sugar syrup. Adding lemon juice and a few drops of pine oil makes it yourself in five minutes. To make the best pine cough remedy, take one cup of sugar, put 2 1/2 ounces of pine (100 cents worth) in a pint of water, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, and very pleasant—take it eagerly. You can feel this take hold of a cough and in a while the means business cough may be dry, hoarse and tight. It may be persistently loose from the irritation of phlegm. The cause is the inflammation of the membranes—and this pine and sugar combination will stop usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, ordinary throat ailment. Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt results. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pine" with directions, and don't accept anything less. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. J. O. Grove, Fort Wayne, Ind.

CIGARS AND TOBACCOS BOOSTED IN PRICE

Raise Expected But Not Welcome—Necessary on Account of Tax.

The six cent cigar is with us again and this time we have the assurance that it is here to stay. The first raise came in October when half the war tax was imposed but dealers put down the price until November 1, when the remainder of the tax was levied. The scale of prices was arranged at a meeting of the Fort Wayne tobacco dealers. Local merchants have endeavored to keep the price down but it was found impossible.

Beginning Saturday all five-cent cigars and tobaccos will be six cents, ten-cent articles will be twelve cents, or three for thirty-five cents. A box of fifty six-cent cigars may be bought for $2.50, a box of fifty ten-cent cigars for $4.25, a box of fifty twelve-cent cigars for $5, and a box of fifty fifteen-cent cigars for $6.50. The present price of cigarettes will be unchanged.

MOVING WILL CAUSE 200 TO LOOSE VOTE

Ballot is Lost When Citizen Leaves Precinct in Which Registered.

About 200 citizens are expected to lose their ballot in the coming city election because they have moved from the precinct in which they registered their residence. Attorney William Fruechtenicht, mission, holds that a man must retain his residence in the precinct in which he gave his address upon registering. In order to be eligible to vote in the city contest. It is estimated that about 200 citizens have changed their residence from one part of the city to another since registering. The election board has tried to be lenient in this matter but the voting law is plain on the subject and not even by making a separate record is a man eligible to vote if he moves from one city district to another.

TRUANCY REFUSES TO MEET EXPECTATIONS

One Hundred Per Cent of Pupils Are at Desks in Some Schools.

President Wilson's request that education be pursued with added vigor because of the war has made a hit with the boys and girls of Allen county. Truancy, by its absence, is making a new record for the rural schools about Fort Wayne. All expectations that pupils might be kept from school for farm work this fall, because of the war, have been shattered. Attendance at no rural school has dropped below 95 per cent. of the entire enrollment since classes opened in September, states County Trust Officer Thomas Wilkenson. In a part of the county schools the attendance has been held at 100 per cent. of the enrollment during the two months of the present school year.

SAYS HER HUSBAND HUMILIATES HER

Suit for Divorce is Filed by Mrs. Lydia Plessinger from Charles.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 3.—Through her attorney, Frank W. Gordon, Mrs. Lydia Plessinger yesterday started divorce proceedings against her husband, Charles H. Plessinger. The complaint sets out that Mrs. Plessinger has time and again been humiliated before her friends by Mr. Plessinger's actions and words. The couple are prominent here. Mr. Plessinger having formerly been connected with the United Telephone company and later with the Studebaker bank.

RURAL WOMEN'S CLUBS TO BACK CONSERVATION

Teach Housewives to Save Right, Theme of Agent Mable Erwin.

Food conservation has found an effective ally in the Allen County Council of Farm Women, which organization met in the court house, Saturday afternoon, and ratified every plan for the "waste not" campaign, as outlined by Miss Mabel Erwin, Allen county's woman rural agent.

"Every woman says she is saving all she can and that she has saved all her life," said Miss Erwin, in her talk to the officers of the rural clubs. "That statement is probably true. We do not ask women to serve less. The government does not want them to starve. It is to be our mission to teach the housewives what to save and what to serve in order to win the war."

A call meeting of the women's organization may be arranged for soon in order to plan for a more concerted campaign for food saving in farm homes. Framers of the document under discussion are: Mrs. Fred W. Miller, Washington township; Mrs. J. C. Wertz, Harlan, and Mrs. Ella Spindler, Woodbury.

Attention of the rural club women was called to a list of waste, entitled, "A Housekeeper's Symphony," which has been delivered to the desk of County Agent Miss Erwin. The poetry follows:

"To do the best I can from morn till night,
To pray for added strength with coming light,
To make the family income reach all way,
With some left over for a rainy day;
To do distasteful things with happy face,
To try to keep the odds and ends in place,
To smile instead of frown at fate,
Which placed me in a family always late, to meals;
To do the sewing, mending, and the thousand small things always near at hand,
And do them always with a cheerful heart,
Because in life they seem to be my part;
To know the place for everything and keep it there,
To think, to plan, to cook, to sweep,
To brew, to bake, to answer questions,
To be the mainspring of the family clock,
(Or that effect) and see that each tick tock,
Or meet of time, or tune, or soon, or late,
This is the only symphony which I can never hope to operate."

EVERYBODY BENEFITS FROM SUBURBAN DAY

Weekly Shopping Event, Wednesday, is Good for Merchant and Visitor.

Next Wednesday gives every promise of being the banner day of the series of weekly Suburban days. The establishment of this regular event just at the time of the people's greatest need has proven to be one of the most happy conditions that could have been devised for conservation in buying the necessities of life. This fact is now recognized by the thousands who are coming regularly to Fort Wayne on Wednesdays. The exceptionally large trade of last Wednesday is a sure indication that the people of the surrounding territory are fully awake to the Fort Wayne plan of saving on all lines of reasonable merchandise. The plan is purely co-operative. The merchant names a low price on his goods. He secures new customers—and that is the most valuable of accomplishments, the building up of new trade—and this pays him for the loss of profits which would accrue to him if he were to abide by the regular prices. Naturally, the patrons from outside the city who are enabled to purchase at the lower price, find it to his profit to make the trip to Fort Wayne to make the purchases in preference to buying from a mail-order house where there is no opportunity to see what he is getting. In the smaller cities, too, where the local merchant cannot carry the large lines represented in the Fort Wayne stores, the merchant is glad to be relieved of the necessity of trying to carry lines which he cannot afford, and the saving to him enables him to carry larger lines of the staple goods which his customer should buy at home instead of coming to Fort Wayne after them. All in all, the plan is splendidly co-operative, and the small outside merchant is one of its best boosters.

Buy In Country Club Gardens for Investment

Many people are buying in Country Club Gardens as a war-time investment. Amid a time of business changes the one kind of investment that is free from the uncertainties of war is investment in mother earth, because such is immune from fluctuation of values. Among those who have purchased lots in the gardens for investment is Toba Baum, 1313 West Wayne street. The sale was made for the City and Suburban Building company by H. Goldstein. The sale of lots in this suburban tract has been very rapid on account of the many advantages to be found there.

War Declared on Rats by U. S. Gov't.

The government at Washington is preparing a campaign that should be effective in killing the rats that are so destructive both to lives and property. A conservative estimate places the loss of foodstuffs from rats at over two hundred million dollars annually, and in the present scarcity of food, this loss must be prevented. The most efficient way to prevent the rat is by the use of Stearns' Paste, and thousands of dollars worth have been bought by the government. Every housekeeper troubled with rats, mice, roaches or waterbugs should buy a small box of this reliable exterminator and stop further loss of food in her home.—Advertisement.

EXAMPLES ARE NEEDED.

There is a third factor of great importance in keeping this situation from becoming a permanent one. It is the fact that Germany cannot crush it.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

NEW REFECTORY TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

Twenty-Five Thousand Dollar Structure at Reformed Orphans' Home.

The new dining hall at the Reformed orphans' home has been completed and will be dedicated Sunday, November 4. Addresses will be given by Rev. F. W. Engelmann, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Rev. H. H. Kattmann, of Warsaw, Wis.; and Rev. A. H. Schaaf, of Fort Wayne. The dedicatory service will be read by Rev. A. Beer, of New Bavaria, O., and the prayer will be offered by Rev. W. Boisser, of Plymouth, Wis. The service will be presided over by M. Kinch, of Decatur, who is president of the board. The public is invited to attend.

Has Good Year.

The Reformed orphans' home has enjoyed a good year and a brief report of the work accomplished there is shown from the following extract from the Reformed Church Messenger, written by the superintendent, Rev. J. F. Winter.

"The past year has been a good one and a busy one at the Fort Wayne home. Good, for we have been able to care for more children and care better for them all. It has been a busy one, too, for we are constantly making improvements and are at present concerned with the erection of the new building.

"We are now taking care of ninety-four children, which is thirteen more than we had last year at this time. During the year we admitted twenty-seven children and dismissed fourteen. The children are with us on two exceptions, content and obedient. We aim to keep them busy with the proper proportion of work and play, which keeps their minds and bodies occupied.

"The schools were conducted for eight months, as usual. Our children attend the public school, but should like to employ our own teachers as soon as this can be made possible. Raphaela work for the younger boys and fancy work for the girls continue throughout the year. Our chapel services are held every evening, with church and Sunday school on Sunday. In this way we aim to train the children in body, mind and spirit. Two girls and three boys were confirmed this year, after several years of instruction in the Bible and catechism, and also concerning the Reformed church.

"With two exceptions, none of the children have been seriously ill, and these two were kindly cared for in the hospital until they were again well.

"The boys are kept busy in the summer time on the farm and in the garden. We have twenty-seven swine, eight cows, four Holstein calves, four horses and three hundred and fifty chickens at present, all of which are fed almost entirely from the farm. The cattle and swine supply approximately 60 per cent of our meat, while we have at least three vegetables a day from the garden in summer. The root vegetables last through the winter until spring. Last winter our children were forced to do without potatoes, as our crop was a failure and we did not feel justified in buying. The new crop is good and we are now having potatoes again.

"The new dining hall has progressed rapidly and is now under roof. When it is completed this fall, we shall have the satisfaction of being able to meet the requirements of the state law and to better care for the children. We do not yet have sufficient funds for the erection of this building, but we are relying on our faith in the church that the rest is forthcoming.

"The treasurer's annual report is not yet at hand, but other statistics give a fairly accurate idea of the finances of the home. The balance in the treasury for current expenses was $2,491.63 in July. There are also liabilities on the White farm to the extent of $6,000. Our endowment fund is growing slowly. It now amounts to $6,392.21. We feel that the church has been supporting the institution loyally, both with money and with provisions and clothing."

Society

The young women who compose the Sophie B. Wright society give an annual entertainment, usually for the Visiting Nurse league. This year will be no different except that there will be a bazaar instead of a supper and interspersing the dancing will be cabaret features. Admission to the entertainment, which will include the dancing and entertaining stunts will be fifty cents. There will be booths in charge of members of the society and, as customary, the young women will do the work, will make all articles to be sold and all arrangements. The entertainment will be given at the Anthony hotel on Friday, November 30. Mrs. Arnold Tresselt is chairman and on her committee are Mrs. Harry G. Hogan, Mrs. Clifford Bornschein, Miss Vera Tresselt, Miss Marie Landenberg and Miss Mary Evans.

Many friends in this city will be interested to learn of the engagement of Miss Emily Traub, of Davenport, Iowa, to Dr. J. P. Merrill, dean of physics and electrical engineering departments of the State university of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah, which she announced at the wedding of her brother, Rev. Frederick Traub, of Eden, Idaho, to Miss Lottie Jaus. Miss Traub formerly lived in Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne friends received cards this morning announcing the wedding of Lieut. James King Fitzpatrick to Miss Elizabeth Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franklin Orr, of Washington, D. C., which took place on October 27, at Annapolis Junction, Md., where Lieut. Fitzpatrick is located and where he and his bride will live for the present. The groom has Still another of the happy Halloween affairs came off at the home of Miss Laura Wilmoth, 1803 Sinclair street, in the way of a masquerade, on Thursday evening. Besides games there was dancing for which music was furnished by May Bente and refreshments were served by Anita Cahill and Grace Minser. Other young people enjoying this good time included Misses Mary and Fay Woodhull, Ruth Schoonover, Roxy Colby, Allen Carmer, Loretta Hitzeman, Rose McCormick, Laura Wilmoth, Cella Hathaway, Cornelia Cahill and Messrs. Victor Rogers, Carl Hatch, Wilber Bledsoe, William Mason, Robert Rogers, Clarence Lehncke, Emil Sanders, John Wilmoth Glen Bente and Edward Wiegel.

Progressive eating is a popular way of entertaining especially when several girls combine efforts so everyone is invited to partake of the hospitality of the T. T. club one evening this week, know a good time was ahead. The hostesses were Misses Lois and Esther Tuttle, Esther Koch and Esther Kessler. Other young people included in this affair were Misses Margaret Paulsen, Edith Bauer, Lisle Cour and Messrs. Roy Gessler, Ruby Gerberding, Carl Strobel, Howard Shambaugh, Louis Jacobs, Herbert Scherer.

Misses Helen Yarnman and Nell Rehrer gave a masquerade party at the Rehrer home, 1232 Huestis avenue, Wednesday evening. The house was beautifully decorated in orange and black festoons, pumpkins and corn stalks. A merry time was enjoyed with the various games suitable for Halloween, after which a luncheon was served. Those present were Bertha Traut, Alice Florence, Loretta Stair, Esther Colling, Loretta Keep, Ellnor Plock, Edna Bobay, Irene Conklin, Beatrice Roberts, Ota Roberts, Helen Yarnman and Rose Yarnman.

Seven years old proved a most important day with Miss Dorothy Fisher, partly because she never had so pretty and delightful a birthday party that she can remember, anyway, and partly because it was a beautiful day, and Miss Dorothy likes to help other people enjoy life, too.

Particulars were not different from any lovely parties and there was a cake with yellow candles and tiny pumpkins of candy and a number of substantial things besides. The children present were Marguerite and Virginia Luecke, Rosalie Pollak, Jane Fisher, Helen Dessauer, Patty Price, Virginia Gilmartin, Betty Van Arman, Mary Shields, Alice Yarnelle, Mary Pettit, Virginia Bohn, Susanne Ivens, Florence Coppock, Patty Bowlers and Louise Rogers.

Mothers' Club Entertainment.
A large audience, many encores and an ever ready appreciation of pleasure in the work of each participating giving throughout the entertainment at Plymouth church last evening, given under the management of the Mothers' club. Proceeds will be used in furthering the charitable endeavors of the club and in Red Cross work.

The program was given by Mrs. Selma Ringold, of Toledo, Ohio, an interesting and gifted reader; Robert Quick, a talented and hard working violin student, whose progress has been such as to place him in Chautauque circles of entertainers, Misses Jessie Gifford and Irene Jones, both student sopranos with voices of lovely quality and evening excellent training; Miss Marguerite Heman, a progressive piano student with many fine qualities of work, both as soloist and accompanist, and Herbert Rippe, also a student singer who has made splendid progress. All the Fort Wayne performers donated their services.

Exposition and Sale of FINE FURS An Exclusive Display of Fashionable Furs Starting Next Tuesday

The most interesting feature of this unusual event, next to the high quality of the skins, are the very low prices that will prevail. This is doubly emphasized since the Government's Fur Sales in St. Louis and New York, at which time raw furs brought advances of from 25 to 60 per cent.

Monday Has Been Set Aside As a Day of Courtesy

Although the sale does not open until Tuesday, the furs will be on display Monday, for your inspection. You may select any Fur Piece or Garment on that day, at the sale price, delivery being made Tuesday. This is an unusual and unique service which we think will be appreciated by women interested in new furs.

Furs of Distinction and of Guaranteed Quality

Included Are the Fur Pieces of

Hudson Bay Sables	Chinchilla Squirrel
Kolinsky	Skunk
Hudson Seal	Wolf (all shades)
Mole	Mink

cannot be given as the conference will not be held until Nov. 7, 8 and 9 in Indianapolis. No member of Mary Penrose Wayne chapter is on the program. Hostesses for Monday are Messdames Dalman, Dittenderfer, McCaskey, Merritt, Grimes, Caps and Misses Caps and Wilbur.

The Shakespeare club will meet with Miss Keturah Williams on Monday evening. The club is reading "The Tempest."

There will be a meeting of the Duodecimo club with Mrs. Walter Griffiths on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Abercrombie will read a paper on "Ellis Island Today," and Mrs. Hartt one on "Citizenship."

The Thursday Shakespeare club has decided to devote its time to Red Cross work this winter and will meet the coming week.

Mrs. Dermody is to be hostess for the Twentieth Century club on Thursday afternoon and the study of South America is to be continued.

ETNA BOY WRITES TO PARENTS FROM FRANCE

Says His Regiment is Stationed on Ground of Great Historical Importance.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 3.—Ronald Scott, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. C. Scott, of Etina, and now with the regulars in France, states his regiment is stationed on ground of great historical importance, having been held in the last three years by the once conquering Germans. Evidences of well known battles of the first three or four months of the war are abundant. At the time of writing his letter, October 1, it was a time of harvest and fruit and English walnuts grew there in plentiful abundance this year.

Columbia City Short Notes.
The Baptist church is rapidly nearing completion, the second story proper having been finished up by the brick masons. The four large stone pillars that form the beautiful entrance are in place, and the interior work will be completed by time for service Christmas day or New Year's day.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair—advertisement.

Grand Chancellor Heller, of the state Pythian lodge, is a busy man these days. He will speak November 28 at the district banquet at Fort Wayne, and is striving to obtain Supreme Chancellor John W. WELL KNOWN OSSIAN COUPLE ARE MARRIED

Miss Georgianna M. Hostetter and Dale J. Ferguson United in Marriage.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Ossian, Ind., Nov. 3.—At the Presbyterian manse at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening occurred the marriage of two well known Ossian young people. Miss Georgianna M. Hostetter, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hostetter, became the wife of Mr. Dale J. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ferguson. The ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. Frank K. Baker. The young folks were unattended. The bride wore a becoming suit of dark blue. A six o'clock dinner at the home of the bride's parents preceded the wedding ceremony. Only the immediate families were present. Mr. Ferguson is one of the successful teachers in the Tocsin schools and he and his bride left Thursday morning for Indianapolis to attend teachers' association. On their return to Ossian they will at once go to housekeeping in a cottage on South Jefferson street.

Miss Mary F. Harter spent Thursday in Bluffton visiting with Dr. and Mrs. I. N. Hatfield.

James Hatfield, who is teaching this winter in the Central school building at Bluffton, spent Thursday visiting the schools of Kendallville and Marquette.

Mrs. George M. Way went to Fort Wayne on Thursday and will visit until Sunday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles O. Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hunter and the former's mother, Mrs. T. B. Hunter, spent yesterday in Fort Wayne visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spencer.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

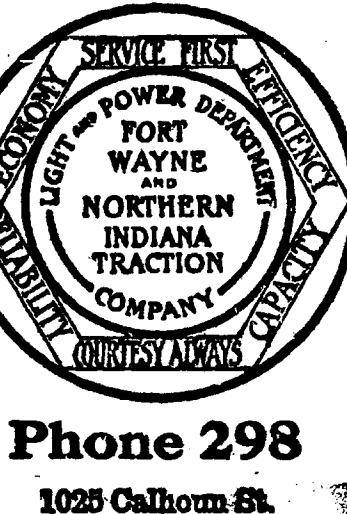

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Advertisement.

Reformed.

St. John's Church.

Many of our boys have been called to "Rally 'round the flag." When they hear these summons and present themselves before the authorities of our government they do so with the firm resolve to serve Uncle Sam in absolute loyalty. We had our "Grand Rally Day" last Sunday, when we rallied around the flag of our Sunday school. Let our resolve be that of our boys. Our attendance next Sunday depends upon that resolve. Sunday school begins at 9 a. m.

We shall have two visiting ministers with us next Sunday, Rev. Hoernemann, of Berne, and Prof. Scherry, of Garrett, who, with Elder Stuckey, of Berne, will install our new pastor, Rev. Beckmann. The visiting ministers will preach, the one in English, the other in German.

Sunday afternoon the new dormitory at the orphan's home will be dedicated. To this we have been cordially invited.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will have its monthly consecration meeting at 6:30. Miss Eleanor Reiff will lead.

The Men's Bible class will have a social meeting and supper in the school hall next Wednesday evening, at which Rev. Beckmann will speak.

The Ladies' Aid society meets Wednesday for sewing for the great bazaar.

Next Thursday the Aid will meet for its regular monthly meeting. The hostesses are Sophia Siebold, Elizabeth K. Stoltz, Margaret Stoltz, Mina Sauerwein, Anna Schoepf, Frederika Sommers, Elizabeth Soest, Margaretha Thumm, Frederika Thannhen, Lisette Tigges.

Friday evening the Delta Alpha class meets at the home of Myrtle Altevogt, 2304 South Harrison street. The pastor will be pleased to receive the names of all who have enlisted or have been called to serve in any branch of the army or navy.

REFORMATION CANTATA

To Be Rendered at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sunday.

As a fitting close of the celebration of the Reformation quadri-centennial, which is being observed throughout the world in these days, and which has just been celebrated by the Lutherans of this city, a chorus of 48 voices under the direction of Mr. Geo. Weiler, organist of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will tomorrow evening render the famous Becker Reformation cantata.

The Reformation cantata is the classical musical expression of the quadri-centennial celebration, and one of the masterpieces of Evangelical church music. The cantata of the Reformation was composed by Albert Becker, the late royal choir-master of the Dome, of Berlin. It was written for the Lutheran quadri-centennial of Nov. 10, 1883, and rendered for the first time on that day.

Liszt said, when he had seen this work: "Becker appears in this cantata as the first among musicians of the Evangelical church. There is only one who could contend for the palm or prize with him, and that one is Brahms."

The great theme of the cantata, the text of which has been taken from the Holy Scripture and Luther's hymns, is the theme of the Reformation: Remembrance, grace, faith, baptism and the Eternal Word.

Two Luther hymns: "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" and "From Out the Depths I Cry to Thee," are closely interwoven in the music of the cantata, which is splendidly instrumentalized, is carried to a height of dramatic power.

The cantata will be rendered tomorrow evening at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The soloists appearing in the program are the Misses Luella Feiertag and Elfrieda Wasmuth, soprano and alto respectively, and Mr. Ernst Moeller, bass. Mr. Carl Dannenfeiser will accompany the program.

The program will begin at 7:45. There will be no admission. The public is cordially invited.

Associated Bible Students.

The Fort Wayne branch of the International Bible Students' association of which the noted traveling bible lecturer, Pastor C. T. Russell was president until his death, which office is now held by the Honorable J. F. Ruthenford, hold all services in Unity hall, corner Calhoun and Holman streets.

"Wise and Foolish Christians" will be the subject of a public discourse at 7:45 p. m. Sunday. What is the Christian's standard and his attitude toward warfare? etc., are questions which will be answered from the bible in this lecture.

Berean bible study at 10:30 a. m. Sunday.

Prayer meeting at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Seats will be free and no collection lifted.

Sunday School Convention.

The Allen County Sunday School association will meet next Thursday, Nov. 8, for an all day Sunday school convention. The state association will send speakers for the morning and afternoon program. The speaker of the evening program will be one of our leading city pastors in Sunday school work. Each township is expected to send delegates and each church a number of representatives. The convention will begin at 9:30. The program will appear later.

Pontifical Service.

Pontifical high mass was observed Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception. The meeting was in honor of the Feast of All Souls and was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman Joseph Alreding. The sermon was preached by Rev. George Flinnigan, of Notre Dame, one of the missionaries who conducted the forty hour devotion.

Conduct Services at Peru.

Father Finnigan will conduct services Sunday at St. Charles church, Peru, where Rev. John Guendling, formerly of the Cathedral, is pastor. Friday morning, November 3, Father Mulloy will open devotional services at St. Patrick's church, Lago, Ind. These missionaries held a highly successful week at the Cathedral.

SOME REASONS WHY MAURICE C. NIEZER SHOULD BE ELECTED MAYOR

THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

MAURICE C. NIEZER.

WHO WANTS TO BOSS NIEZER?

(Sentinel, Oct. 12, 1917.)

It is to be trusted the men and women of Fort Wayne who will vote in the municipal elections next month are giving intelligent if not grave attention to the reasons urged against the triumph of Maurice C. Niezer at the polls.

So far the opposition has contested Mr. Niezer's claim only upon the ground that if elected he will not be mayor, but will surrender his place and power to some one else.

Does anyone of sane mind seriously credit such a preposterous charge as that after having made a successful race for the mayoralty wholly for the reason that it promised him opportunities for public service, Mr. Niezer would consign his good name, his reputation, his political future to the scrap heap, turn his back upon the record he has made as a citizen, and abandon every sentiment and principle that as a citizen of honor and spirit he holds dear?

Does anyone believe that Mr. Niezer, who declined to entertain any proposals of himself for the mayoralty until repeatedly and urgently besought by men of all parties and then only when it became clear that it was his great opportunity to devote himself to the city that he loves dearly and has served zealously, would discredit his own position and make wreck of his great chance to do those things that are his most cherished aspirations as a citizen?

Does anyone for a moment imagine that a strong, upstanding, forthright man like Maurice C. Niezer would make mockery of himself by going into high office as anybody's man?

As we have said before, all this stuff about Mr. Niezer and his bondage to any person or any interest is unqualified bunk. Those who invent it and employ it know well—none better—that it is untrue and manufactured in the stress to find some pretext for their opposition.

Those who would control a mayor if they could, who have selfish interests to serve, are not training with Mr. Niezer or training after him. They know better. Their hopes and expectations lie on the other side and their support is pledged and their assistance given.

Mr. Niezer cannot be bossed by anyone. Those who know him know that for a fact.

No one who is supporting Mr. Niezer wants to boss him or expects to. Everybody of common sense has the intelligence to know that.

THE PEOPLE ARE FOR IT.

(Sentinel, Oct. 23, 1917.)

The people of Fort Wayne, not excepting some hundreds who do not patronize it, are in favor of the maintenance and expansion of the municipal lighting system. This is the fact because there are few people in Fort Wayne so dense of understanding that they do not appreciate what the value of this public institution has been and will be to them.

ler. We again repeat that Mr. Cutshall had entire right to do that.

The point at this time is that what Mr. Cutshall then thought and said of Mayor Hoesy was contrary to everything he thinks and says now of Mayor Hoesy. He then regarded Mayor Hoesy as the foremost exemplar of municipal government and city progress and public spirit in Fort Wayne. He then wanted to attach himself to Mayor Hoesy's administration, convinced that it was going to prove the "best this city ever had known." Mr. Cutshall had thought so well of Mayor Hoesy's previous administration and set so much store by the promise of Mayor Hoesy's oncoming administration that he had supported Mr. Hoesy in the last municipal election.

Now Mr. Cutshall and all his train are engaged in a vast campaign of bitter and incontinent detraction of Mayor Hoesy. The evil things they all utter about Mayor Hoesy are put forth as the reasons why Maurice C. Niezer should not be elected mayor of this city. They charge that Mr. Niezer is merely a blind for "Hoesyism." Whatever that is. They accuse Mr. Niezer with seeking the mayoralty solely that Mayor Hoesy may continue his domination of affairs in the city hall. Of course, this is the merest balderdash. Mr. Cutshall and his supporters know that it is. They know that Mr. Niezer will run his own administration. They know that it is Mayor Hoesy's uppermost desire to lay down the cares of office and seek the repose that the state of his health enjoins. But suppose that what they say of Mayor Hoesy's pretensions to continued exercise of control and a purpose to dominate Mr. Niezer's administration were true. What honest exception can Mr. Cutshall take to that? Mayor Hoesy has had a stronger endorsement from no man than he has had from Mr. Cutshall himself. He cannot get away from the statements of his letter, try he ever so hard. What he has written he has written and there it stands.

If Mr. Cutshall, in writing to Mayor Hoesy four years ago, was honest, then his present criticism, abuse and detraction of Mayor Hoesy are not honest. If he were wilfully dishonest four years ago, is he to be now believed? If he committed himself then to hypocrisy and untruth, he was prostituting himself basely to obtain office. If he were honest then, he is employing dishonesty today and basely prostituting himself to obtain office.

Mr. Niezer is not "hooked up" with Mayor Hoesy nor with any person or persons save the whole body of the people of Fort Wayne, whom he has promised to serve and will serve faithfully in the mayor's office. But if he were "hooked up" with Mayor Hoesy, would it be as worse than the fact that Mr. Cutshall should have been? Mr. Cutshall plainly and frankly wanted to be so "hooked up." He employed his best overtures and his strongest influences that it might be brought about. If there is any person in a design to be "hooked up" with Mayor Hoesy it all belongs to Mr. Cutshall. He is the only candidate who has sought such a connection. And he either was not honest in seeking it or he is now not honest in denouncing it.

PUT FRIENDS ON GUARD.

The future of the city lighting enterprise will be determined by the spirit in which the policies of its administration. There can be no difference of opinion as to that. If the same policies that have been pursued during the past four years are continued during the next four years the municipal lighting business will not only be put on a more during foundation and placed in a still more unassailable position, but the people will gain the immense benefits that can flow only from successful management and aggressive policy.

The city lighting system is worth today a million dollars. In due course under friendly administration that value will be doubled. The lighting rates to domestic consumers are today 7 cents. If the city can break the shackles of the state utilities law that are now invoked to prevent any reduction of the rate the people will soon get their current for 6 cents, and possibly even less than that. The city lighting department has furnished the abundant proof that it can furnish current at a low rate and at the same time pay for enormous and costly extensions besides laying by a huge surplus in its funds to meet emergencies. That surplus may become much larger than it ought to be by reason of the fact that the state in behalf of the competitor of the municipal plant, for the city to charge more for its current than it ought to charge. That has been the situation for two years. Early in 1918 the city government tried to get the utilities board to sanction a reduction of the maximum rate to 6 cents. It never has been able to obtain that sanction. The result is that for almost two years the people have been forced to pay 15 cents more for their current than the city was able, willing and ready to sell it to them.

Despairing of getting the utilities board to sanction the lower rate and seeing ahead an indefinite term during which the municipal lighting plant would be hampered and obstructed in its efforts to give the people better service and lower rates, Mayor Hoesy undertook to get the legislature to pass a law that would exempt publicly owned and operated utilities from the embarrassing and harmful operations of certain phases of the state utilities law. For a time it appeared the bill that had been prepared and introduced in the legislature to this end would be passed and this city thereupon emancipated from its bondage to the trammels of an unfriendly state board. Suddenly the bill went to a quiet and unknelt death in committee.

That bill, which meant so much in dollars and cents to every consumer of electric current in Fort Wayne, slain by the dictum of one man in this city. It was done for two reasons. One reason was that Mayor Hoesy's administration might have no credit for having rendered that great service to the people. The other was that the democratic party might not gain any prestige from the act and be able to go before the people of Fort Wayne in the campaign now on with the fact in its record that it had further advanced the interests of the people, promoted the material gains of the city and enlarged the usefulness of the public lighting plant. There is possibly a third and more sinister reason.

At all events, the bill was killed, the eighty thousand people of Fort Wayne were denied the benefits it would have conferred and the lighting rate was stuck at 7 cents and remains there until the state utilities board sees fit to permit a reduction. When the people understand who it was that caused this to be killed, appreciate the despicable motives that caused him to kill it and realize the tens of thousands of dollars his nefarious act has cost them they will be astounded and furious. The slaughter of that bill was partly in the behalf of the republican party and its candidates, partly because of enmity and hatred of Mayor Hoesy and partly—it is plausible to assume in another and a worse reason. But it was killed and by that act the people of Fort Wayne—like the patrons of city and of traction current—are mulcted 15 per cent more for their use of electricity than they ought to pay.

MR. CUTSHALL FOUR YEARS AGO AND MR. CUTSHALL NOW!

To the Editor of The Sentinel,
Dear Sir:

I am enclosing you an original letter received by me from Mr. Sherman Cutshall four years ago on the occasion of my election to the office of mayor written by him while serving as city comptroller under the administration of the late Mayor Jesse Greis.

The letter speaks for itself and needs but brief comment from me. The letter is given to the press for the reason that Mr. Cutshall has apparently fallen under the evil and fatal guidance of that champion exhibit of blackguard journalism known as the Fort Wayne Daily News and under its direction is conducting his campaign for the office of mayor on the so-called issue of "Hoesyism."

In view of the fact that I am not a candidate for any office and only wished to honorably retire to private life with the satisfaction of knowing that I have faithfully endeavored to perform the many difficult duties enforced on me by virtue of the office, the people of this city have (not once, but twice) so signally honored me with and believing that I still possess, in a great degree, the esteem and confidence of the people who have thus so honored me, notwithstanding all that Mr. Cutshall's party organ has said in the past, present or may say in the future to the contrary, but it seems that Mr. Cutshall and his melodorous newspaper will not permit me to so retire. Very well, let it be so recorded.

I shall, therefore, take great pleasure in taking up the gauntlet thus thrown down by Mr. Cutshall's party organ, and will have the satisfaction of aiding and contributing, with the assistance of my personal and political friends, in the discrediting and repudiation of the one Fort Wayne newspaper that has for years not only scandalized and libeled the city of Fort Wayne, its citizens and institutions, but has also scandalized and libeled the political party it pretends to represent.

While these unwarranted attacks on me justify me in seeking in the defeat of the men who stoop to such tactics, yet I feel that the personnel of the democratic ticket, and the soundness of the democratic platform are sufficient to obtain from our citizens a final and complete repudiation of the unfair, libelous, disgusting and yellow-journal policies of the Cutshall organ.

WM. J. HOSEY.

Nov. 17, 1915.

Hon. Wm. J. Hosey

Dear Sir:

At the solicitation of several business and professional men of the city, I have decided to make application to you for reappointment to the position which I now hold, that of City Controller.

While it may seem to be an unusual request for a republican to make of a democratic Mayor-elect, in view of the continual agitation for efficiency in public offices, the development and retention of qualified officials and clerks and having in mind the progressive spirit with which you have conducted public affairs in the past and believing that your ambition is to give Fort Wayne the best administration it ever had, I feel, in view of the experience I have had in the past four years, my thorough familiarity with the exacting requirements of the State Accounting Board and Public Utility Commission, I could be of more service to you than any one man lacking experience, that I am justified in making this request.

I am of the opinion that my appointment by you would meet with the approval of the most prominent men of your party. However should you not look with favor upon my application I would appreciate a brief interview with you as I desire to correct a wrong impression which you seem to have as to my position during the campaign just closed.

Yours Truly

city the light and power department of the traction company's business.

Is that what Mr. Cutshall means by and includes in his promise that if elected he will "make every endeavor to accomplish" a city monopoly of the business in this city? Mr. Cutshall should illuminate his purpose and make clear his notion of the accomplishment of a monopoly.

If the city can get the legislature to remove the shackles of the state public service law and the stranglehold the state utilities board have upon the Fort Wayne municipal lighting plant there will not be any great delay in achieving the entire field and accomplishing a monopolization of the light and power business in Fort Wayne. That would today have been well-nigh if not entirely accomplished if it were not that Mr. Cutshall's staunchest supporter and endorser took it upon himself to destroy the bill that had been introduced in the last legislature to give the people of this city relief from the rates prevailing and to enable the city lighting department to go ahead and occupy the field.

We do not believe the people of Fort Wayne want to make a very heavy investment in junk or pay a fancy price for business that it can speedily get without cost if it be given free field. What has Mr. Cutshall further to say about his plans for a municipal light and power monopoly?

A FRIEND OF THE CITY PLANT?

(Sentinel, Nov. 2, 1917.)

Candidate Cutshall's newspaper submits this as having some force of argument:

If Mr. Cutshall as controller had not made a splendid showing in the management of the city light plant, do you suppose for a moment that Mr. Bayer, the light plant's ardent champion, would have wanted him continued in that capacity? You know mighty well he wouldn't.

There is a better way of putting the question. If Mr. Cutshall had been or if Mr. Cutshall were now a sincere friend of the municipal lighting enterprise, does any one suppose that his newspaper organ would be his champion?

Not on your life. The most implacable and consistent foe the city electric lighting plant has or has ever had is Mr. Cutshall's organ and its editor. This is not epithet. It is a notorious fact of recorded history.

Twelve years ago, when the overshadowing issue of the municipal campaign was that the people should then determine whether or not the preparation for a municipal lighting plant should be realized in the next administration, Mr. Cutshall's organ fought it with desperation, denounced the project and ridiculed those who believed in it.

Never since that time has Mr. Cutshall's organ ceased its hostility to the city plant. Never in all these twelve years just past has its enmity to the city enterprise been more implacable or effectual than during this year 1917.

It was Mr. Cutshall's organ that set itself the high task to defeat the Fort Wayne relief bill in the last legislature, when that measure for giving the people of this city lower electric rates was put to death. The man who under cover launched a torpedo against that splendid bill that would have saved the people of this city many thousands of dollars even by this time was Mr. Jesse A. Greene, president of the News Publishing company and editor-in-chief of the Fort Wayne News, Mr. Cutshall's organ.

That is the reason the people of Fort Wayne—patrons of city current and traction current alike—are today paying 15 per cent more for their electric current than there would be need to pay had that bill passed, as it would have passed, save for Mr. Greene's hostile activity.

Yet, this is the source from which issues the strongest endorsement Mr. Cutshall gets that he is the man of all others with whom to entrust the future and the fate of the Fort Wayne people's million-dollar lighting enterprise.

NAMES HIS COMMITTEE

Henry Beadell to Have Seven Assistants in Administering Coal.

FINAL PAPERS

Investigation of Situation Will Be Made in Every Part of County.

Henry Beadell, who has received his final papers from Indianapolis, and who is now in complete charge of Allen county fuel administrator, has appointed a committee of seven to aid him in the work of adjusting local coal conditions. Those who will serve with Beadell are: H. C. Rockhill, Mrs. A. E. Fauce, John Reaser, Louis H. Moore, E. C. Miller, W. H. Scheinmann and E. C. Olds.

Government appointment of Beadell as fuel administrator vests him with power to take coal if necessary when there is an unfair hoarding of the fuel in any one part of the county. Beadell has been placed in charge of all information which has gone to the government officers from this part of the state.

Beadell expects to work day and night during the next few days in straightening out the present coal situation of the county. He has been called from bed several times during the past two days by families who need coal at once. He has assisted Wayne Township Trustee Allen Hamilton in getting coal for poverty stricken families in some cases.

Others from the court is promised to allow Charles Prechle, trustee for the Edgerton Title company, to sell 200 tons of coal held by that bankrupt company, in order that the schools of Woodburn may be supplied with fuel.

GREAT DEVOTIONAL CLASSIC: "RULE AND EXERCISE OF HOLY LIVING" BY JEREMY TAYLOR

(MARK MASTERS IN THE EXPOSITION.)

The greatest devotional book of the sixteenth century is the book entitled "Rule and Exercise of Holy Living," by Jeremy Taylor. The son of a barber, Jeremy Taylor rose to the office of a bishop in the Church of England and became one of the greatest scholars of his day. For three centuries his book has influenced the Christian world and will continue to be one of the best books for the quiet hour. It has been translated into many languages and has gone through hundreds of editions. No better scholar can be found for the development of the inner life than that contained in this little book. We give herewith the briefest possible outline of the valuable treatise on Rule and Exercise of Holy Living.

1.—The Care of Time.
The life of very man may be so ordered that it may be perpetual service of God. Everyone has work enough that there shall be no room for idleness. As long as idleness is shut out from our lives all the sins of wantonness and softness are prevented and there is little danger of temptation. Here then are his rules for employing our time.

1.—On awaking in the morning think first of God and his service and close the day with thoughts of God.
2.—Let everyone that hath a calling be diligent in the pursuit of life.
3.—Let all intervals of time be employed in prayer, meditation and reading.
4.—Avoid the company of drunkards and buffoons.

5.—Let your employment be fit to your age and understanding.
6.—Don't spend more time on your dress than on your devotions.
7.—Cut off all useless employment.
8.—Don't let your recreation take all your time. Make your recreations serve you rather than hinder them.

9.—Set apart a portion of every day for solemn devotion, and religious employment. Let nothing encroach upon that time.
10.—Do not the work of God negligently or rapidly. Let not your heart be upon the world when you pray. Sir Thomas Moore was sent for by the king but sent answer back that he would attend him when he had first performed his services to the King of coars.

11.—A certain time every year we should for a time turn from all other things for a period of fasting and prayer.
12.—Let all things be done prudently and moderately.

II.—The Purity of Intention.
We should intend and design God's glory in every act. "Do all to the glory of God." Holy intention is to the action of a man what roots are to a tree. Here are his rules to guide our intentions.

1.—In every action reflect on the end. Why do I do it?
2.—All actions should begin with prayer that God will not only bless the act but also sanctify the purpose. Here, too, are some of the signs of the purity of intention.

(1) That we should be as zealous in our religious actions as we are in our temporal affairs.
(2) He who does as well in private between God and his own soul, as in public has given himself a good testimony that his purposes are full of honesty and integrity.

(3) It is well when we are not solicitous as to the effect of our actions. Let us be content with the world and its vanities is the most secure in his intentions because he is the farthest removed from temptations.
III.—Rules for the Practice of the Presence of God.

That God is present in all places and sees all actions and knows all thoughts, is taught by the Scriptures.

"Do not I fill heaven and earth?"
"Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight, but all things are naked and open to the eyes of him with whom we have to do."
"In him we live and move and have our being."

No more can we be removed from the presence of God than from his own being. God is everywhere present in essence and power. He manifests himself in holy places, in solemn assemblies and in the lives of his followers. How can we realize and practice his presence at all times?

1. Think frequently that God is here filling every place. And say with David, "Whither shall I flee from thy Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, thou art there."

the reason of hope, and the fountain of blessing.

3.—Try to see in everything the power and excellence of God and let your conversation lead to him. It is his sun that shines upon us, his fire that warms us, his water that refreshes us. Do we know that God is the owner and dispenser of all things? 4.—In retirement have frequent converse with God. Have a chapel in your own heart where you may often go for devotion.

5.—God is in us and we in him. We are the works of his hands, let us not defile his workmanship. We are in his company, let us not pollute it. Many benefits flow from the exercise of these rules. Among them the following:

(1) They are an excellent help in prayer, producing in us reverence and actual devotion.

(2) They produce confidence in God, patience in trouble, and hope of remedy.

(3) They help us to realize that God is with us in our actions, to preserve us in our recreations to restrain us in our sleep to watch over us. If we walk with God in all his ways we shall find perpetual reasons to enable us to keep that excellent rule, "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say rejoice."

(4) The realization of God's presence helps to restrain wandering thoughts, establishes the heart in good purposes and leads to perseverance.

IV.—Rules Governing the Practice of Prayer.
1.—Never ask anything of God that is sinful or that ministers to sin. Ask of God power and assistance to do your duty; to glorify God; to do good works; to live a good life; to die in the fear and favor of God and gain eternal life.

2.—We may pray to God for the gifts of the Spirit.
3.—We may ask for temporal benefits as food, raiment and conveniences.
4.—If we would pray with effect we must live with care and piety.

5.—All prayer must be made in faith and hope.
6.—Our prayers must be fervent, instant, earnest and importunate. As St. Paul teaches:

"striving in prayer,"
"laboring fervently in prayer,"
"night and day praying exceedingly" and

"praying always with all prayer."
Our prayers should be as continuous as our senses. Jesus taught that men ought always to pray and not to faint. Paul says that we should "pray without ceasing," then we must always pray for the forgiveness of sins, for the assistance of God's grace, for charity, for life eternal and for all temporal affairs.

7.—In all forms of prayer mingle petition with thanksgiving.
8.—Let your posture of body in prayer be reverent, grave and humble. These rules put into any life and faithfully followed will make that life a power for God.

British Workers Aim Shattering Blow at the Liquor Traffic

The London correspondent of the Glasgow Herald, writing on July 9, says: "That not all working men are discontented with what some regard as a beer shortage seems to be proved by a resolution which a large branch of an important trade-union has just passed. By an overwhelming majority it was decided to 'petition parliament to suspend the manufacture of intoxicating liquors during the war in order that ingredients used in the manufacture of the said liquors be used for bread and other foodstuffs, which are much more needed.' They are they go on to declare, 'amazed at the silly twaddle to be read in many of our leading newspapers concerning the eating of less bread, etc., while this evil is permitted to exist, and they suggest that the numbers of underfed and half-clothed children give a fair idea of what beer and the monopolist legislating class have brought us to.' The resolution is a curious mixture of advanced trade-unionism and orthodox socialism, but that it fairly expresses the real views of an organized body of working men cannot with safety be doubted."

There is no experience in any life which, if rightly regarded, rightly turned, and thereby wisely used, cannot be made of value. Many times things thus turned and used can be made sources of inestimable gain; oftentimes they become veritable blessings in disguise.—Waldo Trine.

AMERICA

(THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH.)

Wide open and unguarded stand our gates,
Named of the four winds, North, South, East and West;
Of cities that lead to an enchanted land
Of cities, forests, fields of living gold,
Vast prairies, lordly summits touched with snow,
Majestic rivers sweeping proudly past
The Arab's date palm and the Norseman's pine—
A realm wherein are fruits of every zone,
Airs of all climes, for lo! throughout the year
The red rose blossoms somewhere—a rich land,
A later Eden planted in the wilds,
With not an inch of earth within its bound
But if a slave foot press, it sets him free.
Here, it is written, Toil shall have its wage,
And Honor honor, and the humblest man
Stand level with the highest in the law.
On such a land have men in dungeons dreamed,
And with the vision brightening in their eyes
Gone smiling to the fagot and the sword.

The Lad Whose Love of Truth Influenced All Those About Him

(British Evangelist.)

Burt and Johnny Lee were delighted when their Scotch cousin came to live with them. He was little but very bright and full of fun. He could tell curious things about his home in Scotland and his voyage across the ocean. He was as far advanced in his studies as they were, and the first day he went to school they thought him remarkably good. He wasted no time in play when he should have been studying, and he advanced finely.

At night before the close of the school, the teacher called the roll and the boys began to answer "Ten." When Willie understood that he was to say "Ten" if he had not whistled over the day, he replied: "I have whistled."

"More than once?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, sir," answered Willie.

"As many as ten times?"

"Maybe I have," faltered Willie.

"Then I mark you 'zero,'" said the teacher, sternly, "and that is a great disgrace."

"Why, I did not see you whisper once," said Johnnie that night after school.

"Well, I did," said Willie. "I saw others doing it, and so I asked to borrow a book; then I lent a slate pencil and asked a boy for a knife, and did several such things. I supposed it was allowed."

"Oh, we all do it!" said Burt, reddening. "There isn't any sense in the old rule; and nobody could keep it—nobody does."

"I will, or else I will say I haven't," said Willie. "Do you suppose I would tell ten lies in one heap?"

"Oh, we don't call them lies," muttered Johnnie. "There wouldn't be a credit among us at night if we were so strict."

"What of that, if you have told the truth?" laughed Willie, bravely.

In a short time the boys all saw how it was with him. He studied hard, played with all his might in playtime; but, according to his age, he lost more credits than any of the rest. After some weeks the boys answered "Nine" and "Eight" oftener than they used to. Yet the school room seemed to have grown quieter.

Sometimes, when Willie came out, he looked lower than usual, the teacher would smile peculiarly, and said no more of disgrace.

Willie never preached at them or told tales; but somehow it made the boys ashamed of themselves, just the seeing that this sturdy, blue-eyed boy must tell the truth. It was putting the clean cloth by the half-soiled one; you see; and they felt like cheats and story-tellers. They talked him all over and loved him, if they did nickname him "Scotch Granite," he was so firm about a promise.

Well, at the end of the term Willie's name was very low down on the credit list. When it was read he had hard work not to cry, for he was very sensitive, and he had tried hard to be perfect. But the very last thing that day was a speech by the teacher, who told of once seeing a man muffled up in a cloak. He was passing him without a look, when he was told the man was General Garfield, the great hero.

"The signs of his rank were hidden, but the hero was there just the same," said the teacher. "And now, boys, you will see what I mean when I give a little gold medal to the most faithful boy in the class. He has tried hard to be perfect in his department."

"Little Scotch Granite!" shouted forty boys at once; for the child whose name was so "low" on the credit list had made truth noble in their eyes.

THE PLEDGE KEEPER.

God is the great pledge keeper. "The mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children; to such as keep his covenant, and to those that remember his commandments to do them." The pledge of life is a mutual agreement of love and loyalty between God and man, and the failure of either party to keep the pledge breaks the current of fulfillment. God always keeps his pledge, whether it be based on mutual or independent grounds. He is always the same loving, loyal pledge keeper, while we sometimes lose our vows under the spell of worldly influence, selfish ambition, the sordid pursuit of gain, or the lure of open sin. When we thus fall away from grace we forfeit our claims upon God for the fulfillment of certain promises; but when we turn again to him, his pledge then becomes available.—Religious Tract Society.

The pledge of life is a mutual agreement of love and loyalty between God and man, and the failure of either party to keep the pledge breaks the current of fulfillment. God always keeps his pledge, whether it be based on mutual or independent grounds. He is always the same loving, loyal pledge keeper, while we sometimes lose our vows under the spell of worldly influence, selfish ambition, the sordid pursuit of gain, or the lure of open sin. When we thus fall away from grace we forfeit our claims upon God for the fulfillment of certain promises; but when we turn again to him, his pledge then becomes available.—Religious Tract Society.

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapiesin" Relieves Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its quick relief in indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis when caused by acidity has made it famous the world over.

Keep this wonderful stomach sweetener in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach it helps to neutralize the excessive acidity, then all the stomach distress caused by it disappears. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming such stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

Let Correspondent Lyon Tell
You What It's Like in France.

Special Letter from C. C. Lyon, Daily Sentinel Reporter with General Pershing's Army.
(Passed as Censored by Major Frederick Palmer.)

Paris, France, Oct. 6.—Said an army officer just arrived in France from America:

"It seems almost impossible to arouse our people to a realization that they are in a great war. We'll have to have casualty lists first."

The French people don't need casualty lists to remind them. Every hour of the day war is impressed on them—when they eat, sleep, talk, travel or seek amusement.

And what goes for the French also goes for the thousands of Americans now in France.

You arrive at a hotel and, naturally, the clerk tries to induce you to take a room with a bath, if he has any such luxury to offer.

Pretty soon you come down to the office.

"There's no hot water in that bath," you complain.

He shrugs his shoulders and smiles. You want to choke him.

"C'est la guerre," he says. "It is the war. We are permitted to have hot water only on Saturdays and Sundays. We must be economical with our coal, you know."

"C'est la guerre!" "It is the war!" is almost a national motto over here. No matter what the trouble is, blame it on the war.

You go into the dining room with a ravenous appetite, figuring on a nice, juicy steak with French fried potatoes, etc. (You know the kind war correspondents eat who have liberal expense accounts.)

But there is no meat.

The waiter is grieved because you've forgotten it's Monday.

"It is prohibited to eat meat on Mondays and Tuesdays, monsieur," he says.

You soon find that Tuesday is the black day for eating.

On Tuesdays you can neither eat meat nor pastry. Pastry is also forbidden on Wednesdays.

About 40 per cent. of the people in Paris eat their meals in restaurants, and these restrictions on meats and pastries have resulted in enormous savings of food supplies.

If your room at the hotel is dark, you try to turn on the electric lights soon after supper. But there's no light.

The minute each evening when "the lights come on" is fixed by law. Conservation of coal again.

If you burn kerosene in lamps or gas in your cook stove your consumption is limited to 65 per cent. of what it was before the war.

Only the rich can afford to run autos any more, because gasoline in France now retails at $1.25 a gallon. It makes one smile to recall the storms of protest in America about a year ago when the price of the juice shot up to about 25 cents a gallon.

You go to the theater, and after the performance you wonder why everybody

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Bowels and They Get Well Quick.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels, no difference what other treatment is given.

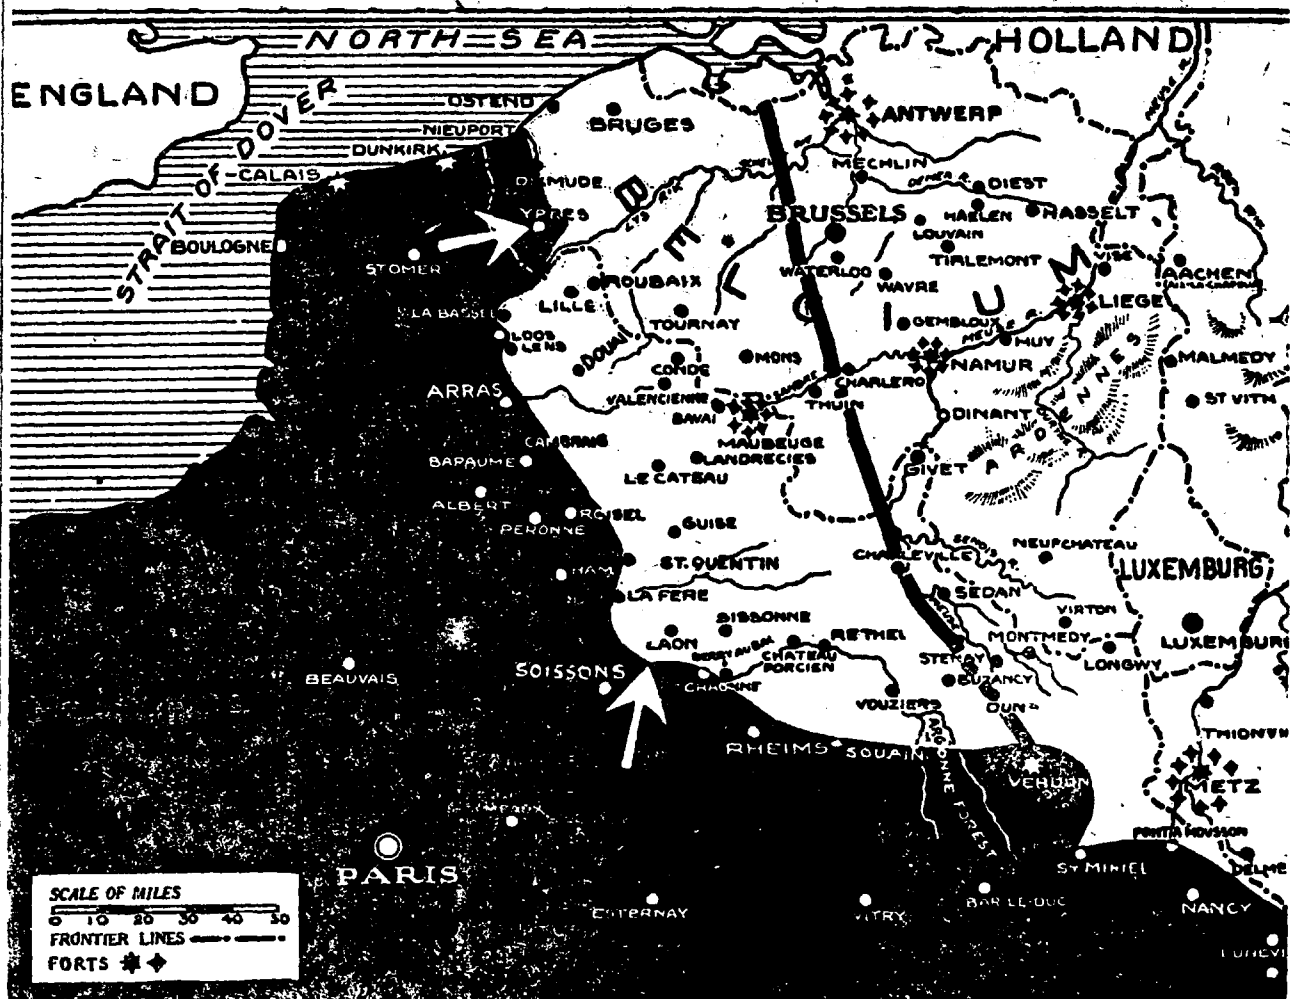

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "Fruit Laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

rushes away pell-mell for the subway entrances.

You follow leisurely, only to discover, when you arrive at the subway, that "the last car is gone." And there are no "owl" cars for late stayers.

"On account of the war, service is prohibited after 11 o'clock," says the officer. If you've missed the last car, the chances are you'll either walk home or stay in a downtown hotel, for taxis in Paris after 10 o'clock are few and far between.

The government allows a taxi driver only so much gasoline every day, so he can run his car only so far, and he's usually run down by dinner time in the evening.

You decide to call a friend over the long distance in another city.

"Come to the office and identify yourself," you are told by the operator, and you have to go many blocks to a telephone substation and then you are told you cannot talk if your party lives more than 65 miles away.

Restrictions also govern the sending of telegrams. Always your identification papers must be produced and then dispatches can only be sent in French for France, in Italian for Italy, in English for England and the United States. For all neutral countries, French only.

All shops must be closed at 6:30 in the evening, the idea being to economize light.

You can't buy a gun or pistol under any circumstances during the period of war.

Every line in every newspaper has been censored by the government before publication, and the big blank spaces that so often appear are sure signs that something was cut out that might have given "information or comfort" to the enemy.

And as to photography—you must take your life in your hands to appear in public with a camera.

"C'est la guerre," the policeman apologizes who snubs you and tells you to get rid of your picture.

JAMES K. RICKET DIES AT HOME NEAR ST. JOE

Health for a Number of Months.

St. Joe, Ind., Nov. 3.—James K. Ricket, for many years a resident of this section of the county, died at his home, four miles northeast of St. Joe, Sunday morning and was interred Wednesday in the Spencerville cemetery. Mr. Ricket had been ailing for some months, but the end came as stated after a relapse on Thursday.

St. Joe Brief Items.

October 25 The Sentinel contained a one line local stating that St. Joe needed a general store. Wednesday J. W. Sherer received a letter from a gentleman at Sydney, Ind., proposing to be a "Johnny on the Spot," but a deal had been closed an hour before with Mr. Dunkle for the Big Four business rooms with A. M. Truhot & Co., of Corona, who will operate a first-class general store. Some of the goods have arrived and the store will be in operation within a week. Hope he'll bump old high price.

Rev. J. C. Coon preached a patriotic sermon Sunday morning at St. Joe schoolhouse. At times he approached very close the border land of patriotic eloquence.

The St. Joe Valley bank's apportionment of the second liberty loan was $14,000. The bank reports $18,050 subscribed.

Mrs. Alda Brown, well known in this vicinity, was called to her home on Riverside avenue Monday evening in consequence of an operation to be performed upon her son, Paul, and his wife, Leone. The operation consisted in the removal of the tonsils of each and was performed at St. Joseph hospital, Fort Wayne, by Dr. Titus on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Alda Brown was accompanied Monday evening by her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Gintner, and son John.

What came very nearly being a double tragedy occurred Wednesday when Merritt Hull and a Mr. Zonker attempted to cross the St. Joe river in a small boat to go hunting. The swift current threw the boat into a treapot, upsetting the boat and throwing class and guns into the water. They finally got hold of a limb and called for help.

Some men who were erecting a monument in the cemetery near by heard their cries and came with ropes to their assistance and succeeded in rescuing them in the nick of time, as they were so chilled and exhausted that they could have hung to the limb but a few minutes longer. Their guns were dumped into the river and the boat was carried away by the current and also lost.

EDWARD WOODWORTH DIES IN SERVICE

Is Second Fort Wayne Boy to Meet Death by Drowning.

Following closely the wire announcing the death of Joe Schultz, the American sailor, word was received of the drowning of Edward Woodworth. Woodworth was the first American boy to lose his life in the service. He was a second class seaman on board the steamship Cacique. He met his death by drowning while in swimming in White bay, off the Arctic coast on July 13.

Woodworth was an inmate of the Allen county orphan's home for fourteen years and through his disposition was a favorite with Mrs. Ida Overmyer, mother of the home. Woodworth was buried in a Lutheran cemetery at Arch Angel. The body of Schultz, the other victim, was sent to Fort Wayne and will be interred here.

(Special Dispatch.)
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—A budding international war romance has been shattered because the girl in the case, a daughter of Dixie, was true blue to the Stars and Stripes.

Just about a year ago Lieut. Harry Chisam, British aviator, was a visitor in America. Rumor has it he lost his heart to Miss Aileen Fielder, of Atlanta, Ga., of proverbial southern beauty. At any rate when Lieutenant Chisam returned to the old country he named his aeroplane "Aileen" for "the girl back there" in America. Friends of the two were confident that if the "Aileen" lasted the war through her owner would return to claim the original of the name.

But they had not figured on Miss Fielder's patriotism. Miss Fielder met Capt. Herbert Spencer Struble, United States Army, stationed near her Atlanta home at an officers' training camp. Miss Fielder today is "Mrs. Captain" Struble, ready, if need be, to follow her husband to France.

EDDYTORIUL ON "NO FAIR"

Jest as we was about to go to press without this issue of the Boogie it dawnd on us like a clap of thunder that we haddent heerd ennythink about a annual Bingville Fair a going to be held this yr at the old race track fair grounds across Snake Creek as usual which fair has been held evry yr in our midst sinst time immorial, as we mite say & has therefore become a reglar institooshion, so we grabd our hat and rushd acrost to Cy Hoskins who is presydent and Treasurer of the Bingville Agriculchooral Association to ascertain what the reason was if enny. We found Cy settin dozin in the sun on his front piazzer and when we woked him up and askd him what about the annool Bingville Fair Cy said hed been so all ramd up with one thing & another that he had also went and forgot all about the Fair and haddent therefor cald a mtg of the Assosiation. Cy jumpd up like as if a bee had stung him and run into the house and come bustin out again in a minnit with a callender in his hand and when he found it was the tail end of October he said by the time he cald a mtg. of the Assosiation and made a rangements for the Fair there would likely be snow instid of fair weather on fair day and this being the case he told us we could a nounce in the Boogie that there wouldnt be no Fair this yr owin to the fact of hard times in general or some other excoose which we could think up, but for goodness sakes not to state the facts in the case to the effect that he had went and forgot all about the fair being as that would reflect on him as Presyent & Treasurer of the Assosiation. If Cy Hoskins or ennybuddy else expecks us to cuver up their criminal carelessness by deceiving our readers by lying in their behalfes a good eal mistaken, thats all. Not only that but wed like to know whrot disposition Cy Hoskins has made of the $11 odd dollers and some cts which remained in the treasury last yr after all the expenses of the Fair was paid off? Is these $11 dollers and some odd cts in existents? If so let Cy perdooce em. Have they been drawing interest? Then where is the interest? It is our opinyun that Cy Hoskins diddnt forgit about the Bing-ville Fair a tall. It would be ridiculus & absurd in the extrem for him to do a thing like that. Its our opinyun that Cy thort hed jest nacherly not say nothink about the fair until it got too late to hold one so he could appropriate them $11 dollers and some odd cts to his own use. We wouldnt go so fur as to say that Cy Hoskins is a grafter and is using them funds for his own selfish ends but thats our opinyun. What will Hardscrabble our rival town say when they lern that Bingville aint a going to have no fair this yr? Hardscrabble Fair was held last wk and it was a big sucksess. Hardscrabblers will now pint the finger of skorn at us and skoff and jeer becuz we aint a going to have no fair this yr and all thru the criminal keerlessness of Cy Hoskins. In our opinyun Cy ort to be impechd for mal feastsants in offis and the sooner the quicker.

Births

Jest as we go to press we are glad to a nounce that a child has arrived to bless the union of Mr. and Misus Lime Peterson. So fur as we can find out the mother is doing well, but the father aint enny too pleased being as this makes the sixth offspring for Lime to support and we have often heerd him state that he considere five sufficient. We aint had time to ascertain the sex of the child but will let you know in next weeks Bugle whether its a boy or a girl. We persoom its one or tother but int shure whit it is this writing. LATER—We have jest lern at the last minnit that there was no baby borned to Mr. and Mrs. Peterson a tall. It was Rube Whittichey who told us. Rube had been sparkin Miss Winnie Miller and nased by the Petersons at 2 a. M. Being as the Peterson residents was all lit up and furthermore being as Rube as he passed by seen Doc Livermore go in. Rube nacherly concluded that there was a addition in the family at Petersons and informd us to that effect. We thort Rube knowd what he was a talkin about which is why we made the a nouncement as per above. We wisht to goodness that folks would be more akurate in givin us news. However this sort to lern us not to count our chickens afore they be hatchd.

Jemima Peppers has purchased sufficient wall paper to paper her kitchink and says she will do the work herself soon as she can git time. Jemima paperd her back parlor last spring and made a turrible mess of it. Jaspar Tarbell was not in his usual pew to church last Sabbath. Jasp fore his only biled shirt tryin to git into the blamed thing and will haift to postpone goin to church until it is mended. Arioch Perkins says if Sim Wintows hens dont keep off his land hes a going to have chicken to his house in the not far distant fucture. Hester Jones who has been widderd for several yrs has begin to sprooce up like everything lately. So has Squire Brown who is a widower. Them as desires to do so can draw their own concloushions. Jabe Homans got outen bed toker night about 2 a. M. in the dark to git a drink and step on the cat whitch bit Jabe in the calf of the leg and created quite a commoshion. VOX POPULI

LAND'S END News in this vicinity is quite skreece as we go to press. The nights is quite coolish hereabouts at present. How be they in Bingville? Bill Henshaws old bald face mare which is 20 yrs old if shes a day and is as skittish as a colt run off with Bill in the buggy jest after he had started to the co seat last Saturday. Bill jest let her run until she was exosted and says he arroved at the co seat almost half a hour before he expected to. Mrs. Hen Jordan informs us that she has weaned her last baby and is now raisin same on the bottle. This will give Mrs. Jordan more time to devote to her domestic duties. Rube Atkins has been sprooceing up and driving over Laurel Ridge way every Saturday evg for the past several wks. We persoom he is either sparkin Matilda or Jane, but nobuddy speaks to know which. Whitch one of you is it, girls? LUCIFER.

Items Here & There

Why dont you subscribe for the Bugle we ask? Have you enny excoose for not doing so? If so we should like to hear what it is. We had a real sharp frost last Thursday night. We diddnt see it but them as was up erly informs us that the ground and roofs was white and we have no reason to doubt their word. Nobuddy would lie about sitch a insignifecant thing as a frost and besides its gettin round that time of yr when frost is nacherly expected. Eph Higgins our accomodating P. M. allus has a lot of good reading matter. In fact folks complains that Eph takes their papers and magazines home with him to read and as a result they dont git em until a wk or 2 later and sometimes they dont git em a tall. It looks to us as if Eph was excedding his preroggytive as P. M. Jim Hill went to the co seat last wk and come home in a intecated condition which was a turrible surprise to Jim's wife and everybuddy else being as Jim aint a drinkin man. After Jim got soberd up he blamed a few friends over to the co seat for getting him full. Jabe McCracken left a delishus mushmelon on our desk one day last wk whitch he growd himself. We devoured same at one sitting. Thanks, Jabe. We could of told more about the merit of Jabe's mushmelons however if he had of left us five or six instid of jest one. Buck Henderson borried 75 cts from us morden a yr ago for the purpose of purchasing a dog and after Jabe bought the dog what did he do but up and die. We mean it was the dog that died, not Buck. Sinst then Buck has been a leetle mite slow about paying us back that dollar. This being the case we will sell this acct for 50 cts. Who wants it? We dont. Lem Brown while chopping wood tother day nickd his axe whitch he had jest ground on a nail. This made Lem so mad that he throwd the axe up into the air as far as he could fling it and whilst he was a standin there cussin very bitter the axe come whizzin down outen the atmosphere within a intch of his nose and buried itself edge-down outen sight in the ground betwixt his two feet. Lem stopd swearin and turned pale as a ghost when he realized what a narrier escape he had had from suddint death. He says if that axe had of been two intches closer it would of split him from head to heel. Wes Woodruff our expert hunter and trapper set a beartrap up on Sawridge Mountain last wk and ketchid one of Deacon Snodgrass sheep. Wes says he never sets a bear trap without ketchin somethin or other in it. We will exsept a load or two of wood in exchange for subscriptions. This offer is good until our woodhouse is full. Come on with your wood.

A Welcome Surprise

Bill Hepburn our artistick blacksmith cald at our offis one day last wk whitch was a good eal of a surprise to us. We thort as we seen Bill approaching that probably he had took excepshions to somethink whitch we had printed in the Boogie about him being over to the co seat on bizness & pleasure and coming home full as usual and had cald to chastize us for same so we was jest disappearin out the back door extensively for some store wood when Bill come in the front door, but Bill cald us back in sitch a pleasant voice that we venchord to return bashful and set on the edge of the desk near the door where we could escape if conditions warranted. But we are glad to state that they diddnt warrant. After Bill had asked us how things was going he reechd into his pants pocket and puld out two dollers and handed them to us and askd us to send him the Bugle another yr whitch we will do with great cheer. After a pleasant chat Bill departed. In concloushion we desire to state that in the past we have cald attention to the fact that Bill Hepburn is a victim of Old Demon Rum but to give the devil his dues we will say for Bill that when it comes to paying his subscription to the Bugle in advance he has more honner & integrity than some Bingville folks who turns up their nose in horrer at even a mild glass of hard cider. Bill Hepburn may be a old soke, but he pays his detts and that covers a multywood of sins in our eyes.

Personal Squibs

Old copies of the Bugle for sale at this offis at the ridiculus sum of 5 cts. per each. Some of these copies is as much as 20 yrs. old and are therefore rich in historick interest. Buy a few of em and read what took place in our midst 20 yrs. ago. After that you can use em to spread on litchen shelves or to bid fires with. Remember the price—5 cts each regardless of age. Lav in a supply at once—they make good reading matter for the long winter eves, ahead. Harve Hines our tonsorial barber says bizness in his line is very poor. Harve only shaved five huming faces last wk and cut four heads of hair inclooding his own. Harve allus cuts his own hair whitch we consider quite a accomplishment. It aint everybuddy can cut their own hair without cutting off a ear or somethink. All Harve done wk to jab the sizzers into his neck. Miss Tabitha Jones our fashionable dressmaker says shes been so bizzzy sewing for other folks that she aint had a minnit to make enny fall or winter clothes for herself and as a result she aint got ennythink fit to wear when she goes out. Moore our beluvred pastor of the Bingville Church paid us a pleasant call last wk and askd us what we thort of the idee of him preaching two sermons catch Sunday, one in the morning and one in the evg instid of jest one present. We told Rev Moore frankly that being as the members of his flock haddent shoud enny disposition to do what he advised em to do in one sermon per Sunday it was our opinyun that two sermons wouldnt make em present. We told Rev Moore that we would keep his flock up late Sunday night when they ort to be in bed gittin their rest. Mrs. Martha Tucker took 7 lbs. of butter to Hen Weathersbys store to take out-in trade one morning recent and Hen told her he was only allowin 32 cts in trade for butter. Well, Martha flirtd outen the store and walkd all the way to Hardscrabble with her butter where she got 33cts in trade and carried her groceries back. As its only seven miles to Hardscrabble eatch way Martha made 7 cts by the transackshion. Martha is what wed call a good bizness woman. Hank Dewberry one of our most doless citizens was offered a job as a sawmill down Snake Bend way at wages but Hank who allus prides himself be lookin for work says that his work is one thing he wont do. Hes afraid of being shed in the gorrond saw and hed rather do a do a lick of work than to be shed. What we need is a few more scribers who has the manhood to advance for their subscribers. Others need apple being in the desire on our backs and enny more would be soongloos. Jed Peters our intelligent teacher dismissed the school last Tuesday becuz he said he had a headache. That same afternoon Wes Woodruff our expert hunter & trapper says he seen Jed sneakin outen town the back way with a shotgun and persoomed Jed was goin squirl humin. Likely Jeds headache had got better. These is all the "Personal Squibs" we can think of at this writing. More may occur to us later. If so they will appear later. Watch the Bugle next wk or the wk after for their appearants.

How Are You Off for Fodder?

I have five akers of fodder standin in the chock whitch I am willing to sell to the highest bidder being as I have enuff feed to winter my stock and I havent room for the fodder ennyhow. Why dont you buy this fodder? You will be glad if you did and sorry if you dont. It will come in turrible handy next spring when you are all out of feed and money to buy enny with. Thats why you ort to take time by the forelock and buy it now. There is no time like the present. Cows likes this fodder awful well and it makes them give more milk and less cream. There is more money in milk than there is in cream ennyhow speshially when you sell it to them as dont know the differents betwixt the two. I will sell this fodder jest as it stands in the chock. You will haft to haul it away yourself being as I am bizzzy being my teem and havent time ennyhow being as I am so drove up this fall with one thing and another. Then in addition to the fodder I have on hands in the same field a hole lot of punkins whitch I will also dispose of along with the fodder or sepparate. I dont keer whether I sell the fodder and punkins sepparate or toger so long as I sell em. These punkins is good to feed the cows or good to make jack lanterns out of for Helier Eve. Prices on these fodder and punkins quoted to you on application with great cheer. See me soon and avoid the rush. But dont come around and pester me unless you meen bizness. Ime a bizness man and my time is valuable.

Biff! Bing! Bang! Musical Extravaganza at the Majestic Tomorrow.

The Biff! Bing! Bang! show which is scheduled to appear at the Majestic theater tomorrow is, in every respect, a musical show of first supremacy, embodying all the known quantities of accepted musical comedy and introducing many new ideas which cannot help but prove refreshing to those who have been frequenting these shows. There is something very foreign to musical comedy in the sort of original laugh material contained in the two acts, "The Corner Drug Store" and "Triple Beds." The unique situations are many and the sprightliness of the lines bring many a good laugh. The company is exceedingly fortunate in its comedians. Joe Rose is the star and those who know his work will require no further proof that the comedy falls into hands which are in every way competent to build it up. Rose is supported by a capable cast and the devotees will recognize the names of most of the performers. They are: Virginia Wilson, prima donna; Thelma Seaville, soubrette; L. K. Bush, black face comedian; Sedal Bennett, ingenue; Frankie Mack, rube comedian; George Brennan, straight, and Jack Shaw.

BERNHARDT GREETED ALMOST LIKE QUEEN.

Chicago Critic Tells How Artist Is Worshipped.

"With one accord those who had followed with worshipful admiration the great achievements of Sarah Bernhardt united in welcoming her as the world might a regent who had come into her own laden with conquest," said Amy Leslie, prominent Chicago critic.

"The enthusiastic and distinguished audience," Miss Leslie continues, "gathered at the Auditorium to do homage to the great lady of the world, applauded fervently and with no note of passing time reflected in that silvery voice, no suggestion of other than the exact age of Cleopatra and of Portia, the two characters she chose for her initial presentations. No hint of any other Bernhardt than the febrile, exquisitely temperamental, rare and incomparable actress whose singular distinction among all other celebrities of the country has radiated more actual fame than any dozen of her contemporaries.

"Her Cleopatra comes back unctuously tragic and sensuous. A creature of beautiful gesture and exotic voice, smothered in filmy draperies and weighted with jewels, it is made from all the Cleopatras we know, especially Shakespeare's, though it is embroidered into the French briefly by madame's son, Maurice, and Rene Chavance.

"Under vagrant illuminations backed by the trailing Nile, that divinity which the whole world has feverishly bestowed upon her never seemed more vibrant and extraordinary. It was just as wonderful a scene as when, years and years ago, she held the earth at bay with her splendid 'rag of Egypt.' It is only the episode of Antony's departure, the love scene of a false soldier, the entrance of the emperor and the asp. The little drama was superbly produced and adroitly compressed, so that its potency seemed triple."

Mme. Bernhardt will come to the Majestic next Wednesday evening when she will present Cleopatra and Portia from "The Merchant of Venice."

There's No Love Conservation For "The Hungry Heart"

"Never let your husband try to find his chemical affinity with a test tube and a graduate," says Pauline Frederick, heroine of Paramount's latest picture, "The Hungry Heart," which David Graham Phillips wrote and then awoke to find himself famous. Miss Frederick plays the part of Courtney Vaughn, and the picture starts where most pictures end—with the marriage of the hero and the heroine. Courtney and Richard Vaughn's honeymoon ends just as the camera begins to click. Thenceforth Richard begins to go back to his scientific chemical researches, brings in a handsome male assistant and neglects his wife. Trouble begins to brew, and there is no actress on screen or stage who can brew it so convincingly and attractively as Pauline Frederick.

Have you got a little hungry heart in your home? There is no closed season on them, you know, and the food of love is all that can take the bangs away. Just how a heart with Pauline Frederick in it could be empty is a mystery, but this much is sure—the famous screen star's newest Paramount picture is going to be a delectable appetizer and a delicious movie meal besides.

AT THE PALACE

ALFRED H. WHITE.

He Will Present Searching Story on Bill Opening Sunday.

"The Answer," a heart searching playlet dealing with a young Hebrew boy who deserts the faith of his father and the strict lesson which a stern parent administers, is to be presented by Alfred H. White and company as the headline attraction on the bill opening Sunday afternoon at the New Palace. The playlet teems with human interest with witty lines and amusing situations deftly woven into the fabric of the action.

With Ford Hanford, Billie DeRex and the Foster Sisters in the leads, People and Greenwald will present their 1918 song and dance revue on this same bill, with a niftily costumed chorus assisting the principals. Bert Lewis and J. Walter Leopold, delineators of exclusive song hits, some of them from the pen of Mr. Leopold; the beautiful Creole Belle Valyda and her Brazilian nuts in some sparkling moments of fun, song and eccentric dance; Fred Ford and Mildred Williams in the hilarious voyage, "Ski High With Si"; and Chiyko and Chiyko, two Japanese in a unique and amusing dance with some original variations of their own, complete this bill.

Last Time Tonight.
The final opportunity to enjoy hearing the Human Fly tell his stories about his experiences climbing buildings over the country will be afforded tonight at the Palace. The bill on which Mr. Gardner, the Human Fly, is appearing, is a buster of a show. Harry Langdon, the nut supreme, with the assistance of a clever girl, is presenting a New York act, "Johnny's New Car," an act that is head and shoulders above the ordinary run of short order attractions. Others on this bill are Walsh and Bentley in novel acrobatics; William Morrow and company in a nifty roadside flirtation; Pat Barrett, the original songster; the American all girl revue, a high speed singing and dancing arrangement with a smashing patriotic finale, and Hector and Pals in a remarkable dog act that is decidedly unique.

MUSIC ONE OF THE ARTS.

Music is generally considered to be the most plastic of the arts and most subtle expression of the subjective elements in man. But it is also an exact science based upon mathematical and physical laws. Mastery of its technique requires the most careful discipline of the objective faculties. It is for this reason that music study is so highly regarded among present day educators. Dr. P. P. Claxton, commissioner of the National Bureau of Education, says, "Sooner or later we will not only recognize the cultural value of music; we shall begin to learn that after the beginning of reading, writing, arithmetic and geometry, music has a greater disciplinary value than any subject taught in the schools."

The great amount of attention being given this subject by school authorities, the work of standardization between universities, colleges and conservatories and the allowance of major credits for outside music study by the high schools of such cities as Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Terre Haute in this state is significant. Provincial ideas are giving place to fuller appreciation, discrimination and certainty in the knowledge of things musical. Erroneous or inadequate and pretentious methods which have obtained are being discarded with them.

With three of our cities among the world's great music centers; with such of the world's greatest artists who have not been taken up their abode; constant visitors among us, we no longer feel the necessity of accepting as authority the dictum of some minor European cult.

Music no longer regarded as a merely superficial accomplishment for young women, or the peculiar saving grace of certain eccentric individuals, has become a power in education and an important factor in the national development.

"THE SECRET MAN."
"Don't turn me back to the pen, pardner. It's worse'n death up there." Cheyenne Harry, escaped convict, has boarded a train out on the desert and has crawled into Henry Beaufort's stateroom to hide while the sheriff's posse goes through the car. Beaufort is moved by the appeal, gives Harry a change of clothing, and the fugitive is soon on his way again over the sand and sage brush to the hills. Meeting some cowboys he gets a job in the roundup, but the posse picks up his trail. Riding along the rocky path he stumbles upon a little girl who has been thrown out and slightly hurt in a runaway. He starts for the nearest town with the child, but the posse is on his heels. The little one is suffering from thirst, and to save her life Harry gives himself up.

Harry is imprisoned, and the unknown child becomes the idol of the town. It is at length decided to auction her off to the highest bidder at a church bazaar, the money to go to charity. Molly, the little girl's mother, who had been led to believe that the child was dead, attends the bazaar and is recognized by the child. The crowd is dumbfounded as Molly's marriage to Beaufort six years previous, and the existence of the child, had been kept secret in order to preserve Beaufort's inheritance.

A corking fine climax is provided when Cheyenne Harry, having again escaped from prison, saves Beaufort's life when Molly's brother, Bill, the sheriff, ignorant of the facts, sets out to kill him.

COLLEGE CLUB WILL FORM AID SOCIETY

Will Attempt to Better the Condition of Allen County Blind.

Through the urgent appeal of Miss Allie Truesdale, of Angola, who lectured before them some time ago, the Fort Wayne College club will undertake the work of organizing a society for the adult blind.

Miss Truesdale in her address stated that blind children were very well taken care of, but that the adult blind received very little care. The philanthropic department of the club is endeavoring to get the names and addresses of blind adults in Allen county. These afflicted people will be brought together once a week in the public library on the Y. W. C. A. As a further aid the organization, "Society for the Aid of Adult Blind" will be formed here. Anyone desiring to become a member should confer with Miss Minnette Baum, 1313 West Wayne street, chairman of the College club philanthropic department.

An exhibit of fancy work done by the blind women of Indiana will be made at Wolf & Dessauer's next week. This exhibit will continue for two weeks, the results of the sale going to help the adult blind. The Boy Scouts have volunteered to help and will solicit for members for the aid society, membership fees of which will cost fifty cents. The project is one of the most worthy ones ever taken up in Fort Wayne, and loyal support will be appreciated.

THE SAN CARLO GRAND OPERA CHORUS

MARY KAESTNER,

Dramatic Soprano, San Carlo Grand Opera Co.

The important feature of an adequate, competent and well-balanced chorus has ever proven a vexatious problem for the grand opera impresario in assembling his company. On Broadway, New York, in Paris and other famous opera centers the devotee of light opera or musical comedy may step in almost any afternoon or evening and enjoy the physical beauty and symmetry, as well as the light quality and tunefulness of a large, chic and daintily-costumed bevy of young singers whose attempts at rhythm and terpsichorean artistry are quite satisfying. But the qualifications and duties of the average chorus member and the operatic chorister are widely divergent.

The grand opera chorister nowadays must have at least fifteen or twenty operas at tongue's end, and though these singers are customarily assembled each season in New York they are in reality recruited from all over the world, the task of the chorus master of a great opera organization being by no means an easy one.

The San Carlo choral department this season is made up of singers from many of the Old World opera centers, it being an interesting fact that all the warring countries are represented. Among the number are several who have appeared in important roles abroad but whose engagements in Europe have been seriously interfered with because of the war. Many of these young artists are of such exceptional attainments that they can safely be called upon at a moment's notice to assume leading parts. Every member of the chorus has been selected with this aim in view as well as for the usual vocal and other artistic requirements which present day opera audiences demand.

Fort Wayne will have the pleasure of listening to Verdi's "Aida" the evening of Nov. 14th at the Palace theater. The first visit here of the San Carlo Co. will no doubt prove to be the musical and social event of the season.

guns into the Trentino. This might mean either to strengthen the Austrians there or to start a drive south from Trentino in an attempt to cut off the Italians now on the Venetian plains. Count von Hertling, it is announced officially from Berlin, has been appointed imperial chancellor on succession of Dr. Michaelis who resigns another official position. The chancellor apparently has the support of all the reichstag elements except the socialists and the conservatives. The socialists, however, will give no active opposition until the count's policies are known more clearly.

FRENCH ARE ADVANCING.

Paris, Nov. 3.—The French are advancing between the Oise canal and the region of Corbeny and have reached the south bank of the Ailette river, the war office announces. The announcement follows: "In the course of the night our troops continued to make progress between the Oise canal and the region of Corbeny and reached the south bank of the Ailette river over this entire front. Friday night's official French communication, in which the beginning of this movement evidently was announced, has not been received."

"The enemy has retired to the north bank of the river, whose bridges and foot bridges were cut. "Artillery fighting continues very vigorously in the sector of Chavignon and at certain points in the region of the plateaus. "In the way of material captured since October 23, we have actually counted 200 heavy and field guns, 222 trench cannon and 720 machine guns. "On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun) front there were violent artillery engagements in the region of Chammeu. An enemy attack north of St. Michel was without result. The night was calm everywhere else. "In the period between October 21 and 31, twenty-three German airplanes were brought down. Of these twenty-one were destroyed by our pilots after combat and two by our special cannon. Furthermore twenty-eight army machines were damaged seriously and descended within the German lines."

regard this work as vitally necessary as the provision for shells and ammunition in the army. Secretary Baker has pronounced it as an absolute necessity, and Christian men throughout the country becoming acquainted with the perils that confront the soldiers in Europe are appreciating that fact more and more as the great war comes closer to us. "E. F. Yarnelle presides. "E. F. Yarnelle presides as chairman. "We can't all go to the front, but we can support and sustain the men who are doing the fighting for us," he declared. "The news from the front shows what we are up against—three to five years of further conflict. We must all do our part and one way of doing this is by contributing liberally to the work of the Y. M. C. A." "A short address of welcome to the visitors from the neighboring counties was delivered by S. P. Bower. "An inspiring feature of the evening was the singing of 'My Country' by of Thee, "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," all present taking part. The invocation was given by Rev. O. A. Tomes, of the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ, and the benediction by Rev. Henry B. Master, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Following the address by Mr. Elliott, Mr. Yarnelle called for expressions from each of the counties represented, the following responding: A. B. Cline, of Bluffton; Rev. Paul Preston, of Angola; Rev. L. A. Luckenbill, of Whitely county; B. O. Fink, of Auburn; Clark J. Lutz, of Decatur, and I. V. Potts, of Huntington.

Counties Organize for Work. Following the adjournment of the meeting the various county delegations met for organization. The following officers were elected: Steuben county—Chairman, E. D. Willis; secretary, E. A. Goodwin; treasurer, Eudette Goodale. Adams county—Chairman, Clark J. Lutz; secretary, C. L. Walters; treasurer, W. A. Lower. DeKalb county—Chairman, B. O. Fink; organizer, W. H. Willenar. Wells county—Chairman, A. B. Cline (to serve through the war); treasurer, F. J. Tangeman. Whitely county—Chairman, Rev. L. A. Luckenbill; secretary, Castle Bridge; treasurer, R. K. Ferry. Huntington county will organize later.

A mass meeting will be held in the Commercial club at Columbia City, Sunday afternoon, November 11, at 2 o'clock. The people of DeKalb county will be summoned to a meeting in the city hall in Auburn next Monday night. Each county organization will choose at least one man from each township as a representative of the county committee.

FORT WAYNE BOY IS LOST

mother, Anna Kio, 57 Columbia street, Wilkesbarre, Pa. Walter H. Fischer, coxswain, father, Henry J. Fischer, 2515 Courtland street, Chicago. Clarence L. Jones, seaman, mother, Mrs. J. Jones, Central street, Bucksport, Me. Edmund L. Tamillo, coxswain, mother, Bessie Tamillo, 319 North Central park, Chicago. James H. Young, chief gunners mate, father, Margaret Young, 499 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. George M. Hindmarch, jr., seaman, national naval volunteers. (No detailed information regarding enlistment.)

The Department Report. The navy department issued this statement: "The navy department announces that on October 30, the picket boat of the U. S. S. Michigan foundered. Apparently the entire crew were lost. The findings of the bodies of three of the crew and the failure to find any other trace of the boat or its occupants leads the department to believe that all were lost." Presumably the fast little picket boat was on patrol duty and foundered in a heavy sea or met with some accident. Three bodies have been found and inasmuch as all the others are missing the navy department assumed that all were lost. With casualty list the department made this formal statement:

The body of Coxswain Edmund L. Tamillo, whose mother lives in Chicago, has been recovered. It was found by fishermen entangled in their nets last Tuesday and later identified and claimed by navy officials. A violent storm had swept the coast where the accident occurred, on the day previous to the finding of the body. It is believed that Tamillo when his boat foundered, had endeavored to save himself and may have swum some distance when he found the nets. His hands were tightly clasped around the net as if in a death grip and it was necessary to cut the ropes to untangle the body and loosen the hands of the drowned man.

AUXILIARY DESTROYED. London, Nov. 3.—Thirty men on the German auxiliary cruiser Marie of Flensburg were killed in an engagement with the destroyers, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. The Marie, a 3,000-ton vessel, met the British destroyers twelve miles north of Kullen. She immediately opened fire, which was answered by the destroyers. In minutes the Marie was ablaze. Of the eighty-one members of her crew the dispatch says thirty were killed and the others took to the boats. Seven wounded soldiers subsequently were rescued by the Danish. Another man was picked up by the steamship Transilvania. They were landed last night. The other members of the crew are believed to have been rescued by the destroyers.

CAMPAIGN TO CLOSE MONDAY

Young Men's Niezer for Mayor or Club to Have Charge of the Final Meeting IN ASSEMBLY ROOM OF COURT HOUSE Howard Benninghoff, Avery M. Groves, Louie Duntin and Others on Program.

The democratic city central committee has arranged for a monster meeting in the assembly room of the court house Monday night, when the city campaign will be brought to a brilliant and successful close. This meeting will be under the auspices of the Young Men's Niezer for Mayor club and while it is open for the general public, it will be carried through entirely by the young men who are supporting Maurice Niezer for mayor. Harry Muller, a young democrat, who has been identified with practically every public movement in Fort Wayne, will preside as chairman. The speakers will be Byron Hayes, deputy prosecuting attorney; Avery M. Groves, city editor of the Journal-Gazette; Howard Benninghoff, a local attorney; Louie Duntin, also a lawyer, and Mr. Niezer, candidate for mayor. It is gratifying to Mr. Niezer to know that Fort Wayne has about 1,500 young men who are doing all they can to elevate him to the mayoralty. This will be Mr. Niezer's last speech of the campaign.

The Young Men's Niezer for Mayor club especially invites the other men to attend this meeting. Arrangements have been made to accommodate all those who care to attend and, if the assembly hall will not hold all the people, overflow meetings will be held in the corridors of the court house. Mr. Groves, one of the speakers, was a candidate for mayor last spring until Mr. Niezer decided to get into the race and then he withdrew in favor of Mr. Niezer. During the campaign he has been one of Mr. Niezer's most ardent supporters.

The Jefferson drum corps will have a prominent part on the program Monday night. The young men are to meet at democratic headquarters at 7:30 and, headed by the drum corps, will march to the assembly hall. The committee on arrangements has appointed the following young men as vice chairmen of the meeting: Glenn A. Smiley, Edward Gruber, Herman J. Meyers, Andrew App, Edmund Bittler, Charles Harkender, Edward Young, Arthur Lamont, Glen Schaefer, Odwin Doenges, Dr. M. B. Catlett, Dr. Metz, Val Berg, J. C. Welch, R. Earl Peters, Walter Wilson, Leonard Ellenwood, Edward Brown, Henry Branning, Jr., Herman Westendorf, Leonard Pranger, E. R. Lewis, C. J. Suedhoff, P. P. Holloway, James E. Ford, Clark Harrod, Robert J. Travis, George A. Bittler, G. S. Stookey, John C. Hoffman, Otto Schopforth.

These honorary vice chairmen among the older men have been announced: Hon. Carl Yaple, Hon. Edward O'Rourke, Hon. John W. Eggenma, Hon. Harry H. Higemann, Judge J. H. Aiken, Hon. T. E. Ellison, E. B. Thunman, Julian Frank, Louis Bobilya, Hon. M. Foster, Will Johnson, W. C. Schieler, H. F. Kennerk, E. V. Emrick, Frank A. Emrick, Charles J. Steiss, F. S. Doriot, L. G. Ellingham.

GETS HIGH RANK. The Indianapolis district for recruiting, under the control of Major Ryan, reports the total number of recruits for the past month as being 1,050. Of this number 655 were signed at three stations, namely, Indianapolis, Hammond and Fort Wayne. Fort Wayne gets the credit for enlisting the highest number of recruits outside of Indianapolis. Hammond ran a close second. The local station men, 101 men to the Indianapolis station, 100 men to the Hammond station, 100 men to the Fort Wayne station.

IS PATRIOTIC OPPORTUNITY

"Army and Navy" Show Will Inspire All Who Witness It. SPECTACULAR AFFAIR COMES NEXT WEEK At the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Final Rehearsals On.

If the people of Fort Wayne are awake to the opportunity to do a patriotic thing by attending the great University club show next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Majestic theater, the event will not only serve the purpose of making every beholder a better American, but it will create a fund which cannot be used for any but patriotic purposes. President Edward G. Hoffman, of the University club, stated last night that the organization is grateful to the hundreds of people who have given sacrificially of their time and generously of their talents to make the club's big show an artistic, finished success. It is the hope of the membership of the University club and of the hundreds of people who are in the big production, that the people of Fort Wayne will welcome this opportunity to attend an entertainment which is not only a lesson in patriotism but which is designed especially to produce a large fund to be used for patriotic purposes.

Mr. Hoffman states that it is the hope of the University club that this amount may be very large, in order that the club may respond generously as an organization to the appeals which now come with frequency. There is one unique feature concerning the business end of the affair. In engaging W. Mills Davis to direct the big show, Mr. Davis will not accept a cent above the amount agreed upon last June. No matter how big a sum may be taken in at the door, Mr. Davis' recompense remains the same. He does not receive a percentage of the receipts. In fact, if, for any reason, something should occur whereby the greater success of the production was not reached and there was a shortage, Mr. Davis himself will be the loser. The arrangement with the producer is unique in contrast to the contracts made with the ordinary director. The show opens next Thursday night, and will be repeated on Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee. The seat sale opens Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The first ensemble rehearsal takes place at the Majestic on Monday evening, with a full dress rehearsal on Tuesday night.

To Send Gifts. The Intermediate Epworth league of the First Methodist church will meet Sunday night at 6:30. The feature offering will consist of a number of playthings which each member will bring. These gifts will be sent to some mission field where Christmas may not be as enjoyable as in the United States. A representative of the mission work in India will speak at this meeting.

THE MARKETS

FURTHER DROP IN THE CORN MARKET Weather Continues to Be Chief Influence Upon Board Prices.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Decidedly favorable weather conditions counted today as a factor in lowering the corn market. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1½¢ down, with December at $1.14@1.14½ and May at $1.10@1.10½, were followed by a little reaction and then a moderate general setback. Oats were easy with corn. Lower quotations on hogs brought about liberal offerings of provisions. The close was unsettled, December at $1.15½ and May at $1.10, with the market as a whole ranging from ¾¢ decline to ¼¢ advance as compared with 24 hours before.

Closing Prices. Chicago, Nov. 3.—Close. December Corn $1.15½ May Corn 1.10 December Oats 58½ May Oats 59½ January Pork 42.05 November Lard 25.22 January Lard 22.70 May Lard 22.12

SHORT SESSION OF MARKET IS BEARISH

Prices Drop and Trading is Marked by Great Irregularity.

New York, Nov. 3.—The current liquidation of rails during today's brief session more than neutralized former tendencies elsewhere. St. Paul common and preferred fell to new low records at 42½ and 80 respectively. Motors yielded 1½¢ to 3 points and steel and other quotations were un-rendered moderate gains. The closing was weak. Sales approximated 350,000 shares. Liberty 4s were unchanged at par, the 3½s selling at 99.72 to 99.76. Early dealings in today's market were attended by much irregularity. Union Pacific's fractional decline to its recent low of 114½ was offset by a gain of a point in Canadian Pacific. Shippings and coppers showed consistent strength, marine preferred soon rising 3 points. Stronger tendencies were shown before the end of the first half hour, Union Pacific making more than full recovery and United States Steel gaining a point.

LOCAL MARKETS

GOOD STREET MARKET FOR LATE SEASON

Butter and Egg Prices Remain High—Good Corn Day at City Scales.

One of the largest street markets of the past few weeks greeted the city market shopper Saturday. The moderating fall weather was responsible for the showing to a great extent. Country butter and eggs still were held at the same high prices and show no signs of dropping. Parsnips, potatoes, carrots and other hardy fall vegetables were the main articles for sale.

New corn came to the city scales in greater quantity than for the past few days and the top price was raised .5c a bushel. It is nearing the time when new corn should come in large amounts as old corn is rare on the market. Three loads of old corn brought again the top price of $2 a bushel, which is a near season record. Twenty loads of hay and seven loads of oats were also received at the scales.

Crown Prince Leads Another Retreat of Army

TEUTONIC FOE HAS BEEN FORCED BACK BY FRENCH BLOWS

Second Retirement Ordered by Von Hindenburg in France During Past Eight Months.

GENERAL PETAIN PRESSES ADVANTAGE

(By the Associated Press.)

Blowing up the bridges as they retreated, the Germans on the Aisne front in northern France have given up their precarious hold on the Chemin des Dames plateau and retreated to the north bank of the Ailette river along a front of approximately thirteen miles, closely followed by the French.

This retirement by the German crown prince has been in prospect since the recent successful drive by General Petain, southwest of Laon, which carried the French to the banks of the Oise-Aisne canal, at the westerly end of the Chemin des Dames, and gave them artillery domination of a large section of the German lines to the east.

It appears from today's Paris official statement the Germans are now on the north bank of the Ailette, a maximum distance of a mile back of their previous positions. While the French have moved up to the south banks of the river. There is no hint in the official reports from either side as to whether a further retirement by the crown prince is in prospect. He was virtually compelled by the superiority of the new French positions to fall back at least as far as he has. The probabilities seem that he will take up a position on the heights just north of the Ailette, which commands the approaches to Laon, keystone of the German western front at its south-westerly bend.

British destroyers have put an end to the career of a German commerce raider in an arm of the North sea. Copenhagen dispatches today report the sinking of the raider Crocodile, a new vessel of about 1,000 tons and with a crew of 100 men, together with five armed German trawlers. The engagement took place in the Skagerrak between the Norwegian and Danish coasts.

A British admiralty announcement tells of an engagement in the Cattegat, the adjoining arm of the North sea, between Sweden and Denmark. The same engagement as that reported in the Copenhagen dispatches evidently is alluded to. The official statement moreover shows that ten armed patrol craft were destroyed as well as the raider, which is described as an auxiliary cruiser armed with six-inch guns. Today's report from the Italian side of the Tagliamento indicates little change in the situation. The Germans are evidently increasing the intensity of their efforts to force a crossing of the stream where Gen. Cadorna's armies are making a stand against the invaders. The Italians so far, however, have been successful in preventing such a penetration of their new line.

The French official statement of Friday night has not yet reached this country and the other side of the Berlin report is not known. The German statement says the troops of the German crown prince systematically withdrew their lines, "unnoticed and undisturbed by the enemy." Probably the Germans have only retired across the Ailette river from Chavignon to Craonne, a distance of about thirteen miles, or they may have started on a retreat paralleling that of last March on the Somme, when they finally fell back before Anglo-French pressure from Arras to Soissons.

Even if they have only withdrawn across the Ailette it is not unlikely because of Gen. Petain's successful drive of last week, when he reached the Oise-Aisne canal eight miles southwest of Laon and captured more than 12,000 prisoners. From the positions gained then, the French could and did bombard the Germans clinging to the hilly strip between the Chemin des Dames and the Ailette. The hills on the northern bank of the Ailette generally are not as high as those on the south and the crown prince may have gone back to the line of the river Ardon, which runs southwest from Laon and joins the Ailette north of Chavignon. It is impossible that the Germans did not retire across the Ailette, as not to do so might place them in a worse position than on top of the ridge.

The retirement might include Laon, the reputed southern citadel of the Hindenburg line of last March, but of the front of the Ailette is given up, a line from St. Quentin through La Fere, Laon and Montargis to Neufchateau-sur-Aisne, along the railroad between La Fere and Neufchateau, might offer a good halting place. A retirement only to the northern bank of the Ailette, between Chavignon and Craonne might not affect the line from Chavignon, north to St. Quentin, but a further retreat would involve the present lines as far as La Fere at least. On the eastern end of the Chemin des Dames, if the retirement is not made here quickly, there is the possibility of a French blow in Champagne, which might straighten out the entire front from Craonne to Verdun.

General Cadorna has halted on the western bank of the Tagliamento, momentarily at least, to face the oncoming Austro-Germans. The eastern bank of the river, Berlin reports has been cleared of Italians from the Fella westward, near Tolmezzo, to the Adriatic. Italian guns are bombarding the invaders along the new lines but apparently no attempt has yet been made by the Austro-Germans to force a crossing of the river. There are no indications as to the whereabouts of the Austro-Germans reported driving through the Carnic Alps, early in the week in an attempt to turn the flank of the Tagliamento.

Reports from Switzerland say the Germans are hurrying troops and

OPINION IS MUCH SPLIT

All London Views of the Kerensky Statement

ACCEPT HIS WORD

One Newspaper Affects to See German Propaganda
in the Matter.

London, Nov. 3.—Most of the morning papers print Premier Kerensky's interview with the Associated Press conspicuously, but the comment is not general. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who is now in London, writes:

"Premier Kerensky's statement seems to have been taken a little too seriously in some quarters. It even has been construed as a hint that Russia is toying with the idea of a separate peace. This theory should not be allowed to establish itself.

"Probably all Kerensky wished was to indicate facts familiar to close students of Russia for some time and they are such as to arouse sympathy rather than suspicion. It is true that Russia is worn out and it has been true for a much longer time than has elapsed since the outbreak of the revolution. Unfortunately, until that event military exigencies prevented the truth from being told about Russia's share in the war, which has been greatly underestimated. The essential fact is that what Russia had she has given."

Russia's Heroic Sacrifice.
The writer then tells of the immense sacrifices in men that Russia has made and recalls the revelations in the trial of Gen. Soukhomlinoff, former minister of war, of how Russian heroes stood up with only sticks, stones and fists against the organized German troops. He believes that the Russian casualties have been higher than those of any other of the main belligerents. The writer also emphasizes privations of the civilian population and the shortage of food since the middle of 1915 and adds:

"Already people are dying of hunger in some of the northern provinces and there is no telling what the situation in such districts may become early in the future. What Kerensky wants apparently is not a release from the bonds which unite us, but indulgence for Russia's weakness, and Russia certainly has deserved indulgence for her efforts and suffering. All we can ask of her is to do her best. We must not be impatient if that is less than we expected."

Unprecedented Difficulty.
The Daily Express makes a similar plea and says that no statesman ever faced more appalling difficulties than these that daily confront Premier Kerensky. It admits that Russia bore the burden of the first months of the war and that the invasion of East Prussia probably saved France from being overrun. Regret is expressed that the changed conditions of warfare have made it impossible for the British fleet to operate in the Baltic, but the Express maintains that all Britain has been able to do to help Russia has been done willingly and she will do the utmost in the future to help Russia establish her freedom.

"Meanwhile," it adds, "as we understand the situation, we are to expect no more from Russia at present than that she hold her frontiers against the common enemy. When she has found herself, her gallant soldiers will reappear in the active ranks of the armies of liberty."

Sees Enemy Propaganda.
The Graphic says:

"We should hate to regard the statements as authentic. They have the ring of pro-German propaganda."

The newspaper then says that Ker-

TELLS OF Y. M. C. A. IN LETTER TO HIS PASTOR

Sherman Burson Writes to
Rev. H. B. Hostettler, of Third Presbyterian.

An interesting letter has been received by Rev. H. B. Hostettler, of the Third Presbyterian church, from Sherman Burson, son of Harry A. Burson, Park place. The letter reads:

Dear Pastor:
How is the Third church? I am anxious to get word from someone in regard to the church. I saw the water a few miles from the country our church originated from. I watched for land, but in vain.

I have attended the church services on the ship and here in the hospital, but they don't seem to satisfy. There is too much ceremony and formality. The English church is a branch of the Catholic church in my estimation. Next Sunday is communion and if I see I won't make a dozen blunders I will partake of same. How good is sounds to be invited to communion services!

The Y. M. C. A. is doing a wonderful work here. I just wish I could give you some idea of the splendid work they are doing. They have reading and writing rooms, bowling alleys, French classes, games or recreation rooms. When a fellow is broke is generally when a new Y. M. C. A. enthusiast is born. He can always go there and read or play checkers or play pool (if he has some change). They generally have a refreshment stand that is more reasonable than the French stores. They have movies and lectures. Sermons can be heard each Sunday. The workers go among the camps and hospitals distributing writing material and magazines. They also furnish baseball outfits, soccer balls, etc.

Yours in Christ,
SHERMAN BURSON.

TELLS OF THE Y. M. C. A. WORK

A. J. Elliott Makes Plea for Funds at Banquet Fri-

SEVEN COUNTIES

David W. Teachout, General Secretary at Fort Harrison, Also Speaks.

Four hundred men from seven counties in northeastern Indiana attended the banquet at the Anthony hotel Friday evening at which time $84,000 was guaranteed to the Young Men's Christian association with which to carry on its wonderful work among the men now fighting or about to engage in the world war for freedom.

The apportionment of the funds as prepared by the war committee of the Y. M. C. A. for the seven counties in this district was read by General Secretary E. W. Peirce and is as follows:

Allen $45,000
Adams 5,000
Wells 6,000
DeKalb 6,000
Steuben 4,000
Huntington 12,000

Tells of War Horrors.
The horrors of the war were pictured in their true light by Arthur J. Elliott, of Chicago, associate executive for the central department of the Y. M. C. A., which comprises fifteen states in this section of the union. There was no mincing of words. Mr. Elliott told, as has not been told here before, the sufferings, the hardships and the agonies being endured by the men engaged in the awful conflict in which the boys of this country are about to take part.

Much of Mr. Elliott's address cannot be published. Much of the information that he gave has never been printed. The morale of the boys is going to have much to do in winning the war and this is one of the great tasks of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Elliott told of conditions in German prisons, far worse than in Libby prison, he said. The Y. M. C. A. even in the prisons of Germany are doing much to relieve the suffering and bring some happiness into the lives of the men confined there.

"There is a terrible challenge before us," Mr. Elliott said in conclusion. "Even though we do all we can we'll never do as much as we ought to do. You business men have got to put it over; you mustn't save any money this year."

Mr. Teachout Speaks.
David W. Teachout, of the Teachout Lumber company, of Cleveland, O., now general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Benjamin Harrison, told of the work the Y. M. C. A. is doing at Fort Harrison and at the various other forts and cantonments in this country. Mr. Teachout declared that the French instructors with whom he had talked, predict that the war will not end in less than two years.

200,000 Men in France.
"Men, it is up to us to do everything we can to help those boys come back as clean as they are going," Mr. Teachout declared. "We have 200,000 men in France now and there will be two and a half millions of our boys on the fighting lines by next summer. These men must be looked after. The responsibility is appalling. It means work."

"We want these men to be of the cleanest type among the allies. The red triangle of the Y. M. C. A. symbolizes service sacred in its character, and dedicated to the conservation of all that is best in America's offering in the cause of liberty. Our leaders, with General Pershing, have come to

WAR COSTS U. S. MORE THAN ANY OTHER COUNTRY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Germany is putting 14.3 soldiers into the field for the same amount of money which the United States is paying for a single fighting man, according to calculations today of government experts. They said the same general proportion was true also of maintenance in the armies in the field, or in other words, America must raise $14.30 where the enemy nations raise only $1 for the purpose of carrying on the war. The difference was said to be due to the higher pay of United States soldiers and the greater cost of supplies in this country and the contrast was used as a text for admonitions that resources alone will not win the war but that strict economy was necessary.

BERLIN CLAIMS TO HAVE TAKEN SOME NEW FOES

German War Office Says Thrust by a Reconnoitering Party Trapped
Some of the Sammies.

SCENE LIES IN A VERY QUIET SECTOR

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The capture of American soldiers by a German reconnoitering party is announced by the war office.

The statement says that on the Rhine-Marne canal, as a result of a reconnoitering thrust, North American soldiers were brought in.

The Rhine-Marne canal runs through a section of northeastern France in which there has been little fighting since the early days of the war. It crosses the French front at a point near the German border, twenty miles northeast of Lunenburg.

HAVE TAKEN 200,000.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—More than 200,000 prisoners have been taken in the Austro-German campaign on the Italian front, the war office reports. There was no important fighting on this front yesterday.

RUSS AND TEUT FRATERNIZE.

Petrograd, Nov. 3.—Russian troops in the Vishneff sector yesterday fraternized with the German troops, it was announced today by the Russian war office.

Vishneff is a town on the Russian front southeast of Vilna and north of the Niemen river.

Over the Signing of Pledges for Conservation of Food.

Meeting Will Be Held at the Public Library Monday Morning.

Much rivalry has developed in the schools of the city in which every school is trying to return the largest list of signed food pledge cards. Record of the pledges gained by children will be compiled early next week and will be announced by schools.

The task of distributing the cards to every home in which the little slips have not already found their way is to be taken up by a corps of women volunteers, under the direction of Mrs. Franklin B. Mead. The women who are to give out the cards will meet at the public library on Monday morning at 9 o'clock for final instructions. More women are asked to join in distributing the pledges.

Those who have already offered to give out the pledge cards are: Mrs. D. B. Ninde, Mrs. L. J. Ninde, Mrs. J. Wade Bailey, Mrs. Henry J. Bower, Mrs. Roger Fisher, Mrs. W. H. Creighton, Mrs. Wm. J. Vesey, Mrs. Jesse A. Green, Mrs. James Haberly, Miss Haberly, Mrs. Fred Hoffman, Mrs. Herbert W. Lang, Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs. P. C. Morganthaler, Mrs. Metzger, Mrs. Chas. M. Niezer, Miss Marjorie Hanna, Mrs. Fred Sheaff, Mrs. Page Yarnello, Mrs. Frank E. Stouder, Mrs. Walter Seavey, Mrs. S. M. Foster, Mrs. Percy Olds, Mrs. G. A. Rabus, Mrs. Chas. Hughes, Mrs. Arthur F. Hall, Mrs. Donald McDonald, Mrs. Harry Hogan, Miss Elizabeth Porter, Mrs. Howell C. Rockhill, Mrs. E. Carl Rurode, Mrs. Beny Levy, Mrs. Wm. S. Morris, Mrs. Brooks Sale, Mrs. Ed Hoffman, Mrs. Chas. INDIANA LOSES PLACE IN FOOD PLEDGE COLUMN

Washington, Nov. 3.—With probably little more than half the country heard from returns from the food pledge week campaign today passed the five million mark. The official tabulation at campaign headquarters showed 5,000,402 families as enrolled for the food administration. It was said it would probably be ten days before anything like complete results could be announced as New York has definitely decided to carry its drive over another week and indications are that about twenty other states will follow. This has been necessitated because of rain and snowstorms the first of the week, preventing the pledge card canvassers in many districts from doing any work whatever. California gave the biggest surprise of the campaign today by reporting 114,519 new cards signed, making a total of 251,178 and putting it in the lead. This pushed Michigan with 213,851 cards back into second place and New Jersey with 187,078 into third.

TO REMOVE KICK FROM BEER FOR LICKING KAISER

Washington, Nov. 3.—Regulations to pave the way for removal of alcohol from beer for industrial purposes and conversion of the residue into soft drink were issued today by Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue. Beer may be piped from a brewery to a distillery without payment of the usual removal tax, but a solid wall without openings must be constructed between the two establishments if they are under the same roof. After the alcohol has been removed by distillation and denatured, according to law, the residue may be piped back into the brewery without tax payments to be made into soft drinks.

TEUT RAIDER DESTROYED

NAVAL ACTIVITY
IN THE CATTEGAT

German Auxiliary Cruiser
Marie is Also Sunk by the Destroyers.

London, Nov. 3.—The admiralty announces that certain British forces have been engaged in the Cattegat, an arm of the North sea between Sweden and Denmark, and that prisoners are being brought in. No further information is yet at hand.

An official statement issued by the admiralty says that ten armed patrol craft, in addition to the German auxiliary cruiser which was equipped with six-inch guns, were destroyed.

The statement issued by the admiralty says: "Further reports from our forces operating in the Cattegat have been received. We destroyed a German auxiliary cruiser armed with six-inch guns and we also destroyed ten armed patrol craft. Sixty-four prisoners have been rescued by our forces. No British losses have been reported."

"Further details will be published on the return of our forces to their base."

Copenhagen, Nov. 3.—A German commerce raider and five armed trawlers have been sunk by British destroyers in Scandinavian waters.

The sinking of a German raider named Crocodile and of five German armed trawlers is reported by men on two Danish steamships. They say the sighted the German vessels in flames and later saw them sink.

The Crocodile was a new ship of nearly 1,000 tons, and carried a crew of 100 men. The commerce raider, which was disguised, and the trawlers were sunk yesterday in the Skagerrak, an arm of the North sea between Norway and Denmark. The British destroyers thus effected another cleanup of German naval forces in Scandinavian waters.

WOUNDED MEN LANDED.

Elsinore, Denmark, Nov. 3.—Wounded men from a German auxiliary cruiser sunk in the North sea were landed here today.

ELECTRIC BOAT SUNK.

London, Nov. 3.—An attack was made today on British vessels patrolling the Belgian coast by an electrically controlled high speed boat. The boat was destroyed.

The following official statement was given out:

"An attack was made today on our vessels patrolling the Belgian coast by an electrically controlled high speed boat. The attack was defeated and the boat destroyed."

EXPRESS CAR AND CONTENTS BURNED

Fire Starting Within Car on Pennsy Train Causes $50,000 Loss.

The crew on Pennsylvania train No. 17, westbound, Friday evening discovered smoke issuing from a car loaded with express goods shortly after the train pulled out of Warsaw. Evidently the fire had a good start and was being fanned by the wind as the train sped along. The train was stopped at Grovetown and the burning car cut out and left to its fate, after the crew and others near the scene failed to put out the fire. The contents of the car, valued at upwards of $50,000, were entirely consumed and the car was badly damaged by the flames before the fire was extinguished. The contents consisted chiefly of expensive silk consigned to merchants in Chicago. It is a complete loss. The origin of the fire is unknown.

WESTERN GAS REORGANIZED.

O. B. Young, of Pittsburg, is the manager. The Western Gas Construction company has been reorganized and additional capital secured which will place the company in a strong position, enabling it to give prompt attention to orders for standard apparatus and equipment as manufactured in the past, and as well as to accept orders for new work.

The plant includes the pattern shop, machine shop, foundry, forge and tank shops, located at Fort Wayne, Ind. O. B. Young has been made manager and William C. Marquardt assistant treasurer. O. N. Guldin, on account of ill health, will retire from the active management of the business, but will be retained in a consulting capacity. Thomas W. Stone will continue with the company as chief engineer. The new directors will be: H. B. Rust, president; W. F. Rust, vice president; S. T. Brown, secretary and treasurer. Other directors are C. J. PENNSY MEN BUY $9,051,700 BONDS

Over $3,000,000 Taken by the Employees West of Pittsburg.

Returns which have been compiled from all portions of the Pennsylvania railroad system, including the lines east and west of Pittsburg, show that a total of 122,456 employees subscribed to the second Liberty loan, taking altogether $9,051,700.

On the lines east of Pittsburg 77,273 individual subscriptions were recorded for a total of $5,589,700. On the lines west, 45,183 employees subscribed for $3,352,000 worth of bonds.

As the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the parent corporation of the system, subscribed on its own account, for $10,000,000 of the second Liberty loan, the total subscriptions, for the company and for the employees of the system, amount to $19,051,700.

The campaign for subscriptions among the employees of the entire Pennsylvania railroad system was carried on with the greatest vigor and enthusiasm. Local Liberty loan committees were organized on all divisions, and in all shops and departments. Nearly 2,000 men were actively engaged in the work of solicitation and every one of the quarter-million employees of the system was personally urged to "buy a bond."

BOOSTING ELEX CLUB.

Campaign Starts Today to Raise Membership to 200.

The Elex club, composed chiefly of girls at the General Electric works, will have a membership of 200 if present plans are successful. The club now has a membership of forty-four; twenty new names having been added during the past week without solicitation. All have signed up for some of the classes at the gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A., indicating that there is considerable interest in the club. Realizing this fact the men back of the Electro-Technic club conceived the idea of a membership campaign for the Elex club and it will be put in operation Monday. The members of the Elex club are also eligible to scholarship in three branches of studies under the auspices of the Electro-Technic club. They are mechanical drawing, business English and factory accounting. Membership solicitors will be put in action next week and it is expected to have a membership of over 200 by the end of the week.

NEVER ASKED FOR PASS.

Charles Goers Retires After 25 Years on Nickel Plate.

Charles Goers, for twenty-five years employed as a car cleaner for the Nickel Plate, bears the distinction of losing only fifteen days by sickness or otherwise and never taking a pleasure trip or asking for a pass during the quarter century of his service. He became a car cleaner in January, 1893, and retired on the disability clause at the age of 65, November 1. His record for steady work stands as the best of any employee of the company.

MARRIED IN CHICAGO.

J. L. Rowe, draftsman in the transformer department of the General Electric works, was married October 21 to Miss C. Weiner at her home in Chicago, and although the bride came here and spent a week with her husband after the wedding, the office comrades of the groom did not know of the wedding until this morning, when Mr. Rowe voluntarily gave it out along with a cigar to each of the men and chewing gum to the women. Mrs. Rowe returned to Chicago yesterday and will come back here Tuesday, when the couple will begin arrangements for keeping house.

ENGINEER STRASSER RECOVERS

Henry Strasser, Pennsylvania passenger engineer, resumed his place at the throttle today, when he presided in the cab of the Manhattan limited, No. 22, on the run to Crestline. June 2 Engineer Strasser was operated upon at the hospital and when about ready to report for duty on the road again, he was run down by an automobile, August 5, and went back to the hospital with a badly crippled leg. The limb is shorter than his mate, but has nearly recovered and Mr. Strasser does not apprehend any further trouble from it.

HOWARD H. PIERCE GIVEN PROMOTION

Goes to South Chicago Monday as Ticket Agent for Pennsylvania.

Howard H. Pierce, assistant ticket agent at Fort Wayne for the Pennsylvania, has received the appointment of ticket agent at South Chicago for the company. He will leave for that city tomorrow and assume the duties of his new office Monday morning. Mr. Pierce succeeds C. E. Moore, resigned to go into the military service. Howard Pierce has been a familiar figure at the Pennsylvania passenger station in this city for a number of years and for the past ten years has been assistant passenger agent. Recent additions to the local ticket office force makes it unnecessary to employ additional help there.

NEW TIME CARD SUNDAY.

Wabash Makes Change Affecting Nearly Every Train.

The time card the Wabash will put into effect at midnight affects nearly every passenger train on this division and the prospective traveler will do well to inform himself in this connection. The time card will be put into effect at 10 a. m. and returns at 4:40 p. m. will run only on week days hereafter. No. 25 will leave at 10:35 a. m.; No. 18 will leave at 10:45 a. m.; No. 1 will leave at 10:52 a. m.; No. 3 will leave at 2:05 p. m. Other trains will run on the old schedule.

NO SHOOT NEXT SUNDAY.

Cold and Wet Interfere With the Fred Zollars Contest.

There will be no competitive shooting at the outdoor range of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club next Sunday for the Fred Zollars $25 cash prize. The weather is too cold for a successful target contest and even if the temperature warms up the grounds are wet and altogether bad for this purpose. If the weather settles and the range grounds dry up the shoot will take place a week from Sunday or perhaps the following Sunday. Otherwise the contest will have to be postponed until next spring.

HUNTERS DECLARE WAR ON COTTONTAILS

Dr. McDonald, Garrett, and Brother-in-Law, of Chicago, Hold Record.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Albion, Ind., Nov. 3.—War has been declared on the cottontails for several days by community nimrods and they are being routed from every nook and corner, only a few escaping the fusillade of the firing line. Messrs. Dr. F. M. McDonald, of Garrett, and brother-in-law, Walter Bleck, of Chicago Junction, O., on Thursday, without pot shot, ferret or dog, killed nineteen east of town, and not an idle rabbit day at that. Scores equally as large are reported by local hunters.

Albion Brief Items.

Mayor J. O. Bachelor, of Marion, delivered an address on the war situation at the circuit court room in this city Wednesday evening under the direction of the Noble County Council of Defense. Mayor Bachelor is a fluent speaker and portrayed the situation so forcibly and vividly that his hearers were made to realize more fully the extent of very patriotic duty in this hour of need—a duty that details every one—"Help Win the War," by words and action. The speaker was escorted from the evening train to the court room by Messrs. Fred B. Moore, E. P. Eagles and other prominent business men.

The Slam and Dozen club members were entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday evening at the palatial home of Attorney and Mrs. O. E. Grant, a menu of frankfurters, sauerkraut and viands thus likened being served. The spacious rooms were festooned with Halloween decorations and beautiful in the extreme.

Miss Oella Favinger, for several years the genial "hello" girl at the Albion exchange, and who resided with her grandfather, Jacob S. Favinger, until his recent demise, left on Thursday for Houston, Tex., to make her home with her uncle, M. S. Favinger, and wife, and where she will attend a nurses' training school preparing herself for life work.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kreighbaum, of this city, on Monday received a letter from their son, Sgt. Sidney Kreighbaum, written at Southampton, England, and dated Oct. 4. He reports well and still maneuvering.

Mrs. Joseph Croft returned Wednesday evening from a visit with a sister of Mr. Croft, Mrs. Reynolds, at North Manchester.

Mr. McNamara, who conducted a baby contest for the Albion Democrat more than a year ago, was in Albion Wednesday, being now engaged with the Columbia City Mail conducting a contest. Since leaving Albion he has been engaged in Canada and many towns of the United States conducting contests.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Spangler entertained the members of the Literary and Historical clubs at their home on West Jefferson street Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Cora Netz, an esteemed member, who left for her future home at Toledo Thursday. An enjoyable feature was the ladies appearing in masque. The entertainment concluded with light refreshments.

RURAL WOMEN'S CLUBS TO BACK CONSERVATION
Teach Housewives to Save Right, Theme of Agent Mable Erwin.
Food conservation has found an effective ally in the Allen County Council of Farm Women, which organization met in the court house, Saturday afternoon, and ratified every plan for the "waste not" campaign, as outlined by Miss Mabel Erwin, Allen county's woman rural agent.
"Every woman says she is saving all she can and that she has saved all her life," said Miss Erwin, in her talk to the officers of the rural clubs. "That statement is probably true. We do not ask women to serve less. The government does not want them to starve. It is to be our mission to teach the housewives what to save and what to serve in order to win the war."
Home economics and food conservation will be paramount themes in the programs of the several rural clubs of the county this winter, it was decided. Miss Erwin will be called upon to address many of the gatherings.
As the last act of the afternoon meeting, a constitution for the council of farm women will be considered. Framers of the document under discussion are: Mrs. Fred W. Miller, Washington township; Mrs. J. C. Wertz, Harlan, and Mrs. Ella Spindler, Woodburn.
A call meeting of the women's organization may be arranged for soon in order to plan for a more concerted campaign for food saving in farm homes.
Attention of the rural club women was called to a bit of verse, entitled "A Housekeepers' Symphony," which has been delivered to the desk of County Agent Miss Erwin. The poetry follows:
"To do the best I can from morn till night,
To pray for added strength with coming light,
To make the family income reach all way,
With some left over for a rainy day;
To do distasteful things with happy face,
To try to keep the odds and ends in place,
To smile instead of frown at fate,
Which placed me in a family always late to meals;
To do the sewing, mending, and the thousand
Small things always near at hand,
And do them always with a cheerful heart,
Because in life they seem to be my part;
To know the place for everything and keep it there,
To think, to plan, to cook, to sweep,
To brew, to bake, to answer questions,
To be the mainspring of the family clock,
(Or that effect) and see that each tick took
Or meet of time, or tune, or soon, or late,
This is the only symphony which I can

EXAMINATION DECEMBER 8.
An examination will be held in Fort Wayne, December 8, to secure eligibles from which to fill a vacancy in the position of messenger boy at the local weather bureau. The place pays $350 a year and vacancies occurring in the position of apprentice at $480 per year, with promotion to $600 and $720 may be filled as the result of the examination. Boys between the ages of sixteen and eighteen may be applicants for the position.

CIGARS AND TOBACCOS BOOSTED IN PRICE
Raise Expected But Not Welcome—Necessary on Account of Tax.
The six cent cigar is with us again and this time we have the assurance that it is here to stay. The first raise came in October when half the war tax was imposed but dealers put down the price until November 1, when the remainder of the tax was levied. The scale of prices was arranged at a meeting of the Fort Wayne tobacco dealers, held Friday night at the Elks' temple. Local merchants have endeavored to keep the price down but it was found impossible.
Beginning Saturday all five-cent cigars and tobaccos will be six cents, ten-cent articles will be twelve cents, or three for thirty-five cents. A box of fifty six-cent cigars may be bought for $2.50, a box of fifty ten-cent cigars for $4.25, a box of fifty twelve-cent cigars, for $5, and a box of fifty fifteen-cent cigars for $5.50. The present price of cigarettes will be unchanged.

MOVING WILL CAUSE 200 TO LOOSE VOTE
Ballot is Lost When Citizen Leaves Precinct in Which Registered.
About 200 citizens are expected to lose their ballot in the coming city election because they have moved from the precinct in which they registered their residence.
Attorney William Fruechtenicht, head of the Fort Wayne election commission, holds that a man must retain his residence in the precinct in which he gave his address upon registering, in order to be eligible to vote in the city contest. It is estimated that about 200 citizens have changed their residence from one part of the city to another since registering.
The election board has tried to be lenient in this matter but the voting law is plain on the subject and not even by making a separate record is a man eligible to vote if he moves from one city district to another.

EVERYBODY BENEFITS FROM SUBURBAN DAY
Weekly Shopping Event, Wednesday, is Good for Merchant and Visitor.
Next Wednesday gives every promise of being the banner day of the series of weekly Suburban days. The establishment of this regular event just at the time of the people's greatest need has proven to be one of the most happy conditions that could have been devised for conservation in buying the necessities of life. This fact is now recognized by the thousands who are coming regularly to Fort Wayne on Wednesdays. The exceptionally large trade of last Wednesday is a sure indication that the people of the surrounding territory are fully awake to the Fort Wayne plan of saving on all lines of seasonable merchandise.
The plan is purely co-operative. The merchant names a low price on his goods. He secures new customers—and that is the most valuable of accomplishments, the building up of new trade—and this pays him for the loss of profits which would accrue to him if he were to abide by the regular prices. Naturally, the patrons from outside the city who are enabled to purchase at the lower price, find it to his profit to make the trip to Fort Wayne to make the purchases in preference to buying from a mail-order house where there is no opportunity to see what he is getting. In the smaller cities, too, where the local merchant cannot carry the large lines represented in the Fort Wayne stores, the merchant is glad to be relieved of the necessity of trying to carry lines which he cannot afford, and the saving to him enables him to carry larger lines of the staple goods which his customer should buy at home instead of coming to Fort Wayne after them. All in all, the plan is splendidly co-operative, and the small outside merchant is one of its best boosters.

War Declared on Rats by U. S. Gov't.
The government at Washington is preparing a campaign that should be effective in killing the rats that are so destructive both to lives and property. A conservative estimate places the loss of foodstuffs from rats at over two hundred million dollars annually, and in the present scarcity of food, this loss must be prevented. The most efficient way to "kill the Rat" is by the use of Stearns' Paste, and thousands of dollars worth have been bought by the government. Every housekeeper troubled with rats, mice, roaches or waterbugs should buy a small box of this reliable exterminator and stop further loss of food in her home. Advertiser.

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy
Thousands of families swear by its prompt results. Inexpensive, and saves about $2.
You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain granulated sugar syrup. Nothing better, but why buy it? You can easily make it yourself in five minutes.
To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2 1/2 ounces of pine (40 cents) in a pint of water, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—iron take it eagerly.
You can feel this take hold of a cough cold in a way that means business. Cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, may be persistently loose from the irritation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes. This pine and syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine pine and pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt results.
Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded.

TRUANCY REFUSES TO MEET EXPECTATIONS
One Hundred Per Cent of Pupils Are at Desks in Some Schools.
President Wilson's request that education be pursued with added vigor because of the war has made a hit with the boys and girls of Allen county. Truancy, by its absence, is making a new record for the rural schools about Fort Wayne. All expectations that pupils might be kept from school for farm work this fall, because of the war, have been shattered.
Attendance at no rural school has dropped below 95 per cent of the entire enrollment since classes opened in September, states County Trust Officer Thomas Wilkenson. In a part of the county schools the attendance has been held at 100 per cent of the enrollment during the two months of the present school year.

Buy In Country Club Gardens for Investment
Many people are buying in Country Club Gardens as a war-time investment. Amid a time of business changes the one kind of investment that is free from the uncertainties of war is investment in mother earth, because such is immune from fluctuation of values. Among those who have purchased lots in the gardens for investment is Toba Baum, 1313 West Wayne street. The sale was made for the City and Suburban Building company by H. Goldstein. The sale of lots in this suburban tract has been very rapid on account of the many advantages to be found there.

THE KERENSKY STATEMENT.

The statement given by the Russian premier, Alexander Kerensky, to the Associated Press, will be variously interpreted here and abroad. The readiest construction placed upon what the young Russian leader says will be that he is founding what in America might be slangily described as an "alibi" for the Muscovite in respect of those Russian delinquencies which have contributed to the possibilities of the Austro-German invasion of Italy.

What Premier Kerensky says about the weariness of the Russian people no doubt is wholly true. It is true of all the nations that have been plunged into the great conflict for the past three years. Yet, while that is true of France and Great Britain and Belgium, among Russia's allies, it has not destroyed their spirit or impaired their morale. They are at the hard business with as much stubbornness and with greater effect than ever. Russia has suffered much. Russia has accomplished much. Russia deserves and is given full meed of honor and complete measure of credit for all that her armies have accomplished since the outbreak of the war. In the east she has made it impossible that the Germans should triumph in the west. But the Russian military collapse following the revolution has been a sore and costly blow to Russia's allies and no euphemisms can disguise that.

That Russia needs help and must continue to need help, as Premier Kerensky says, may not for a moment be doubted. That help should be given by her allies and especially by America as promptly and in as full measure as possible, though while extending such aid in the hope that during the winter now coming on Russian morale will be recovered and Russian military efficiency will be re-established, doubt will continue to harass the allies that Russia can pull herself together to play in the war the mighty part of which she is capable. The internal situation in Russia is such as to breed misgiving outside. It may be that this situation will be mended and that the elements that have done so much to destroy the Russian morale and efficiency can either be brought to understand their land's peril or be effectually put down and kept out of the way.

No intelligent and informed person anywhere can fail to understand the political difficulties that the revolutionary government of Russia has been forced to meet during the past six or eight months, though the situation is one of so many complexities that perhaps no one outside Russia can wholly appreciate it. There can be no Russia efficient in the war until there is a Russia governed and controlled by the forces of order. And it may be that these forces are slowly gaining the upper hand to such degree as will make government in Russia effectual.

Premier Kerensky's assurances are positive that Russia is not out of the war and that she will return to her heavy tasks when rest and aid have made that possible. That is the hope and whatever this country can do to realize it must on no account nor in any measure be withheld. Reserved to Russia is a heroic task that can greatly shorten the war and make the victory of democracy complete and secure. May she have the heart as she has the strength for the task.

THE REAL ISSUE.

The real issue of this municipal campaign is that the future shall be made safe for the great public utilities of Fort Wayne. These service concerns that belong to the people are always the objects of the hostile spirit or the covetous regard of selfish interests. For decades the people of this city had need of an unceasing vigilance to protect their waterworks from dangerous schemes and plots. At no time since it was established has the municipal lighting enterprise been free from peril.

Let it be borne in mind that no enemy of the municipal lighting plant is today supporting Maurice C. Niezer for mayor. The hostile elements are all aligned on the other side. Mr. Niezer is the known and proved friend of the people's utilities and he can be trusted under all circumstances and in every situation to guard these great properties as he would his own. Mr. Niezer's election to the mayoralty will mean that the city lighting enterprise will be jealously guarded and that its interests will be pressed forward in behalf of the people who own it. Mr. Niezer is thoroughly pledged to that. Mr. Niezer's party is thoroughly pledged to that. Mr. Niezer's legion of supporters in this campaign is thoroughly pledged to that. He will not betray a single pledge he has made; he will not permit the interest of the people to be injured or impaired in any way.

If Mr. Niezer be chosen next Tuesday to the mayoralty the fight for freedom of the city lighting plant will go on. Mr. Niezer has declared that he will press that battle in behalf of the people of Fort Wayne to the end that the people may so far control their own business as to have all the benefit of it that belongs to them. There will be brought about under Mr. Niezer an extension and improvement of the service and a reduction of rates that are in thorough accord with the steadfast policy of the Fort Wayne democracy in respect of the city lighting enterprise. He has given his word and Maurice C. Niezer keeps his promises and redeems his pledges.

The people of Fort Wayne to whom has come possession of this million-dollar enterprise and who have been saved hundreds of thousands of dollars because of it have too much at stake to assume any risks with their valuable property or to take any chances on the future. The city lighting plant is not yet beyond danger. It is still possible to divert it by means of insidiously hurtful or openly hostile policies from the successful course to which it has been directed into other and ruinous grooves that can lead only to impairment and final destruction. The election of Mr. Niezer will assure, four years more of friendly administration of the city's light and power business.

On the whole question of municipal ownership Mr. Niezer has taken the side of the people. He believes public utilities should be primarily for the public use and benefit and that the policies of local government should be chosen and pursued aggressively to that purpose. No one can question his honesty or impugn his complete sincerity in the stand he has taken in behalf of the people of this city. His election will be the best insurance policy the people can have that their interests will be in hands that are at once safe and capable.

Make no mistake. Let your own interests guide your judgment in the voting next Tuesday. Every citizen has a great material interest staked on the outcome of this election.

EXAMPLES ARE NEEDED.

Reports are numerous from over the country that the food pledge campaign has been persistently interfered with by the spreading of various insidious reports calculated to alarm American housewives. One of the most common of these has been that the government was taking the food pledges as a preliminary step to making seizure of a large part of the foodstuffs preserved in American homes this summer and fall. Repeatedly the government and national, state and local councils of defense have been at pains to assure housewives that the government has no intention whatever of taking away domestic food supplies, but not even these positive reiterations have served to quiet the fears aroused by this insidious enemy propaganda. Various other reports are set afoot to discourage the success of the campaign. In one northern Indiana community school children were admonished to tell their mothers not to display the food pledge cards at home, because it might lead to terrible consequences when the German troops invade this country. From all over these and similar as well as other sorts of stories have been cunningly spread about. It is said that efforts will be made to identify persons who have attempted in these ways to obstruct the food pledge campaign and that if possible examples will be made. It is much to be hoped that examples can be made. Enemy propaganda is somewhat too busy and is having rather more latitude of immunity in this country than is salutary.

The rolling back of the Italian armies is a spectacular military incident and may not be so disastrous as it may appear. But is bad enough, and it serves warning on this side the water that there is going to be plenty of fighting left for us after we get fairly into the big shindy. Germany is perhaps showing off in this drive on Italy, but even such a show must be made possible by resources, strength and spirit.

—arriving after many stops, letterings and breakdowns, long after I tried to hurry, too slow, maybe not slow enough, recalcitrant, but always sure of my end—I am I.

—coming with the Gift, my mouth full of words about it, stopped up, overpowered, mastered, suffocated, strangled to death trying to tell it all—I am I.

—seeking complete response, offering a solution to every question; tarrying to hurry faster—I am I.

—denying nobody speech, excluding nothing, turning voice into silence, and silence into voice—I am I.

—always whole, always happy, always bright, always glorious, always tireless, always supplying strength to the wearied—I am I.

—chanting the sacred mantra that builds the worlds, the divine Architect, the Creator and the Assimilator, the Forger and the Forgiven—I am I.

WHY AMERICA MUST UPHOLD RUSSIA

Major Stanley Washburn, of the United States army, who turned over to the Russian Information bureau the subjoined statement, was for three years connected with the Russian armies at the front as a special correspondent for the London Times. Major Washburn was with the Russian armies during their successful invasion of East Prussia in the early months of the war and was a witness of the great retreat of the Russian armies from Warsaw through Poland, which he so vividly described in his book, "Victory in Defeat."

No American has had a better opportunity of becoming thoroughly familiar with Russia's military forces and no American has a better understanding of the problems which Russia has successfully encountered in the past, and of the problems which confront Russia's military forces at the present time. Major Washburn knows personally most of the great leaders of the Russian armies and during his recent visit in Russia as a member of the American diplomatic mission, he came in touch with the leaders of the Russian provisional government.

BY MAJOR STANLEY WASHBURN.

Russia in the war is of vital importance to every individual in the United States. It is not an abstract problem of vague and distant interest, but one which increasingly will touch almost every home in America.

In every village and city of the United States today men in khaki are beginning to appear upon the streets and one cannot read the papers without seeing accounts of reviews of troops preparatory to their departure for the front. How many people who watch with misty eyes the swinging columns of American manhood marching down the streets are thinking of Russia, or what the daily news from Russia means directly to these men and to their wives and mothers, their sisters and their children, who see them leaving their villages and homes for a training camp or for the front in France?

The meaning of Russia is, vague and intangible to the majority of our people, nevertheless the solution of the war rests largely with that distant and isolated country. If Russia remains in the war we can with optimism hope that January, 1918, will see the end of the world carnage and that the bulk of these men will be returning to their homes.

If through lack of support, moral, financial and economic, Russia does not remain in the war few of the first army in America, save those rendered permanently unfit, will come back. The next sight of embarkation toward centers of embarkation will cease to arouse curiosity. Where we see tens of thousands marching today we will see hundreds of thousands in 1918. And in 1919 we shall be counting actual casualties by the half-million. There is nothing in the military situation today, should Russia be eliminated, to indicate a decision on the field of battle inside of two years.

Inasmuch as the future of Russia affects deeply every American, it is now of paramount importance that every one in this country should study the problem of Russia, and realize that individual responsibility, sympathy and interest, which alone can strengthen and fortify the hands of administration in a policy of generous support for Russia, is absolutely essential to her salvation.

Holding Great Teuton Forces.

Let us now consider what Russia is actually doing today. She has a front, including Rumania, extending from the Baltic to the Black sea, a distance of approximately 1,200 miles, or nearly as far as a straight line drawn from New York to Kansas City. It is difficult to state from day to day what enemy forces are being detained on the eastern front. If one includes Austrians, Bulgars, Turks, Hungarians and Germans, probably is not an exaggeration to put the enemy formations facing Russia and Rumania at between 150 and 180 divisions, or in round numbers between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men.

It is clear that this important number of effective troops definitely represents the difference between an offensive and a defensive campaign on the western front. In spite of chaos and confusion in Russia this summer, the Russian line has continued to detain and divert this surplus of enemy troops, with the result that France, England and Italy have been engaged in a continuous offensive almost without cessation since the early spring.

The elimination of the eastern front from the theater of operations means two things to the central powers: First they would be able to release instantly 2,000,000 men for operations elsewhere. It would mean that all of the allies would have to suspend their advances and take the defensive for the approximate length of time that it would take to destroy by shot and shell this surplus coming from the east.

We would probably find then that at least a year would be required before the lines in the west would be relatively as strong against the Germans as they were in January, 1917. At the end of that time or about the beginning of January, 1918, they would again be obliged to take up the problem of bringing an offensive to the Rhine and forcing home the war on German territory.

More serious for the allies than the release of human material to fight in the west would be the immediate supplies of every form of raw material in Russia, both in food and metals, which would be available to the Germans. With the vast resources of the new republic in the east at Germany's disposal, there is no sound reason why the central powers should not fight for another three or four years.

As long as Russia remains in the war we can hope for a disaster in Germany through economic causes and we are not absolutely dependent upon crushing her by force of arms alone. With food and metals and labor in unlimited amounts at her disposal from Russia, the only decision which we can logically hope for is a military decision in the west, and that this can be forced under three or four years I see no reason to believe.

Germany Vulnerable in East.

There is a third factor of great strategic importance in keeping Russia in the war. It is that when we lose the eastern front we lose a field of maneuver on which Germany alone is vulnerable.

On the western front we have a relatively short line of defense, manned exclusively by Germans. Between the allies and the Rhine are innumerable defensive positions, each of which can be purchased only by tremendous sacrifice of life and the expenditure of mountains of munition. No doubt the Germans are perfectly willing to trade these lines month by month for the losses in men and money which they can make the allies pay.

If by constant effort the armies of the allies reach the Rhine they have only begun the invasion of Germany. Without elaborating on the military difficulties in the west it is safe to state that the decision forced from this quarter by arms alone must be a long, arduous and costly one, though I do not of course doubt the inevitable victory, even in that quarter. Germany, in the west, then, presents her strongest and most invulnerable front. Contrast this situation with the opportunities offered to the allies in the east. Here we have a line so long and through a country so sparsely populated that an intensive system of defense comparable with the west, has not been possible nor has it even been attempted. In addition to this the eastern front is held only in part by German troops and the personnel of the defense is therefore filled with vulnerable spots.

Having been in Russia since the beginning of the war, and having followed the operations of her armies almost continuously during three campaigns, I have not the slightest hesitation in expressing the opinion that the Russian troops can always beat the Austrians. Wherever, then, the Austrians are holding the line there is present the capacity for sweeping successes whenever the Russians have material and morale sufficient to warrant advances.

In addition to this, there are along the eastern front strategic objectives, any of which successfully achieved would shake the house of German strategy. Taking these in order from the north, it is easy to analyze what comparatively short Russian advances would mean to Germany.

Another invasion of East Prussia, for instance, would fill Berlin with refugees as it did in August, 1914. It would create a political situation there which might vitally threaten the endurance of the whole cause.

Prospect of Success in Galicia.

As we move south the opportunities of effective maneuvers and campaigns increase in their menace to Germany. Galicia is held entirely by Austrians. Russia's offensive in 1916 indicated clearly the capacity of the Russians to force advances in this territory. A reorganized and well equipped Russian army would in my opinion retake Galicia in the summer of 1918. Such a reconquest would mean the flanking and utter demoralization if not collapse of Austria.

If the Russians could retake as much of Galicia as they occupied in December, 1914, it is almost certain that an independent peace with Austria would result within a few months, for the Austrian position would be in every way untenable from a political and military point of view.

An advance through Rumania in co-operation with an allied expedition from Saloniki would ever more definitely prove the beginning of the end for the central powers. With the British blockade increasing its effectiveness daily and with shipments from the different countries being curtailed week by week, Germany has become more and more dependent for food supplies and raw material upon Hungary, Serbia, Bulgaria, Turkey and Asia Minor. There are no serious difficulties in terms of lines of defense which would prevent a strong Russo-Rumanian expedition striking the lines of the Danube and joining hands with Sarail at Sofia in 1918.

The consummation of any such movement would instantly put Bulgaria and Turkey out of the war. Austria and Hungary with threats from this vulnerable side could not endure for six months and their defeat would be the beginning of the end for Germany.

It is clear that all of the opportunities for a quick decision lie on the eastern front and not on the western. A reorganized Russian army co-ordinated with the pressure on the entire western front might well end the war in 1918. Even with the partial fulfillment of the strategic objectives above mentioned internal political and economic pressure might bring about the collapse of Germany from within.

Russia, with us, then, obviously represents shortening the war by years and means a difference in American losses measured in hundred thousands; a difference in wealth expended counted in tens of billions, and in the end called to the colors figured in millions.

I repeatedly emphasize the fact that the burdens will increasingly fall on America, because it must be clear that with every month longer that the war lasts it will be America that must fill all the gaps in the western lines. The final surplus to break down German resistance must come in a large measure from a cross the Atlantic, for by 1919 neither France nor England will be able to throw increasingly large masses of manhood into their fighting fronts.

The problem then of keeping Russia in the war should not appeal to America as one of merely a vague and intangible national policy, but rather as a personal interest. The news from Russia should command the same sympathetic attention that is and will be increasingly given to the operations of our own troops in France. Each has an equal significance to all of us.

If one wishes to understand clearly the significance of what is going on in Russia, one must realize the difference in meaning between military movements on the western and on the eastern fronts. It is as foolish for the allies to magnify the effect of German advances in Russia as it is for them to minimize the importance of helping Russia.

We must, therefore, watch the Russian army. While it has morale and material the Germans cannot crush it.

its retreats have less significance than those of any other army in the world, for the Russian morale is less affected by disaster than that of any other. The troops I have ever been with. The surrounding of territory means little or nothing as long as the army keeps intact.

In the Galicia drive in 1915 one whole Russian army division was annihilated, and the gap in the line, forty miles across, was open for the German advance. In spite of this the Russians were able to recuperate and present a solid phalanx on the San river, which the Germans were able to force back, but not to break.

The Warsaw movement succeeded in capturing the Polish capital. The main objective, which was the destruction of the Russian army, failed of achievement, and within two months the army was able to present a front which checked the German advances in 1915.

The drive through Rumania had the same German intent and broadly speaking failed in the same way. Though the Russian and Rumanian armies were obliged to retire to the line of the Sereth they were not destroyed nor was their fighting capacity eliminated.

This year we have seen two German attempts to bring about disaster to the Russian lines. The German stroke in Galicia in July brought about a vitally dangerous military situation to the Russians, for their line was broken in a most important sector in Galicia. After four days the Russians were able to begin a system of rear-guard actions and once more the German hope of a Russian disaster faded away.

Within the last few weeks we have seen a drive on Riga and a collapse of Russian defense. Within ten days we again saw the Russians establishing rear-guard actions and then definitely counter-attacking and at the present writing they are approximately checking the German advance.

Nothing can be more untrue than to prophesy in war. It is legitimate, however, to judge the future based on the precedents of the past. As correspondent of the London Times, attached first to the headquarters of the Grand Duke Nicholas and latterly to that of the former czar, I have been in thirteen out of fourteen Russian armies in the field and covered nearly eighty battles. I have been in all the disasters up to December, 1916, with the exception of East Prussia.

From May until December, 1915, I lived in nothing but the atmosphere of disaster. Retreats, burning villages, and roads congested with refugees became the daily round of my existence, yet after every disaster which took place in those three years in war, I have seen the Russians recuperate, make a stand and ultimately come back.

Most of Army Unchanged.

There are now new political factors in the war which make estimates more uncertain. The greatest factor, however, which made the reconquest of the Russian army possible during the first three years of chaos was the character of the Russian soldiers themselves, and this has not fundamentally changed in the last six months. The military misfortunes of this summer have been largely due to weak links in the chain rather than in weakness of the lines as a whole. The losing of certain salient points held by troops whose morale had been destroyed by the vicious German propaganda brought about local disasters which forced general retreats.

The fact that German advances up to this writing, have during this period been finally checked by the Russians is sufficient evidence to indicate that the bulk of the army remains in morale and in character as before, which even political chaos and the destruction of discipline have not been able to alter essentially. From the evidence then of the past we can, I believe, rely on the army to do, during the next year what it has done in the last three, provided only that the government be supported and its moral and financial support be such as to enable it to maintain a political situation sufficiently strong to make the continuation of the war possible.

Americans must not attach undue importance to where or the map the Russian army stands. We must not view too seriously its retreatments. All that need vitally interest us is that in some place in Russia, protecting its vital strategic centers, there are two or three million Russians fighting the enemy at the same time that the Allies are attacking them in the west.

Viewed broadly, it is immaterial to the Allies as a whole, whether the army is defending itself in Poland or before the gates of Moscow. Even if it never takes the offensive, but can only remain an army in being to hold enemy formations in Russia, it is saving day by day thousands of American lives.

Invasion Dangerous to Germans. It must be remembered that the farther into Russia that the Germans are forced to follow and fight the Slavic greater is the drain on their man power. Incidentally the dangers to the Germans from a Russian offensive become greater the farther they enter into the spaces of the eastern front.

My own observation has been that the morale of a defeated enemy decreases rapidly in the exact ratio to the distance from its base. A German defeat in front of Moscow would, I believe, be a greater blow in men and material, and morale, than would have been a German defeat in East Prussia in 1914. We must not, therefore, feel undue pessimism as to movements of the Russian army this year. We must thank God that there have been enough elemental virtues in the Russians' character to have kept them fighting this year without discipline or without morale.

It is the duty of every individual in America to watch with solicitation and sympathy the struggles that Russia is making to keep the army intact and to build up a strong and effective government. It is the obvious and direct obligation that every American should feel a personal interest and responsibility toward Russia; this responsibility should be made manifest by the individual support by every person interested in the final outcome of this war in backing up the president of the United States with sympathy and encouragement in every effort which he may make to relieve and encourage the Russians in fighting out this great struggle and in solving this, the most difficult task that has perhaps ever confronted a nation.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

NEW REFELECTORY TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

Twenty-Five Thousand Dollar Structure at Reformed Orphans' Home.

The new dining hall at the Reformed orphans' home has been completed and will be dedicated Sunday, November 4. Addresses will be given by Rev. F. W. Engelmann, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Rev. H. H. Kattmann, of Warsaw, Wis.; and Rev. A. H. Schaaf, of Fort Wayne. The dedicatory service will be read by Rev. A. Beer, of New Bavaria, O., and the prayer will be offered by Rev. F. W. Beisser, of Plymouth, Wis. The service will be presided over by M. Kinch, of Decatur, who is president of the board. The public is invited to attend.

Has Good Year.
The Reformed orphans' home has enjoyed a good year and a brief report of the work accomplished there is shown from the following extract from the "Reformed Church Messenger," written by the superintendent, Rev. J. F. Winter.

"The past year has been a good one and a busy one at the Fort Wayne home. Good, for we have been able to care for more children and care better for them all. It has been a busy one, too, for we are constantly making improvements and are at present concerned with the erection of the new building.

"We are now taking care of ninety-four children, which is thirteen more than we had last year at this time. During the year we admitted twenty-seven children and dismissed fourteen. The children are, with one or two exceptions, content and obedient. We aim to keep them busy with the proper proportion of work and play, which keeps their minds and bodies occupied.

"The schools were conducted for eight months, as usual. Our children attend the public school, but should like to employ our own teachers as soon as this can be made possible.

Raphia work for the younger boys and fancy work for the girls continue throughout the year. Our chapel services are held every evening, with church and Sunday school on Sunday. In this way we aim to train the children in body, mind and spirit. Two girls and three boys were confirmed this year, after several years of instruction in the Bible and catechism, and also concerning the Reformed church.

"With two exceptions, none of the children have been seriously ill, and these two were kindly cared for in the hospital until they were again well. "The boys are kept busy in the summer time on the farm and in the garden. We have twenty-seven swine, eight cows, four Holstein calves, four horses and three hundred and fifty chickens at present, all of which are fed almost entirely from the farm. The cattle and swine supply approximately 60 per cent of our meat, while we have at least three vegetables a day from the garden in summer. The root vegetables last through the winter until spring. Last winter our children were forced to do without potatoes, as our crop was a failure and we did not feel justified in buying. The new crop is good and we are now having potatoes again.

"The new dining hall has progressed rapidly and is now under roof. When it is completed this fall, we shall have the satisfaction of being able to meet the requirements of the state law and to better care for the children. We do not yet have sufficient funds for the erection of this building, but we are relying on our faith in the church that the rest is forthcoming.

"The treasurer's annual report is not yet at hand, but other statistics give a fairly accurate idea of the finances of the home. The balance in the treasury for current expenses was $2,491.63 in July. There are also liabilities on the White farm to the extent of $8,000. Our endowment fund is growing slowly. It now amounts to $6,392.21. We feel that the church has been supporting the institution loyally, both with money and with provisions and clothing."

PULPITS SOUND APPEAL FOR RESCUE MISSION, THE CHURCH IN OVERALLS

REV. JAMES A. NIPPER,
Superintendent Fort Wayne Mission.

E. J. BERQUIST,
of New Castle, Pa.

FRED G. BECKER,
of Milwaukee, Wis.

PETER QUARTELL,
Famous Gospel Singer.

GEORGE W. SOERHILDE, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Rescue Mission day is always looked forward to with a great deal of expectation by the church going people and those who are interested in work of this nature, as Mr. Nipper is in a habit of bringing some very good talent to the city at this time. The men whose pictures appear above, will speak in some of the churches of the city in the morning and evening services.

Edward C. Clark will speak at the morning service at the United Brethren church on East Lewis street, and in the evening at the First Evangelical church on South Clinton street.

Peter Quartell, who has a national reputation as a Gospel singer, will speak and sing at the First Baptist church in the morning service, and will also sing in a mass meeting for men and women at the Plymouth church at 3 p. m.

E. J. Berquist will speak in the morning service at the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ, and in the evening at the Simpson Methodist.

Fred G. Becker will speak in the morning service at the Plymouth church, and in the evening at the First Methodist church in a mass meeting.

G. H. Meinard, of Chicago, will speak at the morning services at the First Presbyterian church, and in the evening at the Bethany Presbyterian.

Mr. Nipper will speak at the morning service at the South Side Baptist church.

The two mass meetings are of special interest, as in the afternoon the people are given a chance to hear all of the men and special singing by Peter Quartell, and in the evening at the First Methodist church, which has always proved to be a "rouser." Mr. Quartell will have a chorus of forty voices, and Fred Becker, the man who made Milwaukee famous, will speak. This service begins at 7:30 sharp.

Here are some facts about the Rescue Mission:
It is the church at work down town 365 days in the year.
Its motto, "No Law but Love, No Creed but Christ."
It is the church in overalls, with sleeves rolled up.
It is the church with rubber boots on wading through.

Society

The young women who compose the Sophie B. Wright society give an annual entertainment, usually for the Visiting Nurse league. This year will be no different except that there will be a bazaar instead of a supper and interspersing the dancing will be cabaret features. Admission to the entertainment, which will include the dancing and entertaining stunts will be fifty cents. There will be booths in charge of members of the society and as customary, the young women will do the work, will make all articles to be sold and all arrangements. The entertainment will be given at the Anthon hotel on Friday, November 30. Mrs. Arnold Tresselt is chairman and on her committee are Mrs. Harry C. Hogan, Mrs. Clifford Bourscheid, Miss Vera Tresselt, Miss Marie Landenberg and Miss Mary Evans.

Many friends in this city will be interested to learn of the engagement of Miss Emily Traub, of Davenport, Iowa, to Dr. J. F. Merrill, dean of physics and electrical engineering departments of the State university of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah, which she announced at the wedding of her brother, Rev. Frederick Traub, of Eden, Idaho, to Miss Lottie Jaus. Miss Traub formerly lived in Fort Wayne.

Misses Helen Yarmann and Nellie Rehner gave a masquerade party at the Rehner home, 1232 Huestis avenue, Wednesday evening. The house was beautifully decorated in orange and black festoons, pumpkins and corn stalks. A merry time was enjoyed with the various games suitable for Halloween, after which a luncheon was served. Those present were Bertha Traut, Alice Florence, Loretta Stair, Esther Colling, Loretta Keep, Ellinor Plock, Edna Bohay, Irene Conklin, Beatrice Roberts, Ota Roberts, Helen Yarmann and Rose Yarmann.

Seven years old proved a most important day with Miss Dorothy Fisher, partly because she never had so pretty and delightful a birthday party that she can remember, anyway, and partly because it was a beautiful day, and Miss Dorothy likes to help other people enjoy life, too. Particulars were not different from any lovely parties and there was a cake with yellow candles and tiny pumpkins of candy and a number of substantial things besides. The children present were Marguerite and Virginia Luecke, Rosalie Pollak, Jane Fisher, Helen Dessauer, Patty Price, Virginia Gilmartin, Betty Van Arman, Mary Shields, Alice Yarnelle, Mary Pettit, Virginia Bohn, Susanne Ivens, Florence Coppock, Patty Bowers and Louise Rogers.

Mother's Club Entertainment

A large audience, many encores and an ever ready appreciation of pleasure in the work of each participating giving the program were noticeable throughout the entertainment at Plymouth church last evening, given under the management of the Mothers' club. Proceeds will be used in furthering the charitable endeavors of the club and in Red Cross work. The program was given by Mrs. Selma Ringold, of Toledo, Ohio, an interesting and gifted reader; Robert Quick, a talented and hard working violin student, whose progress has been such as to place him in Chautauque circles of entertainers, Misses Jessie Gifford and Irene Jones, both student sopranos with voices of lovely quality and evincing excellent training; Miss Marguerite Hitzman, a progressive pianist with many fine qualities of work, both as soloist and accompanist, and Herbert Rippe, also a student singer who has made splendid progress. All the Fort Wayne performers donated their services.

Celebrated Silver Wedding

The twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding was the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. ETNA BOY WRITES TO

PARENTS FROM FRANCE

Says His Regiment is Stationed on Ground of Great Historical Importance.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 2.—Ronald Scott, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. C. Scott, of Etina, and now with the regulars in France, states his regiment is stationed on ground of great historical importance, having been held in the last three years by the once conquering Germans. Evidences of well known battles of the first three or four months of the war are abundant. At the time of writing his letter, October 1, it was a time of harvest and fruit and English walnuts grow there in plentiful abundance this year.

Columbia City Short Notes.

The Baptist church is rapidly nearing completion, the second story proper having been finished up by the brick masons. The four large stone pillars that form the beautiful entrance are in place, and the interior work will be completed by time for service Christmas day or New Year's day.

Pledge Card for United States Food Administration

If You Have Already Signed, Pass This On To a Friend

TO THE FOOD ADMINISTRATOR:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator in my home, in so far as my circumstances permit.

Name _____

Street _____

City _____

State _____

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all of those actually handling food in the home. Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to the Membership Window Card, which will be delivered upon receipt of the signed pledge.

Cut this out carefully and send it to the Federal Food Administrator, Room 20, State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Do not send it to Washington. Send it to Indianapolis.

This is the same as the pledge card, and just as official. Do not sign this if you have signed a pledge card. Do not sign a pledge card if you sign this.

When you send this in, with your name and address, you will be sent free: (1) a handsome three-colored window membership card to show that you are trying to live up to the suggestions of the food administration at your house; (2) an interesting and valuable book of suggestions and recipes, entitled "Ten Lessons on Food Conservation"; (3) a wall card of Kitchen War Creed," to show you how you can help win the war in your own kitchen if you wish.

And the food administration will mail you other helpful things later, perhaps.

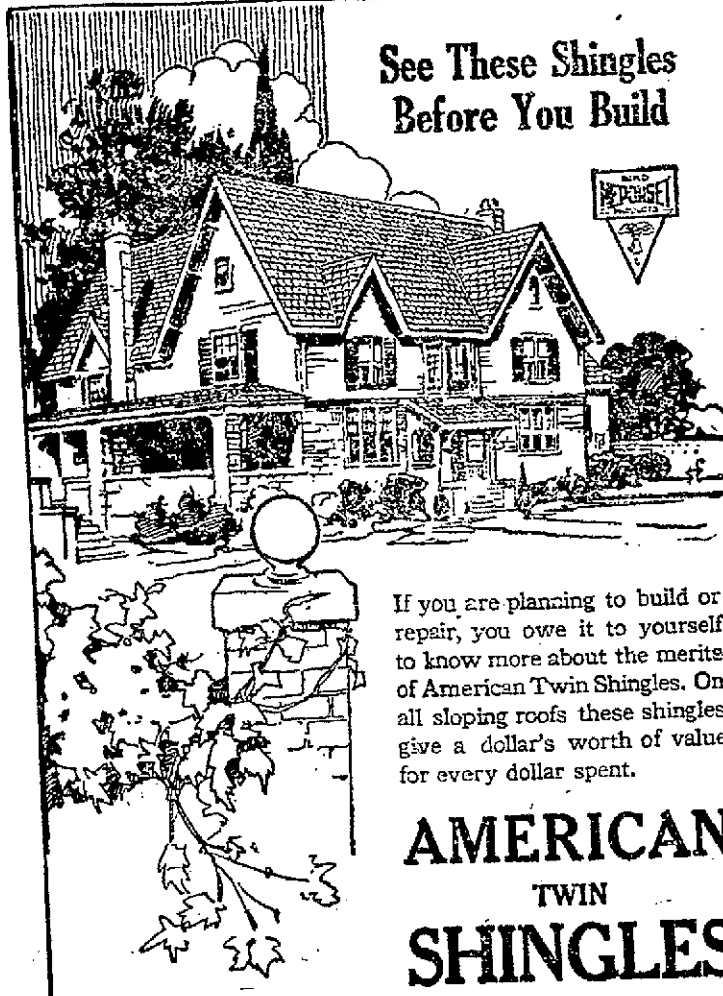

To sign this card is a patriotic privilege. It will make you a leader in your neighborhood in the task of saving certain foods for our soldiers and our allies.

Sign this card. Show Mr. Hoover you are with him. Hang out your window membership card when it comes. Read the interesting literature that will be sent you.

The government is not going to ask for your canned goods or for anything else, because you sign this card. You incur no obligations. You merely promise to study the problem of "food saving to win the war" and do what you can to help.

WELL KNOWN OSSIAN COUPLE ARE MARRIED

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Ossian, Ind., Nov. 3.—At the Presbyterian manse at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening occurred the marriage of two well known Ossian young people. Miss Georgianna M. Hostetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hostetter, became the wife of Mr. Dale J. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ferguson. The ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. Frank K. Baker. The young folks were unattended. The bride wore a becoming suit of dark blue. A six o'clock dinner at the home of the bride's parents preceded the wedding ceremony. Only the immediate families were present. Mr. Ferguson is one of the successful teachers in the Ossian schools and he and his bride left Thursday morning for Indianapolis to attend teachers' association. On their return to Ossian they will at once go to housekeeping in a cottage on South Jefferson street.

Reformed.

St. John's Church.

Many of our boys have been called to "Rally 'round the flag." When they hear these summons and present themselves before the authorities of our government they do so with the firm resolve to serve Uncle Sam in absolute loyalty. We had our "Grand Rally Day" last Sunday, when we rallied around the flag of our Sunday school. Our attendance next Sunday depends upon that resolve. Sunday school begins at 9 a. m.

We shall have two visiting ministers with us next Sunday, Rev. Hoernemann, of Berne, and Prof. Scherry, of Garrett, who, with Elder Stuckey, of Berne, will install our new pastor, Rev. Beckmann. The visiting ministers will preach, the one in English, the other in German.

Sunday afternoon the new dormitory at the orphan's home will be dedicated. To this we have been cordially invited.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will have its monthly conference meeting at 6:30. Miss Ellen Reiff will lead.

The Men's Bible class will have a social meeting and supper in the school hall next Wednesday evening, at which Rev. Beckmann will speak.

The Ladies' Aid society meets Wednesday for sewing for the great bazaar.

Next Thursday the Aid will meet for its regular monthly meeting. The hostesses are Sophia Siebold, Elizabeth K. Stolle, Margaret Stolle, Mina Sauerswein, Edna Schoepf, Frederika Sammers, Elizabeth Soest, Margaretha Thurnum, Frederika Tshannen, Lisette Thurnum.

Friday evening the Delta Alpha class meets at the home of Myrtle Altevogt, 3904 South Harrison street.

The pastor will be pleased to receive the names of all who have enlisted or have been called to serve in any branch of the army or navy.

Grace Church.

(310-320 Washington Boulevard East.)
9-30. Bible school. While we have established a record, winning over the other Sunday schools in the October go-to-sunday school campaign, it will be an empty honor if we do not keep up our efforts. Friends and strangers will find a hearty welcome awaiting them.

10:45—Regular morning worship conducted by the minister, and as will be the first anniversary of Rev. Schaaf's pastorate it is expected that an unusually large audience will be present. A report from the committee in charge of "Giving Day" will be read at this service. Rev. Schaaf's sermon topic, "Witnessing for Christ." Musical program.

Principle—Imperial Pastorate....Buck Anthem—"Gloria Jesu"....Pike Anthem—"Gloria Jesu"....Saulkes Anthem—"Sing Unto the Lord"....Schnecker Postlude—Grand Chorus....Rogers A. Leslie Jacobs, Organist.

The Juniors will meet at 2:45; Y. P. S. C. E. service at 6:45.

In view of the fact that many members will attend the dedicatory services at the orphan's home Sunday afternoon, there will be no evening services.

Meeting of the consistory on Tuesday evening. All day service on Wednesday. Social afternoon for all the women and friends on Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. S. Deahl, in Delaware avenue. Come prepared to sew for Red Cross.

The November issue of The Visitor will be out for distribution.

Thursday afternoon the W. M. A. meets at the home of Mrs. Clara Platt, 1144 Division street.

REFORMATION CANTATA
To Be Rendered at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sunday.

As a fitting close of the celebration of the Reformation quadri-centennial, which is being observed throughout the world in these days, and which has just been celebrated by the Lutherans of this city, a chorus of 43 voices under the direction of Mr. Geo. Welber, organist of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will tomorrow evening render the famous Becker Reformation cantata.

The Reformation cantata is the classical musical expression of the quadri-centennial celebration, and is one of the masterpieces of Evangelical church music. The cantata of the Reformation was composed by Albert Becker, the late royal choir-master of the Dome, of Berlin. It was written for the Lutheran quadri-centennial of Nov. 10, 1833, and rendered for the first time on that day.

List said, when he had seen this text: "Becker appears in this cantata as the first among musicians of the Evangelical church. There is only one who could contend for the palm or prize with him, and that one is Brahms."

The great theme of the cantata, the text of which has been taken from the Holy Scripture and Luther's hymns, is the theme of the Reformation: Repentance, grace, faith, baptism and the Eternal Word.

Two Luther hymns: "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" and "From Out the Depths I Cry to Thee," are closely interwoven in the music of the cantata, which is splendid instrumentation, is carried to a height of dramatic power.

The cantata will be rendered tomorrow evening at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The soloists appearing in the program are the Misses Luella Feltag and Elfrida Wasmuth, soprano and alto respectively, and Mr. Ernst Moeller, bass. Mr. Carl Dannenfelser will accompany the chorus.

The program will begin at 7:45. There will be no admission. The public is cordially invited.

Associated Bible Students.
The Fort Wayne branch of the International Bible Students' association of which the noted traveling bible lecturer, Pastor C. T. Russell was president until his death, which office is now held by the Honorable J. F. Ruth, held all services in Unity hall, corner Calhoun and Holman streets.

"Wise and Foolish Christians" will be the subject of a public discourse at 7:45 p. m., Sunday. What is the Christian's standard and his attitude toward warfare? etc., are questions which will be answered from the bible in this lecture.

Berean bible study at 10:30 a. m., Sunday.

Prayer meeting at 7:45 p. m., Wednesday.

Seats will be free and no collection lifted.

Sunday School Convention.
The Allen County Sunday school association will meet next Thursday, Nov. 8th for an all day Sunday school convention. The state association will send speakers for the morning and afternoon program. The speaker of the evening program will be one of our leading city pastors in Sunday school work. Each township is expected to send a number of representatives. The convention will begin at 9:30. The program will appear later.

Pontifical Service.
Pontifical high mass was observed Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception. The Solemnity was in honor of the Feast of All Souls and was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman Joseph Alford. The sermon was preached by Rev. George Finnigan, of Notre Dame, one of the missionaries who conducted the forty hour devotion.

Conduct Services at Peru.
Father Finnigan will conduct services Sunday at St. Charles church, Peru, where Rev. John Guendling, formerly of the Cathedral, is pastor. Friday morning, November 9, Father Mulloy will open devotional services at St. Patrick's church, Lagro, Ind. These missionaries held a highly successful week at the Cathedral.

SOME REASONS WHY MAURICE C. NIEZER SHOULD BE ELECTED MAYOR

THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

MAURICE C. NIEZER.

WHO WANTS TO BOSS NIEZER?

(Sentinel, Oct. 12, 1917.)

It is to be trusted the men and women of Fort Wayne who will vote in the municipal elections next month are giving intelligent if not grave attention to the reasons urged against the triumph of Maurice C. Niezer at the polls.

So far the opposition has contested Mr. Niezer's claim only upon the ground that if elected he will not be mayor, but will surrender his place and power to some one else.

Does anyone of sane mind seriously credit such a preposterous charge as that after having made a successful race for the mayoralty wholly for the reason that it promised him opportunities for public service, Mr. Niezer would consign his good name, his reputation, his political future to the scrap heap, turn his back upon the record he has made as a citizen, and abandon every sentiment and principle that as a citizen of honor and spirit he holds dear?

Does anyone believe that Mr. Niezer, who declined to entertain any proposals of himself for the mayoralty until repeatedly and urgently sought by men of all parties and then only when it became clear that it was his great opportunity to devote himself to the city that he loves dearly and has served zealously, would discredit his own position and make wreck of his great chance to do those things that are his most cherished aspirations as a citizen?

Does anyone for a moment imagine that a strong, upstanding, forthright man like Maurice C. Niezer would make muckery of himself by going into high office as anybody's man?

As we have said before, all this stuff about Mr. Niezer and his bondage to any person or any interest is unadulterated bunk. Those who invent it and employ it know well—none better—that it is untrue and manufactured in the stress to find some pretext for their opposition.

Those who would control a mayor if they could, who have selfish interests to serve, are not training with Mr. Niezer or training after him. They know better. Their hopes and expectations lie on the other side and there their support is pledged and their assistance given.

Mr. Niezer cannot be bossed by anyone. Those who know him know that for a fact.

No one who is supporting Mr. Niezer wants to boss him or expects to. Everybody of common sense has the intelligence to know that.

THE PEOPLE ARE FOR IT.

(Sentinel, Oct. 23, 1917.)

The people of Fort Wayne, not expecting some hundreds who do not patronize it, are in favor of the maintenance and expansion of the municipal lighting system. This is the fact because there are few people in Fort Wayne so dense of understanding that they do not appreciate what the value of this public institution has been and will be to them.

ler. We again repeat that Mr. Cutshall had entire right to do that. The point at this time is that what Mr. Cutshall then thought and said of Mayor Hoesy was contrary to everything he thinks and says now of Mayor Hoesy. He then regarded Mayor Hoesy as the foremost exemplar of municipal government and city progress and public spirit in Fort Wayne. He then wanted to attach himself to Mayor Hoesy's administration, convinced that it was going to prove the "best this city ever had known." Mr. Cutshall had thought so well of Mayor Hoesy's previous administration and set so much store by the promise of Mayor Hoesy's oncoming administration that he had supported Mr. Hoesy in the last municipal election.

Now Mr. Cutshall and all his train are engaged in a vast campaign of bitter and incontinent detraction of Mayor Hoesy. The evil things they all utter about Mayor Hoesy are put forth as the reasons why Maurice C. Niezer should not be elected mayor of this city. They charge that Mr. Niezer is merely a blind for "Hoesyism"—What ever that is. They accuse Mr. Niezer with seeking the mayoralty solely that Mayor Hoesy may continue his domination of affairs in the city hall. Of course, this is the merest balderdash. Mr. Cutshall and his supporters know that it is. They know that as mayor Mr. Niezer will run his own administration. They know that it is Mayor Hoesy's uppermost desire to lay down the cares of office and seek the repose that the state of his health entitles him to. But suppose that what they say of Mayor Hoesy's pretensions to continued exercise of control and a purpose to dominate Mr. Niezer's administration were true. What honest expectation can Mr. Cutshall take to that? Mayor Hoesy has had a stronger endorsement from no man than he has had from Mr. Cutshall himself. He cannot get away from the statements of his letter, try he ever so hard. What he has written he has written and there it stands.

If Mr. Cutshall, in writing to Mayor Hoesy four years ago, was honest, then his present criticism, abuse and detraction of Mayor Hoesy are not honest. If he were wilfully dishonest four years ago, is he to be now believed? If he committed himself then to hypocrisy and untruth, he was prostituting himself basely to obtain office. If he were honest then, he is employing dishonesty today and basely prostituting himself to obtain office.

Mr. Niezer is not "hooked up" with Mayor Hoesy nor with any person or persons save the whole body of the people of Fort Wayne, whom he has promised to serve and will serve faithfully in the mayor's office. But if he were "hooked up" with Mayor Hoesy, would it be any worse than that Mr. Cutshall should have been? Mr. Cutshall should have been? He employed his best overtures and his strongest influences to get that it might be brought about. If there is any reproach in a design to be "hooked up" with Mayor Hoesy it all belongs to Mr. Cutshall. He is the only candidate who has sought such a connection. And he either was not honest in seeking it or he is now not honest in denouncing it.

PUT FRIENDS ON GUARD.

The future of the city lighting enterprise will be determined by the spirit that governs the policies of its administration. There can be no difference of opinion as to that. If the same policies that have been pursued during the past four years are continued during the next four years the municipal lighting business will not only be put on a more enduring foundation and placed on a still more unassailable position, but the people will gain the immense benefits that can flow only from successful management and aggressive policy.

The city lighting system is worth today a million dollars. In due course under friendly administration that values will be doubled. The lighting rates to domestic consumers are today 7 cents. If the city can break the shackles of the state utilities law that are now invoked to prevent any reduction of the rate the people will soon see the current for 6 cents, and possibly even less than that. The city lighting department has furnished the abundant proof that it can furnish current at a low rate and at the same time pay for enormous and costly extensions besides laying by a huge surplus in its funds to meet emergencies. That surplus may become much larger than it ought to be by reason of the fact that the state in behalf of the competitor of the municipal plant forces the city to charge more for its current than it ought to charge. That has been the situation for two years. Early in 1915 the city government tried to get the utilities board to sanction a reduction of the maximum rate to 6 cents. It never has been able to obtain that sanction. The result is that for almost two years the people have been forced to pay 15 cents more for their current than the city was able, willing and ready to sell it to them.

Despairing of getting the utilities board to sanction the lower rate and seeing ahead an indefinite term during which the municipal lighting plant would be hampered and obstructed in its efforts to give the people better service and lower rates, Mayor Hoesy undertook to get the legislature to pass a law that would exempt publicly owned and operated utilities from the embarrassing and harmful operations of certain phases of the state utilities law. For a time it appeared the bill that had been prepared and introduced in the legislature to this end would be passed and this city thereupon emancipated from its bondage to the trammels of an obstructive law and the interference of an unfriendly state board. Suddenly the bill went to a quiet and unmarked death in committee.

That bill, which meant so much in dollars and cents to every consumer of electric current in Fort Wayne, was slain by the dictum of one man in this city. It was done for two reasons. One reason was that Mayor Hoesy's administration might have no credit for having rendered that great service to the people. The other was that the democratic party might not gain any prestige from the act and be able to go before the people of Fort Wayne in the campaign now on with the fact in its record that it had further advanced the interests of the people, promoted the material gains of the city and enlarged the usefulness of the public lighting plant. There is possibly a third and more sinister reason.

At all events, the bill was killed, the eighty thousand people of Fort Wayne were denied the benefits it would have conferred and the lighting rate will stick at 7 cents and remain there until the state utilities board sees fit to permit a reduction. When the people understand who it was that caused this bill to be killed, appreciate the despicable motives that caused him to kill it and realize the tens of thousands of dollars his nefarious act has cost them they will be astounded and furious. The slaughter of that bill was partly in the behalf of the republican party and its candidates, partly because of enmity and hatred of Mayor Hoesy and partly—it is plausible to assume—for another and a worse reason. But it was killed and by that act the people of Fort Wayne—alike the patrons of city and of traction current—are mulcted 15 per cent more for their use of electricity than they ought to pay. The slayer of that bill is the strongest supporter of W. S. Cutshall's candidacy for mayor and the most bolterous, blatant and implacable foe of Maurice C. Niezer's candidacy for mayor. Which candidate comes to you, people of Fort Wayne, with the fairer promise and the better guarantee that he will fully serve your interests in the city lighting enterprise?

(Sentinel, Oct. 31.)

Candidate Cutshall and his managers have discovered that the municipal lighting enterprise is an issue in this campaign. They did not apprehend that three weeks ago, when Mr. Cutshall delivered his keynote and promulgated the platform of his candidacy. On that occasion he dismissed the issue in a score of words. Yesterday he made this statement in one of his speeches:

I shall exert every endeavor to make Fort Wayne's lighting plant a model of efficiency for the entire country to copy.

To that end it is necessary that the city lighting plant occupy the local field alone and unhampered by private competition. It is inevitable the function of the municipally owned light plant that it shall serve every light and power customer in Fort Wayne, and I shall direct its energies with that desirable and solely in view in the event of my election.

There is no sense in the city's spending thousands and thousands of dollars in building and equipping a lighting plant and then spending thousands more in advertising the fact that we citizens ought to buy from ourselves. This waste can be eliminated entirely by making the city plant the only one serving customers in Fort Wayne, and if I am the next mayor of Fort Wayne I shall make every endeavor to accomplish this.

That sounds well. But Mr. Cutshall did not "see it first." It is a belated and unconvincing position he takes. What he says has all along been the policy of the Fort Wayne democracy in respect of the municipal lighting enterprise. Mayor Hoesy has declared repeatedly that such is and must be the policy of the city if it means to continue in the light and power business and give the people the full benefit of the municipal industry.

The disconcerting phase of Mr. Cutshall's utterance, taken in connection with his previous timidity and vagueness in discussing the lighting enterprise, is his sweeping and aggressive declaration for establishment of city monopoly. It has been more than a rumor about the city for a long time that in the event of Mr. Cutshall's election there would be disclosed a plan for unloading upon the

MR. CUTSHALL FOUR YEARS AGO AND MR. CUTSHALL NOW!

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 27, 1917.

To the Editor of The Sentinel,
Dear Sir:

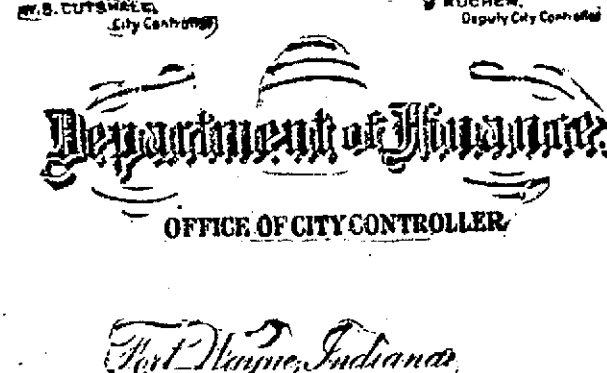

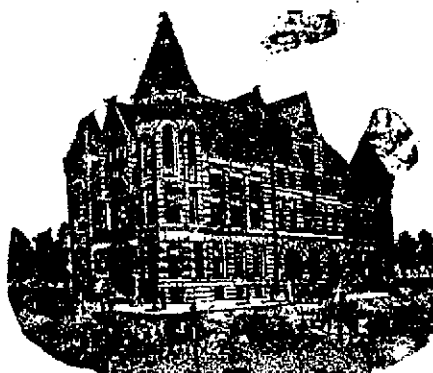

I am enclosing you an original letter received by me from Mr. Sherman Cutshall four years ago on the occasion of my election to the office of mayor written by him while serving as city comptroller under the administration of the late Mayor Jesse Grice.

The letter speaks for itself and needs but brief comment from me. The letter is given to the press for the reason that Mr. Cutshall has apparently fallen under the evil and fatal guidance of that champion exhibit of blackguard journalism known as the Fort Wayne Daily News and under its direction is conducting his campaign for the office of mayor on the so-called issue of "Hoesyism." In view of the fact that I am not a candidate for any office and only wished to honorably retire to private life with the satisfaction of knowing that I have faithfully endeavored to perform the many difficult duties enforced on me by virtue of the office, the people of this city have (not once, but twice) so signally honored me with, and believing that I still possess, in a great degree, the esteem and confidence of the people who have thus so honored me, notwithstanding all that Mr. Cutshall's party organ has said in the past, present or may say in the future to the contrary, but it seems that Mr. Cutshall and his malodorous newspaper will not permit me to so retire. Very well, let it be so recorded.

I shall, therefore, take great pleasure in taking up the gauntlet thus thrown down by Mr. Cutshall's party organ, and will have the satisfaction of aiding and contributing, with the assistance of my personal and political friends, in the discrediting and repudiation of the one Fort Wayne newspaper that has for years not only scandalized and libeled the city of Fort Wayne, its citizens and institutions, but has also scandalized and libeled the political party it pretends to represent.

While these unwarranted attacks on me justify me in asserting in the defeat of the men who stoop to such tactics, yet I feel that the personal and the soundness of the democratic platform are sufficient to obtain from our citizens a final and complete repudiation of the unfair, libelous, disgusting and yellow-journal policies of the Cutshall organ.

WM. J. HOSEY.

Nov. 17, 1913.

Hon. Wm. J. Hosey

Dear Sir:-

At the solicitation of several business and professional men of the city, I have decided to make application to you for reappointment to the position which I now hold, that of City Controller.

While it may seem to be an unusual request for a republican to make of a democratic Mayor-elect, in view of the continual agitation for efficiency in public offices, the development and retention of qualified officials and clerks and having in mind the progressive spirit with which you have conducted public affairs in the past and believing that your ambition is to give Fort Wayne the best administration it ever had, I feel, in view of the experience I have had in the past four years, my thorough familiarity with the exacting requirements of the State Accounting Board and Public Utility Commission, I could be of more service to you than any one man lacking experience, that I am justified in making this request.

I am of the opinion that my appointment by you would meet with the approval of the most prominent men of your party. However should you not look with favor upon my application I would appreciate a brief interview with you as I desire to correct a wrong impression which you seem to have as to my position during the campaign just closed.

Yours Truly

W. S. Cutshall

A FRIEND OF THE CITY PLANT?

(Sentinel, Nov. 2, 1917.)

Candidate Cutshall's newspaper submits this as having some force of argument:

If Mr. Cutshall as controller had not made a splendid showing in the management of the city light plant, do you suppose for a moment that Mr. Bayer, the light plant's ardent champion, would have wanted him continued in that capacity? You know mighty well he wouldn't.

There is a better way of putting the question.

If Mr. Cutshall had been or if Mr. Cutshall were now a sincere friend of the municipal lighting enterprise, does any one suppose that his newspaper organ would be his champion?

Not on your life. The most implacable and consistent foe the city electric lighting plant has or has ever had is Mr. Cutshall's organ and its editor. This is not epithet. It is a notorious fact of recorded history. Twelve years ago, when the overshadowing issue of the municipal campaign was that the people should determine whether or not the preparation for a municipal lighting plant should be realized in the next administration, Mr. Cutshall's organ fought it with desperation, denounced the city the light and power department of the traction company's business.

Is that what Mr. Cutshall means by and includes in his promise that if elected he will "make every endeavor to accomplish" a city monopoly of the business in this city? Mr. Cutshall should illuminate his purpose and make clear his notion of the accomplishment of a monopoly.

If the city can get the legislature to remove the shackles of the state public service law and the stranglehold the state utilities board have upon the Fort Wayne municipal lighting plant there will not be any great delay in achieving the entire field and accomplishing a monopolization of the light and power business in Fort Wayne. That would today have been well-nigh if not entirely accomplished if it were not that Mr. Cutshall's staunchest supporter and endorser took it upon himself to destroy the bill that had been introduced in the legislature to give the people of this city relief from the rates prevailing and to enable the city lighting department to go ahead and occupy the field.

We do not believe the people of Fort Wayne want to make a very heavy investment in junk or pay a fancy price for business that can be speedily got without cost if it is given free field.

What has Mr. Cutshall further to say about his plans for a municipal light and power monopoly?

project and ridiculed those who believed in it.

Never since that time has Mr. Cutshall's organ ceased its hostility to the city plant. Never in all those twelve years just past has its enmity to the city enterprise been more implacable or effectual than during this year 1917.

It was Mr. Cutshall's organ that set itself the high task to defeat the Fort Wayne relief bill in the last legislature, when that measure for giving the people of this city lower electric rates was put to death. The man who under cover launched a torpedo against that splendid bill that would have saved the people of this city many thousands of dollars even by this time was Mr. Jesse A. Greene, president of the News Publishing company and editor-in-chief of the Fort Wayne News, Mr. Cutshall's organ.

That is the reason the people of Fort Wayne—patrons of city current and traction current alike—are today paying 15 per cent more for their electric current than there would be need to pay had that bill passed, as it would have passed, save for Mr. Greene's hostile activity.

Yet, this is the source from which issues the strongest endorsement Mr. Cutshall gets that he is the man of all others with whom to entrust the future and the fate of the Fort Wayne people's million-dollar lighting enterprise.

NAMES HIS COMMITTEE

Henry Beadell to Have Seven Assistants in Administering Coal.

FINAL PAPERS ARE RECEIVED

Investigation of Situation Will Be Made in Every Part of County.

Henry Beadell, who has received his final papers from Indianapolis, and who is now in complete charge as Allen county administrator, has appointed a committee of seven to aid him in the work of adjusting local coal conditions. Those who will serve with Beadell are: H. C. Rockhill, Mrs. A. E. Faure, John Bessler, Louis H. Moore, E. C. Miller, W. H. Scheinmann and E. C. Olds.

Government appointment of Beadell as fuel administrator vests him with power to take coal if necessary when there is an unfair hoarding of the fuel in any one part of the county. Beadell has been placed in charge of all information which has gone to the government officers from this part of the state.

Beadell expects to work day and night during the next few days in straightening out the present coal condition of the county. He has been called from bed several times during the past two days by families who need coal at once. He has assisted Wayne Township Trustee Allen Hamilton in getting coal for poverty stricken families in some cases. Orders from the court is promised to allow Charles Prebble, trustee for the Edgerton Tile company, to sell 200 tons of coal held by that bankrupt company, in order that the schools of Woodburn may be supplied with fuel.

CAR ORDER BLOCKS CITY IMPROVEMENTS

Paving Jobs Cannot Be Finished Unless Short Respite is Granted.

Street paving work in Fort Wayne is apparently halted by the latest freight order of the government which directs railroad companies to use all open cars for shipping coal.

Local contracting companies have been notified by railroad freight officials that they cannot expect shipments of paving materials until the order is revoked.

The freight situation means that Lake avenue, Kinnaird avenue, Webster street, LaSalle street, Liberty street and Coombs street will not be paved this fall, contractors state. There is enough paving material on hand to allow the completing of Kensington avenue and Grace avenue, it is believed.

At Wolcottville, from which town Fort Wayne has drawn much of the crushed rock used in street paving, there are fifteen cars lined up at the quarry, but railroad officials, through the government, have ordered that the cars not be loaded and the conveyors will be taken away at once for coal freighting, it is reported to contractors here.

There is enough concrete stored in Fort Wayne to allow the completing of nearly all sidewalk contracts which have been granted by the city, it is given out. Arrangements are expected to be made for shipping the concrete in large closed cars, thus evading the coal car order.

City officials have received direct orders from Washington to the effect that the erection of all public buildings not urgently needed at this time be delayed until after the war in order that all transportation facilities may be employed in alleviating the coal crisis and in the moving of grain.

The new car order is the last force to contribute to a puny paving record for Fort Wayne for this year. All summer the construction companies have been hindered in their work by inclement weather. There were fewer bright days during the summer than in any like period for several years, contractors say. The improvement engineers and city officials were praying for extended good weather in order that the paving tasks might yet be completed this season. Now comes the car order, which is the last blow to the hopes of officials and contractors.

SMALLPOX RETREATING.

Forces in Battle Against Disease Gaining Ground.

Health officers announce that the smallpox forces are losing ground in Fort Wayne. Slowly but surely the attack against the disease are gaining ground. Four yellow cards were removed Saturday and only one placed went up. The new case is that of Joe Mullins, 22, 2615 Reed street.

Birth Record. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fry, 7221 Broadway—a boy.

DRAFT BEGINS IN HAWAII.

Honolulu, Nov. 3.—The drawing for the selective draft in the Hawaiian Islands began yesterday, was concluded late last night. Eight thousand, two hundred and eight capsules, representing a registration of 29,000 eligible men, were placed in a bowl and withdrawn by territorial officials.

Deryll K. Dunbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, 1113 Eliza street, is one of Uncle Sam's sailors on the cruiser Nashville. He writes that he is well pleased with the navy. Within the past few weeks he spent considerable time at Gibraltar. He enlisted on April 14, 1917.

DR. GEORGE MURPHY ANSWERS LAST CALL

Veteran Soldier and Physician Dies After Years of Faithful Service.

Dr. George Murphy died this morning at 12:30. He was born at Cleveland, Ohio, June 24, 1838. His family removed to Keene, N. H., and later returned to Huntington, Ind., where he lived with his uncle, Dr. E. G. Wheelock, with whom he began the study of medicine. He later graduated at the Western Reserve Medical college at Cleveland, O., and then took post-graduate work at Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia.

Dr. Murphy practiced medicine for many years at Spencerville and Leo and about six years ago moved to Fort Wayne, where he died. In 1861, Dr. Murphy, while in practice of his profession at Leo, enlisted as a private in Company E, Thirtieth Indiana Infantry, Captain J. M. Silvers commanding. He served three years in the army, was wounded three times in battle of Murfreesboro and retired from the army at the close of the war with the commission of captain. He lectured in the Fort Wayne Medical college on chemistry and toxicology. Dr. Murphy was a natural student and few men had his accomplishments in the exact sciences. He was twice married. First to Nancy L. Dever in 1866 by whom he had three children: Mrs. Mary E. Decker and John R., a soldier, are living.

JERSEY SALOONS CLOSE.

New York, Nov. 3.—Nearly 300 saloons in three New Jersey towns—Hoboken, Jersey City and Weehawken, closed their doors at midnight last night to stay closed for the duration of the war, following an order by A. J. Steelman, assistant United States district attorney. Under the mandate, Hoboken lost 270 of its 330 saloons.

OIL CITY FIRE NOT SERIOUS.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 3.—Special dispatches received here from Shreveport shortly before noon stated that the fire at Oil City, La., was under control and that no lives were under control at 11 a. m. The fire started in a tailor shop, the dispatch stated, and burned several small buildings. No oil was burned and the authorities did not believe it was of incendiary origin.

WOULD PUT GERMAN OUT

Teachers Want It Removed from Course in Elementary Schools.

PASS RESOLUTIONS TO AMEND THE LAW

Would Put French and Spanish on Plane With German in High Schools.

Indianapolis, Nov. 3.—Resolutions favoring the repeal of the state law providing for the teaching of German in the elementary schools of the state were adopted unanimously here today at the closing session of the Indiana State Teachers' association conference. The resolution also recommended that the public school law be so amended that public, private and parochial schools be required to teach all subjects in English. Another resolution recommended that Spanish and French be placed on the same basis as German and Latin in the requirements for graduation from a commissioned or certified high school of the state.

Another action taken at the closing session of the conference was to endorse the opinion of the attorney general of the state to the effect that township trustees are not authorized to pay tuition for the transfer of pupils from the public to private or parochial schools and the state school officials were requested by the teachers to take whatever action is necessary to co-operate with the attorney general in putting the opinion into effect.

The persons named by the nominating committee yesterday all were elected today. They were: President, Horace Ellis, state superintendent of public instruction; recording secretary, Miss Harriet McClellan, of Muncie, and permanent secretary, treasurer, Charles O. Williams, of Richmond.

Police Find Attempts of Burglary at First-Hamilton Bank.

A northside denizen who bellows in coal conservation got indignant when the door of his domicile was left ajar by a meter inspector and trailed the offender to a neighbor's where punishment was inflicted. Judge Kerr assessed $1 and costs on the householder, who paid.

McMaren Released. William McMaren, a one-legged drunk from Gary, was let go as was William Gold. Edward Storey made a nuisance of himself at the Pennsylvania and Wabash depots and was given $5 and costs.

Gets Continuance. The case of Eugene Delagrang, arrested for passing a bad check, was continued until November 5. It was another case of sleepy attorney, all attempts to reach the man's counsel were made but he could not be located.

Is Hit by Dog. John Arnen, 609 Barr street, suffered severe hurts when he was bit by a vicious dog on East street. The man's injuries were such as to warrant medical treatment.

New Bank Robbery. Fort Wayne had a new bank robbery Friday evening. While on his beat Friday night, Officer Linniger discovered that the rear door to the First and Hamilton National bank had been "jimmied." Investigation showed that the door had been forced with a heavy bar, the knob being totally shattered. No trace of the thieves could be found.

Two Auto Accidents. Walter Klobe, 1117 Garden street, reported to the police that his machine hit A. C. Brase, the grocery keeper, at the corner of Main and Barr streets. The car ran over Brase's foot but did not injure him seriously enough to prevent his walking away.

Harry McKnight, New Haven R. R., reported to the police that his machine hit J. Ulmer, 1220 Little street, Friday evening. Ulmer was injured about the head but was able to walk to his home.

MANY FORGET EXTRA STAMP ON MAIL

The accumulation of two cent letters is rapidly growing larger at the postoffice. Although the fact that the new three cent postal law was to go into effect Thursday has been widely advertised, the people in Fort Wayne persist in forgetting about it. A large number of letters and cards have been mailed at the postoffice bearing one and two stamps. These letters will be held for postage or sent forward collected.

DOVES COOING AGAIN IN REBUILT NESTS

Two Couples Are Willing to Forget Bitter Words and Everything.

Heathstone fires of love are rekindled in two homes which were shaken asunder by charges of bad faith several months ago and over which brooded for a season the clouded shadow of divorce.

Two couples dismissed their divorce complaints in superior court Saturday morning as a result of their having started once more along the narrow trail of domestic happiness.

Divorce action of George Keller and cross-complaint of his wife, Edith Keller, were stricken from the records after the documents bearing the embittered words of the pair had been on file for a month. George alleged that Edith accused him falsely in the matter of his relations with other women and that his wife would lay awake and talk to him at night, thus spoiling his sleep. She did not like to have him go to lodge, either, he set out.

Edith offered the comeback that George would not provide and that there was a modicum of truth in the stories about his knowing other women.

But that is history now. Paul Withington ordered the case dropped in which he had asked that all ties between himself and Lavina Withington be severed. He had alleged that she nagged at him and that she called him bad names and stayed away from home.

CAMPAIGN IS NEARING END

VOTERS TO DECIDE ON NEXT TUESDAY

Cutshall Fails to Say the War is a Righteous One, in Final Address.

Voters of all political parties are invited to attend the big democratic mass meeting to be held this evening in the assembly room of the court house at which Judge John H. Alken, Harry H. Hilgemann and Maurice C. Niezer candidate for mayor, will present the issues in the present municipal campaign which is nearing a close.

The final meeting of the campaign was held by the republicans last evening in the court house assembly room with W. Sherman Cutshall, republican nominee for mayor, as the principal speaker. Mr. Cutshall failed to say that the war in which we are now engaged is a just and a righteous war. He did say, however, that he wanted an opportunity of "cleaning out the city hall," but made no reference to his letter to Mayor Hoesy asking for his appointment as controller. Other speakers were Judge O. N. Heaton, B. Paul Mossman and Harry Hogan.

Three Rousing Meetings were held by the democrats Friday evening in Hoffman's hall, corner Knitters avenue and West Main street; in the Bloomington school and at 2005 Maumee avenue. Besides Mr. Niezer, addresses were delivered by H. L. Somers, Judge John W. Eggeman, Judge J. H. Alken, W. S. O'Rourke, Charles M. Niezer, Harry Hilgemann and William Fruechtman.

On the Gas Rate. "One of the first important duties that will confront the next mayor of the city will be to protect the interest of the people in the adjustment of the new gas rate for the city," Mr. Niezer declared. "This is made necessary because the present 35-cent gas contract will expire in April of next year. If I am elected mayor of your city I pledge you that I will consent to nothing except the lowest possible rate that can be procured for the consumer. This question is vital to our citizens. Gas is now a commodity that is used in almost every home in the city. It has become a necessity like water and electric light, and as such care and caution should be exercised in regulating the price and supply of this commodity as has been exercised in establishing the present low and reasonable rates for water, light and power."

May Mean Municipal Plant. "Any attempt to obtain an unfair rate for gas will be met by such steps as are necessary for the procurement at the earliest date of a municipally-owned gas plant. The city of Fort Wayne has demonstrated its ability through efficiency in its administration to properly engage in and maintain the business of furnishing utilities of this kind to the citizens. With our great successes in the waterworks and lighting departments standing out as object lessons, we can safely say to anyone seeking a gas franchise that the city of Fort Wayne stands prepared to obtain a fair and reasonable rate, or it will engage in the business of furnishing to the citizens this commodity. This is a very important question and your next mayor will have a severe contest in its adjustment. There is at this time pending before the utility commission of Indiana a petition by practically all of the gas companies in the state of Indiana for an increase of one-third in all of the present rates in the different cities and in this petition is included our present rate. If this petition is not present rate. If this petition is not disposed of before the 1st of January next year, and I am elected your mayor I assure you that it will be contested."

Batchelors Expect to Win. The Batchelor club football team expects to add another victory to their season's record Sunday when they line up against the fast Montgomerie team. The Batchelors have won two games, lost two and tied one so far this season and will go to the Blackford county city with confidence of winning their third game. The teams were booked for last Sunday, but the game was cancelled because of the bad weather.

Machine Kills Horse. A horse belonging to Mrs. Porter, was so badly hurt in an automobile accident yesterday that Dr. Ed Gruber was forced to kill the animal. The mishap occurred at the corner of Lewis and Harrison streets, when Mrs. Porter cut the corner, driving in front of a machine driven by Mike Costello, 2115 California avenue. The prompt assistance of Dr. Gruber soon put the animal out of its misery.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

(MARK MASTERS IN THE EXPOSITION.)

The greatest devotional book of the sixteenth century is the book entitled "Rule and Exercise of Holy Living," by Jeremy Taylor. The son of a baronet, Jeremy Taylor rose to the office of a bishop in the Church of England and became one of the greatest scholars of his day. For three centuries his book has influenced the Christian world and will continue to be one of the best books for the quiet hour. It has been translated into many languages and has gone through hundreds of editions. No better advice can be found for the development of the inner life than that contained in this little book. We give herewith the briefest possible outline of the valuable treatise on Rule and Exercise of Holy Living.

- 1—The Care of Time.
The life of every man may be so ordered that it may be perpetual service of God. Everyone has room enough that there shall be no work for idleness. As long as idleness is shut out from our lives all the sins of wantonness and softness are prevented and there is little danger of temptation. Here then are his rules for employing our time.
- 1—On awaking in the morning think first of God and his service and close the day with thoughts of God.
- 2—Let everyone that hath a calling be diligent in the pursuit of life.
- 3—Let all intervals of time be employed in prayer, meditation and reading.
- 4—Avoid the company of drunkards and busybodies.
- 5—Let your employment be fit to your age and understanding.
- 6—Don't spend more time on your dress than on your devotions.
- 7—Cut off all useless employment.
- 8—Don't let your recreation take all your time. Make your recreations serve you rather than you serve them.
- 9—Set apart a portion of every day for solemn devotion, and religious employment. Let nothing encroach upon that time.
- 10—Don't let the work of God negligently or rapidly. Let not your heart be upon the world when you pray. St. Thomas Moore was sent for by the king but did not answer back that he would attend him when he had first performed his services to the King of cars.
- 11—A certain time every year we should for a time turn from all other things for a period of fasting and prayer.
- 12—Let all things be done prudently and moderately.

II—The Purity of Intention.
We should intend and design God's glory in every act. "Do all to the glory of God." Holy intention is to the action of a man what roots are to a tree. Here are his rules to guide our intentions.

- 1—In every action reflect on the end. Why do I do it?
- 2—All actions should begin with prayer that God will not only bless the act but also sanctify the purpose. Here, too, are some of the signs of the purity of intention.
- (1) That we should be as zealous in our religious actions as we are in our temporal affairs.
- (2) He who does as well in private between God and his own soul, as in public has given himself a good testimony that his purposes are full of honesty and integrity.
- (3) It is well when we are not solicitous as to the effect of our actions.
- (4) He that despises the world and its vanities is the most secure in his intentions because he is the farthest removed from temptations.

III—Rules for the Practice of the Presence of God.
The Presence of God is in all places and sees all actions and knows all discourses and understands all thoughts, is taught by the Scriptures.

"Do not I fill heaven and earth?"

"Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight, but all things are naked and open to the eyes of him with whom we have to do."

"In him we live and move and have our being."

No more can we be removed from the presence of God than from his own being. God is everywhere present in essence and power. He manifests himself in holy places, in solemn assemblies and in the lives of his followers. How can we realize and practice his presence at all times?

1. Think frequently that God is here filling every place. And say with David, "Whither shall I go from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven thou art there: if I make my bed in hell thou art there."
- 2—In beginning an action solemnly worship God and place yourself in his presence, behold him with the eye of faith, and let your desires be fixed upon him, as the object of worship.

the reason of hope, and the fountain of blessing.

- 3—Try to see in everything the power and excellence of God and let your conversation lead to him. It is his sun that shines upon us, his fire that warms us, his water that refreshes us. Do we know that God is the owner and dispenser of all things?
- 4—In retirement have frequent converse with God. Have a chapel in your own heart where you may often go for devotion.
- 5—God is in us and we in him. We are the works of his hands, let us not dole his workmanship. We are in his company, let us not pollute it.

Many benefits flow from the exercise of these rules. Among them the following:

- (1) They are an excellent help in prayer, producing in us reverence and actual devotion.
- (2) They produce confidence in God, patience in trouble, and hope of remedy.
- (3) They help us to realize that God is with us in our actions, to preserve us; in our recreations to restrain us; in our sleep to watch over us. If we walk with God in all our ways we shall find perpetual reasons to enable us to keep that excellent rule, "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say rejoice."
- (4) The realization of God's presence helps to restrain wandering thoughts, establishes the heart in good purposes and leads to perseverance.

IV—Rules Governing the Practice of Prayer.

- 1—Never ask anything of God that is sinful or that ministers to sin. Ask of God good power and assistance to do your duty; to glorify God; to do good works; to live a good life; to die in the fear and favor of God and gain eternal life.
- 2—We may pray for God for the gifts of the Spirit.
- 3—We may pray for temporal benefits as food, raiment and conveniences.
- 4—If we would pray with effect we must live with care and piety.
- 5—All prayer must be made in faith and hope.
- 6—Our prayers must be fervent, intense, earnest and importunate. As St. Paul teaches: "striving in prayer," "laboring fervently in prayer," "night and day, praying exceedingly," "praying always with all prayer."
- 7—Our prayers should be as continuous as our desires. Jesus taught "that men ought always to pray and not to faint." Paul says that we should "pray without ceasing," then we must always pray for the forgiveness of sins, for the assistance of God's grace, for charity, for life eternal and for all temporal affairs.
- 8—In all forms of prayer mingle petition with thanksgiving.
- 9—Let your posture of body in prayer be reverent, grave and humble. These rules put into any life and faithfully followed will make that life a power for God.

British Workers Aim Shattering Blow at the Liquor Traffic

The London correspondent of the Glasgow Herald, writing on July 9, says: "That not all working men are discontented with what some regard as a beer shortage seems to be proved by a resolution which a large branch of an important trade-union has just passed. By an overwhelming majority it was decided to 'petition parliament to suspend the manufacture of intoxicating liquors during the war in order that ingredients used in the manufacture of the said liquors be used for bread and other foodstuffs, which are much more needed.' They are, they go on to declare, 'amazed at the silly twaddle to be read in many of our leading newspapers concerning the eating of less bread, etc., while this evil is permitted to exist, and they suggest that the numbers of underfed and half-dressed children give a fair idea of what beer and the monopolist legislating class have brought us to.' The resolution is a curious mixture of advanced trade-unionism and orthodox teetotalism, but that it fairly expresses the real views of an organized body of working men cannot with safety be doubted."

There is no experience in any life which, if rightly regarded, rightly turned, and thereby wisely used, cannot be made of value. Many times things thus turned and used can be made sources of inestimable gain; oftentimes they become veritable blessings in disguise.—Waldo Trine.

AMERICA

(THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH.)
Wide open and unguarded stand our gates,
Named of the four winds, North, South, East and West;
Portals that lead to an enchanted land
Of prairies, forests, fields of living gold,
Vast cities, lordly summits touched with snow,
Majestic rivers sweeping proudly past
The Arab's date palm and the Norseman's pine—
A realm wherein are fruits of every zone,
Airs of all climates, for, lo! throughout the year
The red rose blossoms somewhere—a rich land,
A later Eden planted in the wilds,
With not an inch of earth within its bound
But if a slave foot press, it sets him free.
Here, it is written, Toil shall have its wage,
And Honor honor, and the humblest man
Stand level with the highest in the law.
On such a land have men in dungeons dreamed,
And with the vision brightening in their eyes
Gone smiling to the fagot and the sword.

The Lad Whose Love of Truth Influenced All Those About Him

(British Evangelist.)

Burt and Johnny Lee were delighted when their Scotch cousin came to live with them. He was little but very bright and full of fun. He could tell curious things about his home in Scotland and his voyage across the ocean. He was as far advanced in his studies as they were, and the first day he went to school they thought him remarkably good. He wasted no time in play when he should have been studying, and he advanced finely. At night before the close of the school, the teacher called the roll and the boys began to answer "Ten." When Willie understood that he was to say "Ten" if he had not whispered during the day, he replied: "I have whispered."

"More than once?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, sir," answered Willie.

"As many as ten times?"

"Maybe I have," faltered Willie.

"Then I mark you zero," said the teacher, sternly; "and that is a great disgrace."

"Why, I did not see you whisper once," said Johnnie that night after school.

"Well, I did," said Willie. "I saw others doing it, and so I asked to borrow a book; then I lent a steel pencil and asked a boy for a knife, and did several such things. I supposed it was allowed."

"Oh, we all do it!" said Burt, reddening. "There isn't any sense in the old rule; and nobody could keep it—nobody does."

"I will, or else I will say I haven't," said Willie. "Do you suppose I would tell lies in one heap?"

"Oh, we don't call them lies," muttered Johnnie. "There wouldn't be a credit among us at night if we were so strict."

"What of that, if you have told the truth?"

In a short time the boys all saw how it was with him. He studied hard, played with all his might in playtime, but with all his might in playtime, he lost more credits than any of the rest. After some weeks the boys answered "Nine" and "Eight" oftener than they used to. Yet the school room seemed to have grown quieter. Sometimes when Willie Grant's mark was even lower than usual, the teacher would smile peculiarly, and said no more of disgrace. Willie never preached at them or told tales; but somehow it made the boys ashamed of themselves, just the seeing that this sturdy, blue-eyed boy must tell the truth. It was putting the clean cloth by the half-soiled one, you see; and they felt like clean boys, and they told him all their secrets and loved him, if they did nickname him "Scotch Granite," he was so firm about a promise.

Well, at the end of the term Willie's name was very low down on the credit list. When it was read he had hard work not to cry, for he was very sensitive, and he had tried hard to be perfect. But the very last thing that day was a speech by the teacher, who told of once seeing a man muffled up in a cloak. He was passing him without a look, when he was told the man was General Garibaldi, the great hero. "The signs of his rank were hidden, but the hero was there just the same," said the teacher. "And now, boys, you will see what I mean when I give a little gold medal to the most faithful boy—the one really the most conscientiously 'perfect in his deportment' among you. Who shall have it?"

"Little Scotch Granite!" shouted forty boys at once; for the child whose name was so "low" on the credit list had made truth noble in their eyes.

Each Year Baby Dies Before It Is Year Old in This Country

One baby out of every ten dies before it is one year of age in the cities of the United States with a population of 25,000 and over, according to statistics just issued by the New York milk committee.

At the same time the death rate among babies in the larger American cities has been reduced 11 per cent. since 1910, says this same report.

This reduction has been made among cities of 100,000 population and over. The smaller cities have not done so well. The reduction in cities between 50,000 and 100,000 population is only 2 per cent., while those under 50,000 show an increase of 5 per cent. The general reduction in death rate is 9 per cent.

The lowest death rate in the country in 1916 among the cities of 100,000 and over was in Portland, Ore., with a record of only 55 baby deaths per 1,000 births. Fall River, Mass., is the highest with a rate of 163.

Infant mortality is said to be the most sensitive index of social welfare. In war times it may well serve as a guide for cities and local communities in child welfare activities.

After three years of war Great Britain and Germany are planning national movements for maternity, infant and child conservation, hoping in this way within a few years to replace the man power lost in the war.

The marked decrease in infant deaths did not begin in this country until 1910, when organized infant welfare work became general.

Best Methods for Keeping Disease from the Home.

What are some of the best methods of preventing diseases?

Everyone should know the answers to this question.

First, give immediate attention to any illness that may arise in your family and isolate the patient until a diagnosis has been made by your physician.

Second, realize the necessity of personal habits of cleanliness, especially as regards the bath, change of clothing, washing the hands before eating and so forth.

Children should be warned about putting the fingers into their mouths or nostrils.

Kissing of children should be avoided.

When sneezing or coughing a handkerchief should be held over the mouth. This is most important.

The law against spitting should be rigidly observed.

All food should be carefully protected and not exposed to contamination.

Thorough cleanliness of all floors, woodwork, bedding and utensils should be carried out.

Avoidance of dust should be insisted upon. Sweeping of floors should be done only after they have been sprinkled with moist sawdust or tea leaves.

Swat the fly—attack its breeding place.

Keep garbage cans covered so that they do not become a menace to the community.

All sick domestic animals should be excluded from the house.

Help to keep your neighborhood in a clean and sanitary condition.

The Way in Which Worry Undermines the Human Health

(Selected.)

Worry has come to be a question of hygiene rather than a religion. Whether immoral or not, it is certainly unhealthy, so the doctors tell us. Whatever its effect upon the soul, it is known to injure the body.

If the medical man is correct in his latest deductions, many of his most distressing of our physical ailments are due to worry alone.

The pulse of a worried man is irregular. It beats intermittently and its force varies greatly. He sighs frequently. His respiration is repressed. He is likely to be pale. His extremities are cold.

There is but one meaning to this. Through the marvelous influence which mind exercises upon matter the worry has gripped the heart, the circulation is impaired, and chronic heart disease is to be feared unless the worry ceases.

The stomach is likely to suffer also. The same worry which disturbs the heart's functions plays havoc with digestion often. Recent observations demonstrate that when one is in extreme anxiety there is relaxation and decreased mobility throughout the entire alimentary tract. The appetite fails. The secretions are disturbed. Should the anxiety continue, the subject is almost certain to become a confirmed dyspeptic.

The effect of worry upon the internal glands has not been fully studied. Enough is known, however, to assure the physician that it affects the secretions of these glands very seriously through the systematic nerves. It thus produces an important agent in becoming exophthalmic goitre and a train of other ills that can only be defined when the real functions of the glands in question are more adequately studied. Insomnia, a most fruitful source of physical ills, is a certain consequence of worry. Diabetes is often due to the same cause.

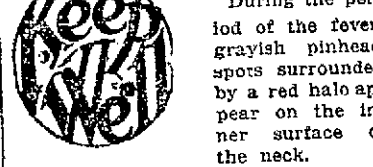

LEARN TWO THINGS.

You want to be true, and you are trying to be. Learn these two things: Never to be discouraged because good things get on slowly here, and never to fall daily to do that good which lies next your hand. Do not be in a hurry, but be diligent. Enter into that sublime patience of the Lord.—George MacDonald.

YOUR HEALTH AND HOW YOU CAN KEEP IT

The Earlier Child Gets Measles the More Dangerous It Is.

Measles begins with a cold and fever. After three or four days there is headache and nausea.

During the period of the fever, grayish pinhead spots surrounded by a red halo appear on the face and on the inner surface of the neck.

An eruption in the form of small red areas (which soon become clustered on the forehead) begins to appear on the fourth or fifth day of illness. This rapidly spreads over the face and body.

The disease varies greatly in its severity, but mild cases often give rise to severe cases in others. The disease is most serious in children under five years of age.

A child under five is many times more likely to die from measles than a child of ten.

The chief complications are pneumonia, ear disease and the lighting up of latent tuberculosis.

The infectious agent is contained in the discharge of the nose, throat, eyes and ears and infection may apparently be communicated at least two days before the eruption appears on the face.

The germs usually remain active in these discharges for only two or three days after the rash begins to appear, so that measles is usually not communicable after the fever has subsided.

The fine scales on the body do not transmit the germ and the infection is probably air borne except in the sense that droplets thrown out in forced breathing or coughing or sneezing may convey it.

Here's a Little Story That Will Stir Your Heart

(Selected.)

Carol Winn stood peering wonderingly into the yard through the broken hedge. It was such a jolly yard, he thought, with its thick carpet of grass, dotted with trees and rustic seats; its big, vine-covered summer house; and, best of all, the small, glassy pond nestling between two great clumps of trees.

He drew a long, envious breath and thought of the big tenement block without so much as a foot of land about it, where he lived on the top floor with his father and mother and three brothers. "I wish," he muttered, half aloud—"I do wish I could swap!"

At almost the same instant the door of the great house opened and a lad of about Carol's size came out and stood on the top step.

This lad came down the steps and stood looking half hesitatingly about, as if he didn't quite know what to do next. Then he spied Carol's eyes through the hole in the hedge, and he dashed into a quick smile. "Hello!" he called. "Come on in. This's jolly!"

Slowly Carol went around to the gate. He was suddenly conscious of his worn suit, of the immaculate one of the other boy, "You Bert Pierce?" he asked, as the new boy opened the gate.

"Yes. But say, you fellows are awful stiff round here! Been here a week, and not a boy has shown up." He drove his hands into his pockets. "Aunt Em says they likely feel the difference. Don't know why they should." His voice was gruff. "But say, want to see my dog?"

Side by side they crossed to the gate, and again Carol drew an envious breath at sight of the handsome mastiff that sprang to meet them. Then they went over the barn and down to the pond and at last into the great house with its big, airy-rooms, full of the most beautiful things Carol had ever dreamed of. Up in Bert's own room they overhauled books and games, fishing tackle and all the other things in which a boy's heart delights; and then Aunt Em came to the door and invited Carol to stay to tea, which she said would be ready soon.

With a wondering look at the clock, Carol said that his mother would be looking for him and the two boys went down stairs together and out of the gate.

"Hope you'll come again soon," said Bert, cordially, "and bring some of the other boys along."

Carol nodded. "A right," he agreed. But when he would have started on, something in the bright, keen eyes of the other boy held him back.

"Aren't you going to ask me to come 'nd see you?"

It was out. Cheeks scarlet, but eyes straight and manly, Bert Pierce faced him.

"To see—me?" Before Carol's eyes the stuffy little rooms at the top of the big block seemed suddenly to rise vividly. He swallowed. "Why—why," he stammered, "you wouldn't like it. We're shabby—side o' you, you know."

"Got a father or a mother?" Bert's eyes flashed.

"Sure, I have."

"If you hadn't—Bert's voice got suddenly very gruff—"you'd know how much a fellow needs to borrow—then a bit from somebody else now and then."

"But—" Carol's eyes wandered about the yard; somehow, he couldn't see very well.

"This O"—Bert swung the gate sharply—"what's this?"

"Say"—Carol's voice was suddenly ringing out steady and true; for after all, what was this—trees and yard and dog, and all the rest, without—"we wouldn't have a thing except mush and milk for supper," he said. "But ma's all right, and dad and the boys are all right. If you want to come along on shares—"

"Want to?" The new boy's eyes flashed. "Just you wait," he laughed, "I'll get my cap, and you'll see!"

(The American Issue.)
A little more than a year ago the surgeon-general of the United States army made the startling statement before the joint military committee of congress that more than half of the young men who applied for enlistment in the army and navy, and were rejected, owed their rejection to drink and the excesses which those who drink so often indulge in.

Our country was not then at war, and the statement did not make as profound an impression as it ought to make now. Uncle Sam demands boys for his army and navy who are physically fit. The wedding-out process has begun. The best of the youth of the country will be sent to the front. The physically unfit will be left at home, and will be of as little account here as in the trenches in France.

Germany has for years been preparing for the conquest of the world, and in our own country German brewers have been helping Germany by undermining the virility of the young manhood of the United States. The beer-hozaers, the saloon hangers-on, have been as effectively put out of commission as though shot down by German bullets, and German brewers have rendered this valuable service to the Kaiser.

Now in this war crisis we find these same brewers giving an exposition of their disloyalty by establishing a big lobby in Washington and threatening to strangle the government if it does anything that will in any way injure the beer industry. It is time for loyal American citizens, whether of German extraction or of whatever nationality they come, to rise up in mass and demand the death of this German beer autocracy.

The whole business of the whole church is to preach the whole Gospel to the whole world.—J. Campbell White.

THE SUFFICIENCY OF CHRIST JESUS KNEW THE BITTERNESS OF DISAPPOINTMENT OF HOPE

(Horace T. Houff in the Word and Way)

Jesus knew the bitterness of disappointed hope. His ambition was one which took in the whole world but it was wholly unselfish. He offered himself as the messenger of light and the author of life, and the embodiment of love, but at that he came into his own and his own received him not. There was no flaw in the perfect gift of God in him, but the world knew him not. Jesus knew. God's faithfulness and believed in the ability of good to prevail over evil in the fullness of time. At the end of his ministry, with a band of disquieted disciples about him, one of them stealing away to sell his Master, and a city of mocking fellow-countrymen at his feet, Jesus lifted himself above present circumstances and with sublime insight said, "Father, I thank thee."

"But I have finished the work." But had he not said already "Greater works than these shall ye do, because I go to my Father?" Jesus knew what was in man, the bad and good. And he left his kingdom in the hands of his followers with one provision only: that God should work in them and they in the world.

This was wise. Moral shrews are developed by moral exercise. The reasonableness of God's claim on us can best be learned in the daily doing of his work. Through the years Jesus' followers have been busied in the carrying out of Jesus' purpose. They have sought to complete his program and have tasted the fruits of the promise of his continual presence. Spiritual seeds and ethical giants have sprung along the way. The succession in which Paul and Luther and Wesley and Moody find their places, is a blessed one. All these, born from above with renewed spirits and the passion for the Kingdom of God on earth, have led out multitudes into the promised land of life in Christ Jesus which is profitable for this world and for the next. The lesser lights in the Kingdom's advance were and are innumerable. But God forgets no labor of love and to have done one's part is reward enough for the King or the King's children. The Kingdom has been coming, not indeed at an equal pace, but it's coming has been certain. Today we see the budding buds or buds in springtime. God still guides those who seek his will and countless hundreds go forth to the day and their labor conscious of the will to serve him faithfully. It was the ability to see this that set at ease the heart of Jesus in these trying days before his going away.

But in this working world of Christians there are many weary toilers who find no joy in their toil and who look for their reward only at the end of the day. They are more apt to feel the struggle of Paul who longed for true effectiveness toward God in the inner man, but felt himself enslaved by a bondage of sinful habit and moral insufficiency comparable even to being chained to the body of one dead. The will indeed is present, but the ability to perform seems a reality far removed. In the days of such there is often much religious activity. The disappointments of the heart are drowned by the din of the doing of many things. But the yoke that is easy works not so. And the burden that is light is borne on other shoulders. Christ will meet the needs of every workman. It is his present ministry to do that. But he can not do it until we turn to him and in our consciousness of insufficiency cry, "Lord, save me or I perish." Who is sufficient for these things? That question arises on the road to power. Paul's word follows it: "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." And here is the secret. His advice is still needed "put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ." Our task is large. The strongholds of the heart must be won over to Jesus Christ. Every thought must come into captivity to him. Those habits must learn to bow the knee. And every part of the personal life must ask "What wilt thou have me do?" In the larger life with others, Jesus must ever be kept to the front. The bringing of the nations to him for justice and judgment can be done in his strength only. But here lies a rich secret of God. The ministry is always for the making of the man. He who ministers and he who receives are the ultimate values with God. And if our work goes slowly or seemingly fails, it still may turn some to righteousness and build us up in those virtues which make us true brothers to Christ and fit children of the Father.

In our endeavors in the finishing out of Christ's purpose, we rest on the sure foundation. There is no other. "Christ is made unto us wisdom and righteousness and sanctification and redemption." This is of God. "The Kingdom is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit." Paul had it this way: "I am crucified with Christ. I no longer live, Christ lives in me." With him it was "Christ in you the hope of glory." God by his Spirit was working out those fruits which were "love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control." Our labors are necessary. God wants them and his Spirit wants us in them. "For God works in you to will and to do of his good pleasure." But above all he wants to build us up into "a holy priesthood, to people peculiarly zealous of good works." Men and women who are like him and who constantly seek his fellowship, such alone can meet the desire of his heart or do him effective service. Heaven will be the society of such servants of him (or friends, because he tells them all things). Our works may disappoint us. God may or may not largely use them. But in laying hold on Christ we become partakers of the divine nature and escape the world of sin and hopelessness. We enter into our inheritance as the children of light. Christ Jesus honors us as his brothers. The law of the Spirit which is "life in Christ Jesus" becomes the law of daily living with us. God continues the transformative work he has begun in us. And in his own time we shall attain, with our works or without them, unto "a full-grown manhood, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." As we travel along the way the promise is ours: "My God will supply every need of yours." And that "according to his riches of glory in Christ Jesus."

THE BEST TRACT.
A patient in the American hospital in Turkey was given a Bible and carried it to his native Armenian village. A priest, seeing the bible in his hand, snatched it from him, tore it to pieces and flung it into the street. A grocer, coming by, picked it up to use as wrapping paper in his store. He wrapped such little purchases as a candle, a bit of cheese, or a few olives, bought by the poorer villagers, in the leaves on which the Word of God was printed. In this strange way that one bible was scattered all through the village. Soon the grocer's customers began to ask him if he had any more leaves. They wanted the rest of the book, which he did not have.

One day a missionary colporteur on his round through the Turkish provinces came to this obscure village. What was his amazement when to him for bibles. No Christian teacher had been at work. The scattered bible had proclaimed its message.—Exchange.

Curious and Unusual Bible Questions

Look at the picture, then turn to your Bible and find the answer to the question. The picture illustrates the verse in which the answer will be found.

Each week we will publish an illustrated question from the Bible and the following week publish the answer. See if you can find the answer before we publish it.

Make a family pastime of this interesting feature—it will amuse and instruct you.

Last Week's Question and the Answer

Last week's query: "For how long did marriage exempt a man from going to war?" is answered in Deuteronomy, Chapter 20, Verse 5.

"When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business: but he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken."

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Relieves Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its quick relief in indigestion, dyspepsia and gastritis when caused by acidity has made it famous the world over.

Keep this wonderful stomach sweetener in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach it helps to neutralize the excessive acidity, then all the stomach distress caused by it disappears. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming such stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

TRY TO KEEP YOUR TEMPER

New War Taxes and the Food Saving May Peeve You, But Cheer Up.

THERE ARE SPOTS WHERE IT'S WORSE

Let Correspondent Lyon Tell You What It's Like in France.

Special Letter from C. C. Lyon, Daily Sentinel Reporter with General Pershing's Army. (Passed as Censored by Major Frederick Palmer.)

Paris, France, Oct. 6.—Said an army officer just arrived in France from America:

"It seems almost impossible to arouse our people to a realization that they are in a great war. We'll have to have casualty lists first."

The French people don't need casualty lists to remind them. Every hour of the day war is impressed on them—when they eat, sleep, talk, travel or seek amusement.

And what goes for the French also goes for the thousands of Americans now in France.

You arrive at a hotel and, naturally, the clerk tries to induce you to take a room with a bath, if he has any such luxury to offer.

Pretty soon you come down to the office morning.

"There's no hot water in that bath," you complain.

He shrugs his shoulders and smiles. "C'est la guerre," he says. "It is the war. We are permitted to have hot water only on Saturdays and Sundays. We must be economical with our coal, you know."

"C'est la guerre"—"It is the war"—is almost a national motto over here. No matter what the trouble is, blame it on the war.

You go into the dining room with a ravenous appetite, figuring on a nice, juicy steak with French fried potatoes, etc. (You know the kind war correspondents eat who have liberal expense accounts.)

But there is no meat. The waiter is grooved because you've forgotten it is Monday.

"It is prohibited to eat meat on Mondays and Tuesdays, monsieur," he says. You soon find that Tuesday is the black day for eating.

On Tuesdays you can neither eat meat nor pastry. Pastry is also forbidden on Wednesdays.

About 40 per cent. of the people in Paris eat their meals in restaurants, and these restrictions on meats and pastries have resulted in enormous savings of food supplies.

If your room at the hotel is dark, you try to turn on the electric lights soon after supper. But there's no light.

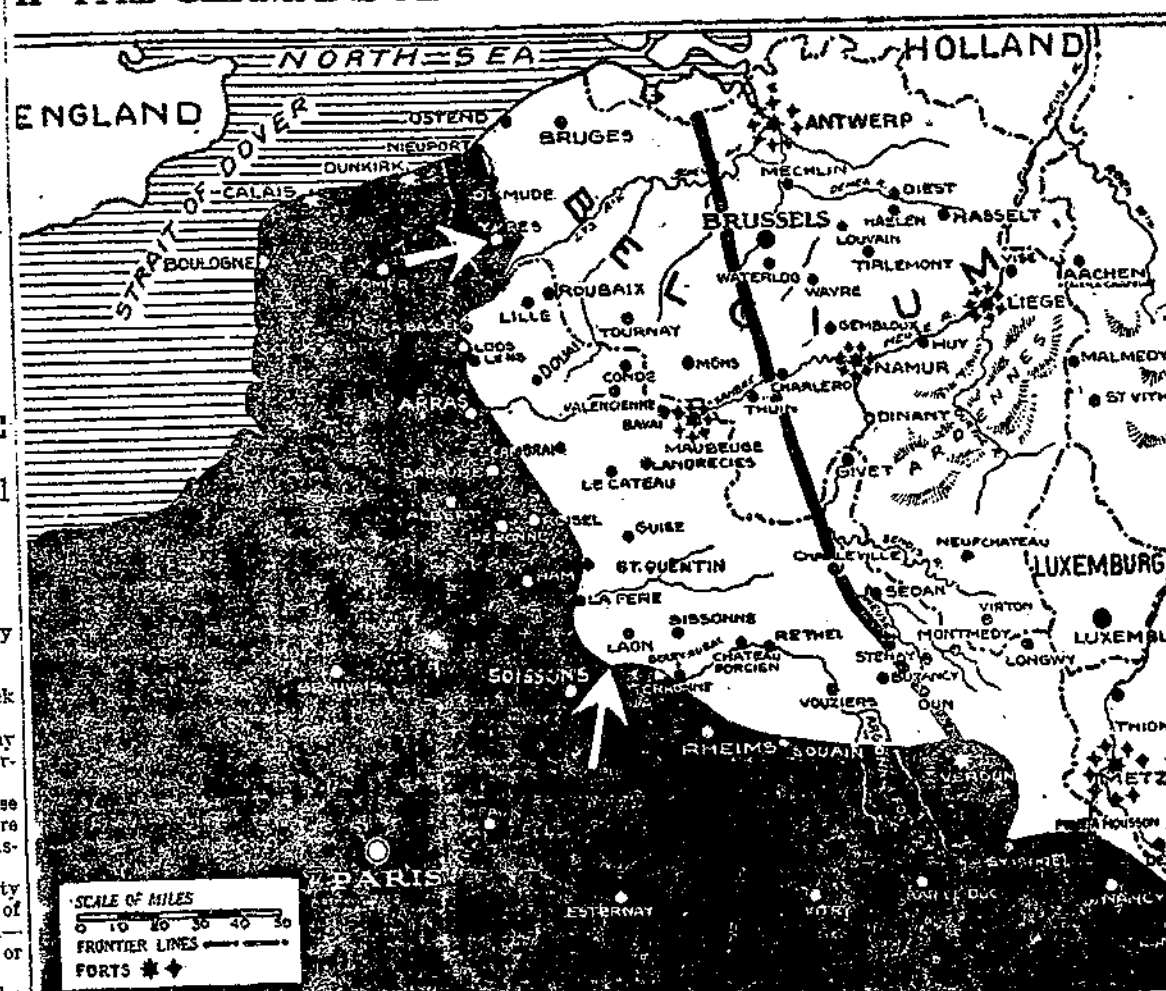

The very minute each evening when "the lights come on" is fixed by law. Conservation of coal again.

If you burn kerosene in lamps or gas in your cook stove your consumption is limited to 65 per cent. of what it was before the war.

Only the rich can afford to run autos any more, because gasoline in France now retails at $1.25 a gallon. It makes one smile to recall the storms of protest in America about a year ago when the price of the juice shot up to about 25 cents a gallon.

You go to the theater, and after the performance you wonder why everybody rushes away pell-mell for the subway entrance.

You follow leisurely, only to discover, when you arrive at the subway, that "the last car is gone." And there are no "owl" cars for late stayers.

"On account of the war, service is prohibited after 11 o'clock," says the sign. If you've missed the last car, the chances are you'll either walk home or stay in a downtown hotel, for taxis in Paris after 10 o'clock are few and far between.

The government allows a taxi driver only so much gasoline every day, so he can run his car only so far, and he's usually run down by dinner time in the evening.

You decide to call a friend over the long distance in another city. "Come to the office and identify yourself," you are told by the operator, and you have to go many blocks to a telephone substation and then you are told you cannot talk if your party lives more than 65 miles away.

Restrictions also govern the sending of telegrams. Always your identification papers must be produced and then dispatches can only be sent in French for France, in Italian for Italy, in English for England and the United States. For all other countries, French only.

All shops must be closed at 6:30 in the evening, the idea being to economize light.

You can't buy a gun or pistol under any circumstances during the period of war.

Every line in every newspaper has been censored by the government before publication, and the big blank spaces that so often appear are sure signs that something was cut out that might have given "information or comfort" to the enemy.

And as to photography—you almost take your life in your hands to appear in public with a camera.

"C'est la guerre," the policeman apologizes who nabs you and tells you to get rid of your picture-taking.

Deceased Had Been in Poor Health for a Number of Months.

St. Joe, Ind., Nov. 3.—James K. Ricket, for many years a resident of this section of the county, died at his home, four miles northeast of St. Joe, Sunday morning and was interred Wednesday in the Spencerville cemetery.

Mr. Ricket had been ailing for some months, but the end came as stated after a relapse on Thursday.

St. Joe Brief Items.

October 25 The Sentinel contained a one line local stating that St. Joe needed a general store. Wednesday J. W. Sherer received a letter from a gentleman at Sydney, Ind., proposing to be a "Johnny on the Spot," but a deal had been closed an hour before with Mr. Dunkle for the Big Four business rooms with A. M. Inhof & Co., of Corona, who will operate a first-class general store. Some of the goods have arrived and the store will be in operation within a week. Hope he'll bump old high price.

Next Sunesof Cer ar-lo Tomorrow will be "Go to Sunday School" day. Do it and get acquainted with your neighbor. Maybe you'll like him.

Rev. J. C. Coon preached a patriotic sermon Sunday morning at St. Joe schoolhouse. At times he approached very close the border land of patriotic eloquence.

The St. Joe Valley bank's apportionment of the second liberty loan was $14,000. The bank reports $18,000 subscribed.

Mrs. Aida Brown, well known in this vicinity, was called to her home on Rivermet avenue Monday evening in consequence of an operation to be performed upon her son, Paul, and his wife, Lennie. The operation consisted in the removal of the tonsils of each and was performed at St. Joseph hospital, Fort Wayne, by Dr. Titus on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Aida Brown was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Glinther, and son John.

What came very nearly being a double tragedy occurred Wednesday when Merritt Hull and a Mr. Zonker attempted to cross the St. Joe river in a small boat to go hunting. The swift current threw the boat into a treetop, upsetting the boat and throwing men and guns into the water. They finally got hold of a limb and called for help. Some men who were erecting a monument in the cemetery near by heard their cries and came with ropes to their assistance and succeeded in rescuing them in the nick of time, as they were so chilled and exhausted that they could have clung to the limb but a few minutes longer. Their guns were dumped into the river and the boat was carried away by the current and also lost.

EDWARD WOODWORTH DIES IN SERVICE

Is Second Fort Wayne Boy to Meet Death by Drowning.

Following closely the wire announcing the death of Joe Schultz, the American sailor, word was received of the drowning of Edward Woodworth. Woodworth was the first American boy to lose his life in the service. He was a second class seaman on board the steamship Calcuco. He met his death by drowning while in swimming in White bay, off the Arctic ocean on July 15.

Woodworth was an inmate of the Allen county orphan's home for fourteen years and through his disposition was a favorite with Mrs. Ida Overmeyer, matron of the home. Woodworth was buried in a Lutheran cemetery at Arch Angel. The body of Schultz, the other victim, was sent to Fort Wayne and will be interred here.

Why Airplane Aileen Flies Over Trenches

Mrs. H. S. Struble and, below, Lieut. Harry Chisman climbing out of the airplane Aileen which he named after her.

(Special Dispatch.) Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—A budding international war romance has been shattered because the girl in the case, a daughter of Dixie, was true blue to the Stars and Stripes.

Just about a year ago Lieut. Harry Chisman, British aviator, was a visitor in America. Rumor has it he lost his heart to Miss Aileen Fielder, of Atlanta, Ga., of proverbial southern beauty. At any rate when Lieutenant Chisman returned to the old country he named his aeroplane "Aileen" for "the girl back there" in America. Friends of the two were confident that if the "Aileen" lasted the war through her owner would return to claim the original of the name.

But they had not figured on Miss Fielder's patriotism. Miss Fielder met Capt. Herbert Spencer Struble, United States Army, stationed near her Atlanta home at an officers' training camp. Miss Fielder today is "Mrs. Captain" Struble, ready, if need be, to follow her husband to France.

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Cleanses the Little Liver and Bowels and They Get Well Quick.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle thorough cleansing at once. When croup, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs," to evacuate the bowels, no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

EDDYTORIUL ON "NO FAIR"

Jest as we was about to go to press without this issue of the Boogle it dawnd on us like a clap of thunder that we haddent leard ennythink about a annual Bingville Fair a going to be held this yr at the old race track fair grounds across Snake Creek as usual which fair has been held evry yr in our midst sinst time immorral, as we mite say & has therefore become a reglar institooshion, so we grabd our hat and rushed across to Cy Hoskins who is presydent and Treasurer of the Bingville Agriculhooral Association to ascertain what the reason was if enny.

We found Cy settin dozin in the sun on his front piazza and when we woked him up and askd him what about the annual Bingville Fair Cy said hed been so all ramd up with one thing & another that he had also went and forgot all about the Fair and haddent therefor cald a mtg of the Assosiation.

Cy jumpd up like as if a bee had stung him and run into the house and come bustin out again in a minnit with a callender in his hand and when he found it was the tail end of Ocktober he said by the time he cald a mtg. of the Assosiation and made a rangements for the Fair there would likely be snow instid of fair weather on fair day and this being the case he told us we could a nounce in the Boogle that there wouldnt be no fair this yr owink to the fack of hard times in general or some other excuse which we could think up, but for goodness sakes not to state the facks in the case to the effect that he had went and forgot all about the fair being as that would reflect on him as Presyent & Treasurer of the Assosiation.

If Cy Hoskins or ennybuddy else expects us to cuver up their criminal carelessness by deceiving our readers by lying in their behalf hes a good eal mistaken, thats all. Not only that but wed like to know whot disposishion Cy Hoskins has made of the $11 odd dollars and some cts which remained in the treasury last yr after all the expenses of the Fair was paid off? Is these $11 dollars and some cts dooce em? If so let Cy perdoce em. Have they been drawing interest? Then wheris the interest?

It is our opinyun that Cy Hoskins diddnt forgit about the Bing-ville Fair a tail. It would be ridicklus & absurd in the extrem for him to do a thing like that. Its our opinyun that Cy thort hed jest nacherly not say nothink about the fair until it got too late to hold one so he could appropriate them $11 dollars and some odd cts to his own use.

We wouldnt go so far as to say that Cy Hoskins is a grafter and is using them funds for his own selfish ends but thats our opinyun.

What will Hardscrabble our rival town say when they lern that Bingville aint a going to have no fair this yr? Hardscrabble Fair was held last wk and it was a big sucksess. Hardscrabblers will now pint the finger of skorn at us and skoff and jeer becuz we aint a going to have no fair this yr and all thru the criminal keernessness of Cy Hoskins. In our opinyun Cy ort to be impechd for mal feastsants in offfis and the sooner the quicker.

Births

Jest as we go to press we are glad to a nounce that a child has arrived to bless the union of Mr. and Miss Lime Peterson. So far as we can find out the mother is doing well, but the father aint enny too pleased being as this makes the sixth offspring for Lime to support and we have offerd heard him state that he cornsiderd five sufficient. We aint had time to ascertain the sex of the child but will let you know in next weeks Bugle whether its a boy or a girl. We persoon its one or tiber but unt shure which at this writing.

LATER—We have jest lern at the last minnit that there was no baby borned to Mr. and Mrs. Peterson a tall. It was Rubie Whitteby who told us. Rubie had been sparkin Miss Winnie Miller and paid by the Petersons at 2 a. M. Being as the Peterson residents was all lit up and furthermore being as Rubie as he paid by seen Doc Livermore go in. Rubie nacherly concluded that there was a addition in the family at Petersons and informd us to that effect. We a thort Rubie knowd what he was made a talkin about which is why we made the a nouncement as per above. We wisht to goodness that folks would be more akeryate in givin us news. However this sort to lern us not to count our chickens afore they be hatchd.

News in this vicinity is quite skeerce as we go to press. The nights is quite coolish herabouts at present. How be they in Bingville?

Bill Henshaw old bald face mare which is 20 yrs old if shes a day and as skittish as a colt run off with Bill in the buggy jest after he had started to the co seat last Saturday. Bill jest let her run until she was exosted and says he arrove at the co seat almost half a hour before he expected to.

Mrs. Hen Jordan informs us that she has weaned her last baby and is now raisin same on the bottle. This will give Mrs. Jordan more time to devote to her domestick dooties.

Rufe Atkins has been spreedin up and driving over Laurel Ridge way evry Saturday evg for the past several wks. We persoon he is either sparkin Matilda or Jane, but nobuddy pears to know which. Which one of you is it, girls?

LUCIFER.

Items Here & There

Why dont you subscribe for the Bugle we ask? Have you enny excuse for not doing so? If so we should like to hear what it is.

We had a real sharp frost last Thursday night. We diddnt see it but them as was up erly informs us that the ground and roofs was white and we have no reason to doubt their word. Nobuddy would lie about stich a insignifcant thing as a frost and besides its gettin rounder that time of yr when frost is nobdly expected.

M. Higgins our accommodating P. M. allus has a lot of good reading matter. In fact folks complains that Eph takes their papers and magazines home with him to read and as a result they dont git em until a wk or 2 later and sometimes they dont git em a tall. It looks to us as if Eph was exceding his perroggytive as P. M.

Jim Hill went to the co seat last wk and come home in a intoxicated condition which was a turrible surprise to Jim's wife and everybuddy else being as Jim aint a drinkin man. After Jim got soberd up he blamed a few friends over to the co seat for gettin him full.

Jabe McCracken left a delishus mushmelon on our desk one day last wk which he growd himself. We devoured same at one setting. Thanks, Jabe. We could of told more about the merit of Jabe's mushmelons however if he had of left us five or six instid of just one.

Buck Henderson borried 75 cts from us moren a yr ago for the purpose of purchasing a dog and after Jabe bought the dog what did he do but up and die. We mean it was the dog that died, not Buck. Sinst then Buck has been a liddle mite slow about paying us back that doller. This being the case we will sell the dog for 50 cts. Who wants it? We dont.

Lem Brown while chopping wood tother day nickd his axe which he had jest ground on a nail. This made Lem so mad that he throwd the axe up into the air as far as he could fling it and whilst he was a standin there cussin very bitter the axe come whizzin down outen the atmosphere within a inch of his nose and buried itself edge-down outen sight in the ground betwixt his two feet. Lem stood swearin and turned paleen a gost when he realized what a narrer escape he had had from suddint death. He says if that axe had of been two inches closer it would of split him from head to heel.

Wes Woodruff our expert hunter and trapper set a beartrap up outen the Sawridge Mountain last wk and ketchd one of Deacon Snodgrass's sheep. Wes says he never sets a bear trap without ketchin somethin or other in it.

We will except a load or two of wood in exchange for subscriptions. This offer is good until our wood-house is full. Come on with your wood.

A Welcome Surprise

Bill Hepburn our artistick blacksmith cald at our offfis one day last wk which was a good eal of a surprise to us. We thort as we seen Bill approaching that probably he had took exceptionions to somethink which we had printed in the Boogle about him being over to the co seat on business & pleasure and coming home full as usual and had cald to chastize us for same so we was jest disappearin out the back door ostensibly for some stove wood when Bill come in the front door, but Bill cald us back in stich a pleasant voice that we vchoird to return bashfully and set on the edge of the desk near the door where we could escape if conditions warranted. But we are glad to state that they diddnt warrant.

After Bill had askd us how things was going he reechd into his pants pocket and puld out two dollers and handed them to us and askd us to send him the Bugle another yr which we will do with great cheer. After a pleasent chat Bill departed.

In conclusion we desire to state that in the past we have cald attention to the fack that Bill Hepburn is a victim of Old Demon Rum but to give the devil his dues we will say for Bill that when it comes to paying his subscription to the Bugle in advance he has more honner & integrity than some Bingville folks who turns up their nose in horror at even a mild glass of hard cider. Bill Hepburn may be a old soke, but he pays his dues and that covers a multylood of sins in our eyes.

Personal Souibs

Old copies of the Bugle for sale at this offfis at the ridicklus sum of 5 cts per each. Some of these copies is as much as 20 yrs. old and are therefore rich in historick interest. Buy a few of em and read what took place in our midst 20 yrs. ago. After that you can use em to spread on kitchen shelves or to bid fires with. Retail the price is 5 cts each regardless of age. Lay in a supply at once—they make good reading matter for the long winter even.

Harve Hines our tonsorial barber says business in his line is very poor. Harve only shaved five humping faces last wk and cut four heads of hair including his own. Harve alius cuts his own hair which we consider quite a accomplishment. It aint evrybuddy can cut their own hair without cuttin off a ear or somethink. All Harve done was to job the sizzers into his neck.

Miss Tabitha Jones our fashionable dressmaker says shes been so bizzzy sewing for other folks that she aint had a minnit to make enny fall or winter clothes for herself and as a result she aint got ennythink fit to wear when she goes out.

Rev. Moore our beloved pastor of the Bingville Church paid us a pleasant call last wk and askd us what thort of the idee of him preaching two sermons each Sunday, one in the morning and one in the evg instid of jest one sermon per Sunday in the morning as at present. We told Rev. Moore frankly that being as the members of his flock haddent showd enny disposishion to do what he advised em to do in one sermon per Sunday it was our opinyun that two sermons wouldnt make em do enny different and besides would keep his flock up late Sunday night when they ort to be in bed takin their rest.

Mrs. Martha Tucker took 7 lbs. of butter to Hen Weatherly's store to take out in trade one morning recent and Hen told her he was well allowing 32 cts in trade for butter. Well Martha ketchd one of Deacon Snodgrass's sheep. Wes says he never sets a way to Hardscrabble with her butter where she got 33cts in trade and carried her groceries back. As its only seven miles to Hardscrabble catch way Martha made 7 cts by the transackshion. Martha is what wed call a good bizzness woman.

Hank Dewberry one of our most tholless citizens was offered a job at a sawmill down Snake Bend way at 10 wages but Hank who allus actin like he is lookin for work says that enny work is one thing he wont do, enny work hes afeard of being sliced in by the gorram saw and hed rather do a lick of work than to have it happen to him.

What we need is a few more subscribers who has the maner to pay in advance for their subscription. Others need apply being as we cant have more of that description unless we desire on our looks and enny more would be superfluous.

Jed Peters our intelligent school teacher dismisd the school last Tuesday becuz he said he had a headache. The same afternoon Wes Woodruff our pert hunter & trapper says he seen Jed sneakin outen town the back way with a shotgun and persooned Jed was goin squirrel huntin. Likely Jeds headake had got better.

These is all the "Personal Souibs" we can think of at this writing. More may occur to us later. If so they will appear later. Watch the Bugle next wk or the wk after for their appearants.

How Are You Off for Fodder?

I have five akers of fodder standin in the chock which I am willing to sell to the highest bidder being as I have enuff feed to winter my stock and I havent room for the fodder ennyhow. Why dont you buy this fodder? You will be glad if you did and sorry if you dont. It will come in turrible handy next spring when you are all out of feed and money to buy enny with. Thats why you ort to take time by the forelock and buy it now. There is no time like the present. Cows likes this fodder awful well and it makes them give more milk and less cream. There is more money in milk than there is in cream ennyhow specially when you sell it to them as dont know the differents betwixt the two. I will sell this fodder jest as it stands in the chock. You will haft to hall it away yourself being as I am bizzzy using my team and havent time ennyhow being as I am so drove up this fall with one thing and another. Then in addition to the fodder I have on hands in the same field a hole lot of punkins which I will also dispose of along with the fodder or separate. I dont keener whether I sell the fodder as punkins separate or together so long as I sell em. These punkins are fit to feed the cows or good to jack lasterns out of for Heller. Prices on these fodder and punkins quoted to you on application with great cheer. See me soon and avoid the rush. Dont come around and pester me unless you mean bizzness. I make a bizzness man and my time is valyble.

Biff! Bing! Bang! Musical Extravaganza at the Majestic Tomorrow.

The Biff! Bing! Bang! show which is scheduled to appear at the Majestic theater tomorrow is in every respect, a musical show of first supremacy, embodying all the known quantities of accepted musical comedy and introducing many new ideas which cannot help but prove refreshing to those who have been frequenting these shows. There is something very foreign to musical comedy in the sort of original laugh material contained in the two acts, "The Corner Drug Store" and "Triple Beds." The unique situations are many and the sprightliness of the lines bring many a good laugh. The company is exceedingly fortunate in its comedians. Joe Rose is the star and those who know his work will require no further proof that the comedy falls into hands which are in every way competent to build it up. Rose is supported by a capable cast and the devotees will recognize the names of most of the performers. They are: Virginia Wilson, prima donna; Thelma Seaville, soubrette; L. K. Bush, black face comedian; Sedal Bennett, ingenuite; Frankie Mack, rube comedian; George Brennan, straight, and Jack Shaw.

BERNHARDT GREETED ALMOST LIKE QUEEN.

Chicago Critic Tells How Artist Is Worshipped.

"With one accord those who had followed with worshipful admiration the great achievements of Sarah Bernhardt united in welcoming her as the world might a regent who had come into her own laden with conquests," said Amy Leslie, prominent Chicago critic.

"The enthusiastic and distinguished audience," Miss Leslie continues, "gathered at the Auditorium to do homage to the great lady of the world, applauded fervently and found no note of passing time reflected in that silver voice, no suggestion of other than the exact age of Cleopatra and of Portia, the two characters she chose for her initial presentations. No hint of any other Bernhardt than the febrile, exquisitely temperamental, rare and incomparable genius whose singular distinction among all other celebrities of the country has radiated more actual fame than any dozen of her contemporaries."

"Her Cleopatra comes back unctuously tragic and sensuous. A creature of beautiful gesture and exotic voice, smothered in filmy draperies and weighted with jewels, it is made from all the Cleopatras we know, especially Shakespeare's, though it is embroidered into the French briefly by madam's son, Maurice, and Rene Chavance."

"Under vagrant illuminations backed by the trailing Nile, that divinity which the whole world has feverishly bestowed upon her never seemed more vibrant and extraordinary. It was just as wonderful a scene as when, years and years ago, she held the earth at bay with her splendid 'rag of Egypt.' It is only the episode of Antony's departure, the love scene of a false soldier, the entrance of the emperor and the asp. The little drama was superbly produced and adroitly compressed, so that its potency seemed triple."

Mme. Bernhardt will come to the Majestic next Wednesday evening when she will present Cleopatra and Portia from "The Merchant of Venice."

There's No Love Conservation For "The Hungry Heart"

"Never let your husband try to find his chemical affinity with a test tube and a graduate," says Pauline Frederick, heroine of Paramount's latest picture. This time it's "The Hungry Heart," which David Graham Phillips wrote and then awoke to find himself famous. Miss Frederick plays the part of Courtney Vaughn, and the picture starts where most pictures end—with a marriage of the hero and the heroine. Courtney and Richard Vaughn's honeymoon ends just as the camera begins to click. Thenceforth Richard begins to go back to his scientific chemical researches, brings in a handsome male assistant and neglects his wife. Trouble begins to brew, and there is no actress on screen or stage who can brew it so convincingly and attractively as Pauline Frederick.

Have you got a little hungry heart in your home? There is no closed season on them, you know, and the food of love is all that can take the pang away. Just how a heart with Pauline Frederick in it could be empty is a mystery, but this much is sure—the famous screen star's newest Paramount picture is going to be a delectable appetizer and a delicious movie meal besides.

AT THE PALACE

ALFRED H. WHITE.

He Will Present Searching Story on Bill Opening Sunday.

"The Answer," a heart searching playlet dealing with a young Hebrew boy who deserts the faith of his father and the strict lesson which a stern parent administers, is to be presented by Alfred H. White and company as the headline attraction on the bill opening Sunday afternoon at the New Palace. The playlet teems with human interest with witty lines and amusing situations deftly woven into the fabric of the action.

With Ford Hanford, Billie DeRex and the Foster Sisters in the leads, People and Greenwald will present their 1918 song and dance revue on this same bill, with a niftily costumed chorus assisting the principals. Bert Lewis and J. Walter Leopold, delineators of exclusive song hits, some of them from the pen of Mr. Leopold; the beautiful Creole Belle Valyda and her Brazilian nuts in some sparkling moments of fun, song and eccentric dance; Fred Ford and Mildred Williams in the hilarious voyage, "Ski High With SP," and Chioyo and Chioyo, two Japanese in ultra smart society dances with some original variations of their own, complete this bill.

Last Time Tonight.
The final opportunity to enjoy hearing the Human Fly tell his stories about his experiences climbing buildings over the country will be afforded tonight at the Palace. The bill on which Mr. Gardner, the Human Fly, is appearing, is a buster of a show. Harry Langdon, the nut supreme, with the assistance of a clever girl, is presenting a New York act, "Johnny's New Car," an act that is head and shoulders above the ordinary run of short order attractions. Others on this bill are Walsh and Bentley in novel acrobatics; William Morrow and company in a nifty roadside flirtation; Pat Barrett, the original songster; the American all girl revue, a high speed singing and dancing arrangement with a smashing patriotic finale, and Hector and Pals in a remarkable dog act that is decidedly unique.

MUSIC ONE OF THE ARTS.

Music is generally considered to be the most plastic of the arts and most subtle expression of the subjective elements in man. But it is also an exact science based upon mathematical and physical laws. Mastery of its technique requires the most careful discipline of the objective faculties. It is for this reason that music study is so highly regarded among present day educators. Dr. P. P. Claxton, commissioner of the National Bureau of Education, says, "Sooner or later we will not only recognize the cultural value of music; we shall begin to learn that after the beginning of reading, writing, arithmetic and geometry, music has a greater disciplinary value than any subject taught in the schools."

The great amount of attention being given this subject by school authorities, the work of standardization between universities, colleges and conservatories and the allowance of major credits for outside music study by the high schools of such cities as Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Terre Haute in this state is significant.

Provincial ideas are giving place to fuller appreciation, discrimination and certainty in the knowledge of things musical. Erroneous or inadequate and pretentious methods which have obtained are being discarded with them.

With three of our cities among the world's great music centers; with such of the world's greatest artists who have not permanently taken up their abode, constant visitors among us, we no longer feel the necessity of accepting as authority the dictum of some minor European cult.

Music, no longer regarded as a merely superficial accomplishment for young women, or the peculiar saving grace of certain eccentric individuals, has become a power in education and an important factor in the national development.

THE SAN CARLO GRAND OPERA CHORUS

MARY KAESTNER,

Dramatic Soprano, San Carlo Grand Opera Co.

The important feature of an adequate, competent and well-balanced chorus has ever proven a vexatious problem for the grand opera impresario in assembling his company. On Broadway, New York, in Paris and other famous opera centers the devotees of light opera or musical comedy may step in almost any afternoon or evening and enjoy the physical beauty and symmetry, as well as the light quality and tunefulness of a large, chic and daintily-costumed body of young singers whose attempts at rhythm and terpsichorean artistry are quite satisfying. But the qualifications and duties of the average chorus member and the operatic chorister are widely divergent.

The grand opera chorister nowadays must have at least fifteen or twenty operas at tongue's end, and though these singers are customarily assembled each season in New York they are in reality recruited from all over the world, the task of the chorus master of a great opera organization being by no means an easy one.

The San Carlo choral department this season is made up of singers from many of the Old World opera centers, it being an interesting fact that all the warring countries are represented. Among the number are several who have appeared in important roles abroad, but whose engagements in Europe have been seriously interfered with because of the war. Many of these young artists are of such exceptional attainments that they can safely be called upon at a moment's notice to assume leading parts. Every member of the chorus has been selected with this aim in view as well as for the usual vocal and other artistic requirements which present day opera audiences demand.

Fort Wayne will have the pleasure of listening to Verdi's "Aida" the evening of Nov. 14th, at the Palace theater. The first visit here of the San Carlo Co. will no doubt prove to be the musical and social event of the season.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR MISS HAZEL SHOUB

Fort Wayne Girl Will Leave Nov. 12 for Nanchang, China.

The several societies of the First M. E. church will hold a reception on next Monday evening, November 5th,

MISS HAZEL SHOUB.

In honor of Miss Hazel Shoub, one of its members, who leaves Fort Wayne on November 12 for Nanchang, China, where she will be engaged in missionary work for the next five years. Miss Shoub has for several years been in the employ of Dr. Bulson, where she has received training as a non-medical assistant. She is going out to China under the missionary board, taking up the business management of a mission hospital there, where she will be associated with Dr. Ida Kahn, who is professionally recognized as one of the leaders in China. Dr. Kahn was educated for her special line in several of the most prominent universities in the United States. The opportunities for Miss Shoub in her new work socially, religiously and otherwise, are very great and her many friends who have watched her professional progress with keen interest will be glad to learn of her new line of service. She has been actively associated in the missionary and Evangelistic activities of First M. E. church and Epworth league for a number of years, and she goes into her new field of labor with the devoted love and prayers of that congregation.

Miss Elsie Rouch, another former member of the First church, who sails later in the winter to resume her work as teacher in a mission school in Africa, will be present and have part in the reception. A splendid program has been arranged for Monday evening and all members of the church and friends of both girls are cordially invited to attend.

CITY ELECTION Banks and Trust Companies will close Tuesday next. Legal holiday. Fort Wayne Clearing House Association, By PAUL F. KUHN, Manager.

PACKERS ARE AIDING KEEP BABY PIG PLAN

Several packers of the county have reported to County Agent A. J. Hutchins that they are aiding the "Keep Little Pigs" movement urged by the government. The packers are asking farmers to fatten their small porkers and not to sell them now. Price has been reduced on the baby pigs and as a result the shippers of the county report to Agent Hutchins that shipping of small porkers has been cut in half this week.

"THE SECRET MAN."

"Don't turn me back to the pen, pardner. It's worse'n death up there." Cheyenne Harry, escaped convict, has boarded a train out on the desert and has crawled into Henry Beaufort's stateroom to hide while the sheriff's posse goes through the car. Beaufort is moved by the appeal, gives Harry a change of clothing, and the fugitive is soon on his way again over the sand and sage brush to the hills. Meeting some cowboys he gets a job in the roundup, but the posse picks up his trail. Riding along the rocky path he stumbles upon a little girl who has been thrown out and slightly hurt in a runaway. He starts for the nearest town with the child, but the posse is on his heels. The little one is suffering from thirst, and to save her life Harry gives himself up. Harry is imprisoned and the unknown child becomes the idol of the town. It is at length decided to auction her off to the highest bidder at a church bazaar, the money to go to charity. Molly, the little girl's mother, who had been led to believe that the child was dead, attends the bazaar and is recognized by the child. The crowd is dumfounded, as Molly's marriage to Beaufort six years previous, and the existence of the child, had been kept secret in order to preserve Beaufort's inheritance. A coking fine climax is provided when Cheyenne Harry, having again escaped from prison, saves Beaufort's life when Molly's brother, Bill the sheriff, ignorant of the facts, sets out to kill him.

COLLEGE CLUB WILL FORM AID SOCIETY

Will Attempt to Better the Condition of Allen County Blind.

Through the urgent appeal of Miss Allie Truesdale, of Angola, who lectured before them some time ago, the Fort Wayne College club will undertake the work of organizing a society for the blind. Miss Truesdale in her address stated that blind children were very well taken care of, but that the adult blind received very little care. The philanthropic department of this club is endeavoring to get the names and addresses of blind adults in Allen county. These afflicted people will be brought together once a week in the public library or the Y. W. C. A. As a further aid the organization, "Society for the Aid of Adult Blind" will be formed here. Anyone desiring to become a member should confer with Miss Minnette Baum, 1313 West Wayne street, chairman of the College club philanthropic department. An exhibit of fancy work done by the blind women of Indiana will be made at Wolf & Dessauer's next week. This exhibit will continue for two weeks, the results of the sale going to help the adult blind. The Boy Scouts have volunteered to help and will solicit for members for the aid society, membership fees of which will cost fifty cents. The project is one of the most worthy ones ever taken up in Fort Wayne, and loyal support will be appreciated.

(By Margaret Mayo)

Six acts and not an idle moment. It's a special production. It's a veritable whirlwind of action. It's sure to please you as it has hundreds of others who have seen it. Madge Kennedy is the screen find of the year, and will make the other great favorites move fast to hold first place in public esteem. A really splendid production. Companion feature,

Paramount's First Serial—
"Who Is Number One?"
(Chapter 1.)

Star, Kathleen Clifford; Author, Anna Katherine Green; Producers, Paramount—Great combination. This will doubtless prove to be the greatest continued drama ever screened. See the beginning today.

TOMORROW—William Fox's
Stupendous 10-Act Special—
"The Honor System"

With George Walsh, Miriam Cooper, Gladys Brockwell and several thousand others. A mighty play of tears, cheers and thrills.

GOOD STREET MARKET

Butter and Egg Prices Remain High—Good Corn Day at City Scales.

One of the largest street markets of the past few weeks greeted the city market shopper Saturday. The moderating fall weather was responsible for the butting to a great extent. Country butter and eggs still were held at the same high prices and show no sign of dropping. Pumpkins, potatoes, carrots and other hardy fall vegetables were the main articles for sale.
